

ARMENIAN PRESIDENT BRUTALLY MURDERED

Leader of the Revolution- ists Is Assassinated.

Crime Has Appearance of Political Intrigue.

London, Oct. 2.—Sagatag Saguani, president of the Armenian Revolutionary society in London, was murdered today by a group of British assassins. The crime has created a sensation, as it has every appearance of being of a political character, and has been pronounced by the British and other officials of branches of the same society on the continent.

Sagouni, who returned to London only yesterday, after settling up the affairs of his late father, the man who was recently assassinated by stabbing, was entering his residence when a man rushed across the road and fired four shots at Sagouni in quick succession, the last bullet entering the region of the heart. The murderer, who appeared to be a Greek, was seen to flee. Clue to the man in possession of the authorities are a felt hat and a silver-plated revolver, both made in London, and the driver of his flight.

The murdered man, who was a mining engineer, became wealthy in the Caucasus and devoted his money to Armenian cause. His society was entirely passive and opposed to violence, and he would have been completely inspired the advanced section of the Armenians with the desire for vengeance. The Armenian community in London is devoted funds to charity which would have been better applied to the violent remedies for the Armenian grievance.

Sagouni's friends attribute the murder to the Aflarist section of the Hentchak society. Aflar, an Armenian man named Aflar, was expelled from the society after the split in 1885, when he was expelled from the ranks of the spies of the sultan of Turkey. There was some attempt in 1902 to patch up the differences between the Aflarist and the Hentchakist society, but the majority concluded that the Aflarists only sought to use the Hentchakist newspaper, the Hentchak, with the object of suppressing it.

The feud became more acute and an attack on the editor of the Boston edition of the Hentchak followed. A former editor of the Hentchak, Hentchakian, was expelled from the society, because, Switzerland, by an Aflarist. It is said here, however, that Nazarbekian, the editor of the Hentchak, was earlier in the day to have been killed.

The local Hentchakists say New York is the headquarters of the Aflarist. The man arrested near Kings Cross railroad station on suspicion of being the murderer of Sagouni has been released from custody.

Sagouni is said to have moved to England from New York early in 1902. It is stated that Sagouni's life had been threatened on account of his participation in the exposure by the editor of a Boston newspaper, Young Armenia, after the misappropriation of funds by a faction of the Armenian revolutionists, these men and women had paved the way for the Armenian revolutionaries to have put the money in their pockets instead of pushing the propaganda for the emancipation of the Armenians, for which the money was subscribed.

Some of the revolutionaries, or the determination of the advanced Armenian revolutionists to exterminate the leaders of the passive party, and for that reason he always carried a revolver and a dagger in self-defense. The murderers' shots last night were so rapid that Sagoni was only able to draw his revolver after the murderer had fired three times, and as he turned to face his assailant, Sagoni was shot near the heart and fell. The man was wearing, yesterday on his way to England, Saguinot's coat, which was a dark blue, long-sleeved, buttoned coat. The man whose description somewhat tallied with the appearance of the murderer did not do so in every respect. He was five feet six inches, three inches in height, about 30 years of age, with dark hair, a high forehead, a straight nose, a black mustache, with long, drooping ends. A man has been arrested in Berlin, Germany, on suspicion of being the assassin of the czar, but he hardly answers the description.

A convention of the Armenian passionately in support of the Armenians immediately as the organ of the "Old party" was held in the city. The explanation of the disappearance of the czar's assassin was given. It was considered the claim established that the funds had been diverted from the party. This claim, Mr. Maroukian says, angered the "Old party" members, who displayed a most bitter feeling toward the "Old party" members, the outcome of which was the killing of the president of the Kuregian last summer. The "Old party" members, however, has occurred, the first being the killing of a member of the "Old party" who

MAY GET ONE AMERICAN CARDINAL

New York, Oct. 5.—The pope has requested from Monsignor Merry del Val, the papal secretary of state, and Cardinal Ciano, a list of the foreign prelates under the jurisdiction of the secretariats of state and the congregations of foreign affairs. The list will be made available for appointment as cardinals, cables the Rome correspondent of the Associated Press.

MARSHAL WAS LED INTO A TRAP

Seattle, Oct. 27.—A special from Dawson says that steamers and cargoes valued at more than $2,000,000 remain exposed to the perils of the Yukon ice frost, with little prospect of being out to places of safety for the winter. Some of the cargo is full of canned food provisions, and these are certain to be ruined. The steamers Columbian, Victorian, and Zelandian and Bailey are stuck on the bar 100 miles above Dawson and the big packer, Will H. Isom, built at the mouth of the Yukon. The big steamer, the Aire, is in danger of being crushed by the ice. The gold storage steamer Kerr, with $150,000 worth of refrigerated meats, is stuck in the ice and will not get through this year. The gold output of the Klondike for the season is now figured at $14,000,000.

COCKRELL BOOM

Among Democrats For Head of Ticket Gaining Ground.

Serious Objection Is He
federate.

Chicago, Oct. 25.—A Washington special to the Journal says: In Washington the boom of Senator Francis Marion Cockrell for the Democratic presidential nomination is being watched with interest. His recent inclination to take on larger proportions, and the formal declaration of the Missouri Democratic club at St. Louis last week, have combined to attract to the Cockrell boom even greater attention. With his own state behind him, it is felt here that Senator Cockrell may turn out to be a very important factor in the Democratic convention. In its beginning the Cockrell boom was discounted here by reports that the real purpose was to remove him from the senate. Certain Missouri politicians, it was said, had their eyes fixed covetously on the seat in the senate, and the people are waiting for the old gentleman to die or resign. As a presidential nominee, or even as a candidate for that honor, he would be expected to give over his senatorial honors.

Without reference to the good or bad faith of those who have been backing the Cockrell boom, and considered only with reference to the general national situation, it is the opinion of a Missouri politician, it was said, that they are fixed covetously on the seat in the senate, and the people are waiting for the old gentleman to die or resign. As a presidential nominee, or even as a candidate for that honor, he would be expected to give over his senatorial honors.

His industry, ability and experience have contributed to his becoming one of the most influential members of that body. He is noted particularly for his wonderful attention to detail, and a great volume of routine, but highly important, legislative work passes through his hands. Senator Cockrell is by all means the most influential member of the committee on military affairs, and is also a member of the finance and other important senate committees. A factor in favor of Senator Cockrell's nomination which might not be appreciated by the party leaders is his age. On the theory that this campaign will be important chiefly as it advances the way for 1908, the party leaders are unwilling that the nomination go to a younger man, as it is conceded that the leader of a forlorn hope would be age permitting the best. If not, it is felt that Senator Cockrell is 70 years of age, and by 1908 would be sufficiently mature to be relied on to lead the party in the nomination.

Gorman still continues to be the most talked about Candidate Alton B. Parker of New York, has been almost eliminated from the consideration. The Southern Democrats were not very favorably impressed when he visited them. Richard Olney has some few supporters from New England, but does not arouse enthusiasm. Mr. Cleveland arouses more enthusiasm than support; the party managers regard his nomination as out of the question. Nelson A. Miles is a distant dark horse possibility. Pan Johnson, of Ohio, is coming larger on the horizon every day. Should the Republican party for Ohio be justified and Hanna be defeated for the senate Pan Johnson would be the most conspicuous Democrat before the country and would have a strong claim on the Democratic convention. That is undoubtedly Johnson's plan and hope.

Senator Johnson's chances for the nomination are his radical views on some subjects, such as single tax, governor, in which he never followed the silver wing of the party. So one argument which would doubtless be urged against Senator Cockrell's nomination is his Confederate record. The senator fought in many engagements and with signal bravery and rose to the rank of a brigadier-general. While this would not hurt him with the Democrats of the solid South, it might alienate a considerable number of old-soldier voters in such states as New York, New Jersey, Delaware, and Massachusetts, where it is important that no Democratic votes be lost if the party is to be kept together and is to have any chance to win.

William R. Hearst is spending his money and working for delegates in the Democratic convention, but the party managers still decline to take Mr. Hearst seriously. There is a charge of political dynamite which is being held in reserve for Mr. Hearst. If the time ever comes when he appears likely to figure as the party's nominee, a number of the Southern congressmen have been let into the secret of the political dynamite, and some of them are anxious that it be touched off. Every day seems to reduce the importance of William J. Bryan relative to the next Democratic nomination for president. That he will have some following is not denied, but that he will control the convention, or decide the candidate, is no longer possible. It will be a mixed-up, free-for-all, interesting convention.

AT WEST DULUTH

The strong hand, steady nerve and level head of a motorman averted a casualty at Fifty-fifth avenue and Ramsey street today at 7:30 a. m.

William Anderson, a lad, son of John C. Anderson, of 310 Fifty-fifth avenue west, was crossing the street at Ramsey and Fifty-fifth avenue west. He was unmindful of the approaching car, which turned the corner at a fair rate of speed, and before either motorman or victim realized the possibilities, he rolled off and the fender slid over him and left him at the mercy of the wheels. Just there the motorman got in his work, and the boy arose, badly greased and dust-begrimed, but otherwise unhurt.

The accident brought out quite a crowd, all sympathetic and interested, and the boy, after being dusted off, took his way to school.

STREET IMPROVEMENTS. The street improvements on the West Duluth line go bravely on and citizens will soon feel safe, have no extra walking, and no cause to complain.

From the dock, from Twenty-eighth to Thirty-first avenue west, a substantial foot bridge has been constructed leading from Thirty-first avenue west through to Michigan street. Between Twenty-fifth and Twenty-eighth avenues west the south side of the street is receiving a new and substantial sidewalk. The contractor says it is only a question of a few days when citizens in that part of the city will have all they desire.

HAVE FINE LUCK. J. J. Ross and his party of friends returned from Moose lake and Grand Rapids today. They had great sport and killed a total of 111 ducks, seventy-four of which they brought home, with four pickerel and three bass. They saw numbers of deer and moose. There was the most successful hunting party out of West Duluth this season. The same party will go next week for a two-weeks' stay, when they expect to do better.

REPAIRS ON VIADUCT. Work on the Forty-ninth avenue viaduct will begin on Friday, and the foreman says it will only take ten days to complete the work on the viaduct. At the Forty-ninth avenue viaduct the track can be laid tonight and cars let through tomorrow. The Forty-ninth avenue viaduct is longer than those thus far repaired, but it is said that it is not in such bad condition and will not require so much work and new material as the others.

A WILD RUNAWAY. A wild runaway, down the hills from Froctonport yesterday, with a split team and a one-eyed driver, was the sensation of the hour and the day.

The driver in question is employed by the Fred Miller Brewing company, of Minneapolis. He had usually been able to control his horses, and thought them tame and docile, but they altered his opinion by their wild capers yesterday. He is now in the hospital, and his actions and does not know what frightened them. He says they simply got gay. He was bruised and scared but not seriously injured.

WEST DULUTH BRIEFS. The Olsen, section foreman on the West Duluth line, was out on Saturday night. He had displayed his money in the store, and he had been beaten and robbed before he reached his destination.

Carried Slippers 20c, with lockets, containing two pictures. Liberal reward for return to Wm. Townner, 6205 Walden street.

The St. Louis mill has started up and is now running on full time with a complement of men.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Jacoby and daughter, Elizabeth, will leave tomorrow for Arizona and Southern California points to spend the winter.

Miss Annie Dornady, who was visiting her aunt, Mrs. John Schuler, was suddenly called to her home in St. Paul yesterday by the announcement of her father's illness. She is just back from a trip to Montana and the far Northwest. He is going back in two weeks, accompanied by James Mulligan and E. Pearson.

Pat. Slippers 20c and 40c at Lauer's.

Mrs. Peter Deloyala reached home from a visit today.

The West Duluth policemen, with little to do except to dress fine, look plain and he polite, as they all are, have been practicing target shooting. With their leisure they hope to be able to do so in the future.

Murray Laveland and Haven Forbes have been engaged by Contractor John Winners.

PROMINENT DEMOCRATS Have a Chance Conference in New York.

New York, Oct. 27.—Through the presence of several leading men in the Democratic party in this city it has been learned, says the Herald, that a conference at which the prominent Democrats of New York, David E. Hill, former Senator Charles A. Towne of Minnesota, Frank Campbell, chairman of the New York Democratic state committee, and J. N. Carlisle, chairman of the Democratic executive committee, will be held here. It is reported that the meeting convened in the rooms at an uptown hotel, occupied by Mr. Hill, but no one could be learned as to the subjects discussed, or the result. Senator Teller of Colorado, who also is here, was asked what he knew regarding the matter. "It must be a coincidence," he said, "I am here from Washington for three or four days on private business."

WOMAN SENT BACK By Hospital and Must Have Jury Trial.

Appleton, Wis., Oct. 27.—Senator T. A. Wiley was on Sunday morning compelled to invoke the protection of the police against the annoyance of an insane woman, who aroused his household before daylight and demanded that, as a state officer, he should afford her protection against hordes of assassins in the employ of liquor and cigarette dealers, whom she declared were seeking her life, and were being assisted in their murderous designs by the police.

The woman is Mrs. Eloise Fursten, a daughter of Jabez Thompson, of this city, who has been insane for some time. She was sent to jail, and after examination by physicians, was taken to the Northern hospital at Oshkosh.

Upon arrival at the hospital the woman was refused admission on the ground that, having applied for and insisted upon a jury trial, she must have her trial and be convicted of lunacy.

HIS BACK BROKEN

ribly Injured In Elevator Shaft.

Back Broken at Eighth and Ninth Vertebrae—
Still Lives.

With his back broken, still alive, but with chances not very favorable for his recovery, Joseph B. Plutnisky, of 815 East Seventh street, a clerk for the Hudson Produce company in this city, lies at St. Mary's hospital awaiting the results of an operation that will be performed on him at 4 o'clock this afternoon by Drs. Murray and Stewart.

Mr. Plutnisky, who is about 35 years of age, with a wife and one child, is quite well known about the city. Yesterday afternoon while he was riding the ways of the elevator shaft, in some manner not yet known, he was released, and caught him between the top and the starting breaking his back at the eighth and ninth vertebrae, as the physicians judge from an external examination.

At the time of the accident, when the accident occurred. He was unconscious when found, but soon afterward revived and was taken to St. Mary's hospital. Mr. Plutnisky said his condition was such that he was still conscious, and that his condition was practically unchanged. Dr. Murray said that Mr. Plutnisky's recovery will depend largely on the extent of the injury to the spinal cord, a condition which the operation will show. He says that there is a large number of cases of broken back where recovery took place, the broken vertebrae uniting, providing the spinal cord was not injured. The injury is a very serious one, and the chances are always considered rather against recovery.

Mr. Plutnisky is a brother-in-law of A. J. Harrell, of the East Fourth street plumber.

Flaherty Not Anxious to Have Measurements Taken.

Patrick Flaherty, held by the Superior police on suspicion that he is implicated in the postoffice robbery, strenuously objected to being "mugged" and measured by Capt. F. E. Rosche yesterday, who was asked by Chief McKinnon to take the measurements. Flaherty said Rosche had no right to measure and photograph him, and he had been found guilty of a crime and he would not allow himself to be measured.

On land which is to form a part of the national forest reserve 3 per cent of the pine is to be left for seed trees. Some intending purchasers together with habitual mischief makers among the Indians have not only greatly multiplied the expense of burning a sufficient amount of the tops and refuse to prevent danger from fire to the lower left standing, but have by misrepresentation created an unfavorable feeling among many of the Chippewas in respect to this and other forestry features of the so-called Morris act of congress. If the interior department can be made to believe it will be expensive to burn the tops and refuse will accept corresponding lower bids for the timber. But it will not cost more than from 25 to 50 cents per two feet of timber to be left for seed and refuse. The work is to be done as a prudent and sensible man would do in his own case. Simply enough if the tops and refuse will have to be burned to prevent danger. The trees can be felled so that the tops will come together, thus saving much labor of carrying. The refuse can then easily be piled and the burning should be done when the weather is favorable. I believe the Chippewas will receive the full value of their pine and they deserve to have it sold during prosperous times. Certainly the government in all its dealings with Indians never took such pains to secure them the highest proceeds of their timber as under this Morris act and is owing very much to forestry agitation in this state.

THE BURNING OF REFUSE

On the Chippewa Reservation Is Explained By Andrews.

St. Paul, Oct. 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Gen. Andrews, chief fire warden of Minnesota has given the following statement to the Associated Press in regard to the burning of tops and refuse on the Chippewa reservation.

Next December, a beginning will be made in the sale of the standing pine timber on the Chippewa Indian reservation in the vicinity of Cass and Leech lakes. The public takes or should take interest in the matter because the welfare of the Indians depends much on whether they receive a fair price and because the republic of forestry will be affected to some extent by the way the business is done.

Decree by sale, under the Cass Lake and office, will commence of $250,000, 600 feet of pine, and on December 28th of 27,000,000 feet more, all under sealed bids. It is now standing in thirty-four different townships and tributary to the railroad and waters tributary to the Mississippi, will bring in the aggregate about $3,000,000, being as much as the United States, fifty-two years ago, paid the Sioux Indians for all the vast forest the south half of Minnesota. The purchasers are required to cut and remove not less than 25 per cent of the timber embraced in the burning of tops and refuse, and not less than 25 per cent of such timber on or before July 1, 1905, and not less than 25 per cent of such timber on or before July 1 of each of the three successive years thereafter, the entire amount to be cut and removed before July 1, 1908. A Dozen of Its Prominent Citizens Are Visitors In Duluth.

Looking Over Street Pavements Which Have Been Laid Here.

A dozen prominent business men of Houghton, Mich., were in Duluth this morning with a view to getting information regarding the cost of paving and the material used in paving the streets of Duluth.

They called first on City Engineer Patton, who gave them all the information at his command, and they later were taken out on East Superior street where the brick pavement was inspected, and thence to First avenue west, where they saw the tar macadam pavement. Mr. Patton explained the advantages of all sorts of pavement and gave the Houghton figures on the cost of laying brick, sandstone and tar-macadam. Houghton is fully like Duluth, and the problems that Duluth has had to meet and solve in paving matters will confront Houghton when it seriously takes up the question of paving its thoroughfares. Houghton will lay some sort of pavement on Sheldon street, the principal thoroughfare of the town, next spring, and this is the reason why the Michigan men visited Duluth at this time.

This afternoon the party visited Superior and most of them will return home tonight.

James H. Dee, vice president of the Houghton County Electric Light company, president of the Houghton Warehouse company, which controls the Amplitude rink, and one of the most prominent citizens of Houghton, will remain over in Duluth a day or so. Mr. Dee is a confirmed hockey enthusiast and never neglects an opportunity to talk of the sport, which is the winter game par excellence in the copper country. Mr. Dee said that Houghton would have a stronger hockey team than ever this winter. He believes that hockey could be made to pay in Duluth if a suitable rink were built for the accommodation of the teams and for skaters. Houghton has invested $45,000 for a rink and the property, and has made a paying proposition of the rink, which is utilized as a place for public gatherings and exhibition purposes in the summer.

Beside Mr. Dee, the party included

A SPECIAL TRAIN

Great Northern Will Run One to the Football Game.

Will Leave Duluth the Morning of the Game.

Duluth football rooters are to have a train of their own for the Minnesota-Michigan football game.

The Great Northern road this noon announced that a sufficient number of tickets had been sold to warrant the running of the special, and it will be put on. The train will leave Duluth at 8:30 o'clock Saturday morning, and will consist of a baggage car, several brand new coaches, fresh from the shops, chair cars and a diner for those who wish to refresh themselves en route.

The train was put on especially for the business men who will find it necessary to look over their mail Saturday morning, but who can get through with that work in time to take the special for the football game. At Minneapolis the train will run direct to the football grounds, and will arrive there in plenty of time to allow the rooters to get a line on the condition of the two teams with a view of picking the winner.

A number of special parties will be on the train and the Duluth aggregation, if a large number of them can get together before Saturday, may take a band with them.

That the attendance at the approaching game will be a record-breaker is admitted by those who are attending to the business management, and from the fact that the local rail offices have been requested by wire to return all tickets they can be taken as a sign that all of the tickets held in Minneapolis have been sold.

Conferring With Engineers.

W. S. Stone, grand master of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, is in St. Paul, conferring with a committee of Northern Pacific engineers which has been at the Foley hotel for several days and which has been seeking concessions from the railroad company.

The men are looking for different rules regarding the pay for some classes of engineers, but it is said that the advance granted the engineers several weeks ago of 25 cents a day is all that the company agrees to grant. The committee will ask the company for another hearing the latter part of this week.

Railroad Notes.

The Soo line has issued a revised map of its road showing the new Glenwood extension to Wild Rice. The map includes the entire route from Duluth to Wild Rice, with the new extension from South Shore, Washburn and Canadian Pacific roads, with the European and Asiatic connections.

Martin Adson, general agent of the South Shore road, returned this morning from the western part of the state, where he, accompanied by Harry Blume, spent several days shooting wild deer. Mr. Adson reports that the shooting bids fair to be fine a few days later and he expects to go out again in the near future.

C. C. Carpenter, of Minneapolis, Northwestern passenger agent of the Santa Fe road, is in Duluth today.

A COMPLIMENT.

Panton & White Co. Receive Praise From High Quarter.

Last week's issue of the Dry Goods Economist, the leading journal of the trade, has an extensively illustrated article on "The Modern Department Store." Prominent among the big stores of America, such as Marshall Field's, Siegel-Cooper, Mandel Bros., and others is shown two sections of the Panton & White company's establishment—the art needlework section and the picture gallery. Both receive very complimentary notice. The Duluth firm may justly feel proud of such recognition.

LOSSES CRAZED HIM.

Floods Caused the Death of Paterson Florist.

New York, Oct. 27.—Crazed by the loss of all his possessions in the recent Paterson floods, Frank Crandman, a florist, is dead at a hospital here. Alton, N. J., where he had a large business, was rescued his wife from death and then saving himself, it was the destruction of his business which he had had no time to make plans for, and the loss of a flock of Japanese pheasants that shattered his mind. Crandman had spent several years in making the collection.

WILL IS A FORGERY.

Court of Appeals Denies Petition of Patrick.

Albany, Oct. 27.—The court of appeals today handed down a decision denying the appeal of Albert T. Patrick in the matter of the probate of the will of William M. Rice, of whose murder he stands convicted. The court concurs in the judgment of the lower courts that the alleged will offered by Patrick is a forgery.

PRESIDENT IS FORTY-FIVE.

FIRST STEP TAKEN

Col. Graves, President of Duluth Telephone Company, Arrested.

Violation of Ordinance Charged—Richard Dinham Complainant.

Col. C. H. Graves, president of the Duluth Telephone company, was brought before Judge Windom in municipal court this morning on a warrant charging the Duluth Telephone company with a violation of the ordinance which provides that telephone, telegraph and electric companies shall raise or lower their wires for the passage of a house in course of removal when requested to do so by the council.

The warrant was served on Col. Graves, as an officer of the company, by Court Officer Jensen. Col. Graves waived the reading of the warrant and asked Judge Windom to continue the case until he could consult the company's attorney, Judge Steele. When asked if he wished to plead not guilty, Col. Graves said that he would rather not until he had had time to consult the company's attorney. The case was continued.

continued for plea until 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, on Col. Graves' recognition to appear at that time.

Richard Dinham, a graver at 1562 London road, swore out the warrant, City Attorney Mitchell having been directed by the council to prosecute the company for the violation of the ordinance.

Dinham bought the old fire hall at Second and Fourteenth avenue east, and when the new engine house was finished he started to remove it to his lot on London road. A resolution was passed by the council Oct. 22 requiring the Duluth Telephone company, the Duluth Telephone company and the Duluth street railway company to raise or lower their wires at Superior street and Fourteenth avenue east to allow the structure to be moved across that thoroughfare.

The Duluth Telephone and the street railway companies complied with the ordinance, but the Duluth Telephone company refused to raise its wires. Manager Mauseau went to Dinham and asked him to raise his wires. Dinham refused, but on the advice of his attorney, the next day, he went to the office of the company and paid the money under protest. The company then raised its wires and the structure was removed across East Superior street, it having impeded traffic on Fourteenth avenue for several days.

Last Monday night Alderman Callum introduced a resolution directing City Attorney Mitchell to prosecute the Duluth Telephone company under the ordinance which provides that on conviction a fine of not more than $100 or imprisonment for not more than ninety days may be imposed.

Attendants are charging 75c to $1.50 for roses and carnations no better, no fresher, no more beautiful than these. They'll get here at noon tomorrow and be on sale balance of the day. Orders by phone or otherwise will be filled when the flowers arrive. Let us have your order.

EXAMINING BARBERS

Board In Session Here Putting Candidates Through Paces.

Wisconsin Board Also Here to See How It Is Done.

For the last two days the Minnesota state board of barbers' examiners has been in Duluth examining applicants for barbers' license at 107 Lake avenue South. Forty-two applicants have been put through the quiz, but the results of the examinations will not be known until the board has checked up the papers of each applicant, and will not be made public until the board returns to Minneapolis.

Applicants are required to answer twenty questions, which entitles them to forty-five points, while they may get fifty-five points for practical work. No license will be issued where an applicant's per centage falls below 50 points, or where the applicant fails to get seven points each on hair-cutting and shaving. The board now has been in existence for the last five years and is said to have done much to raise the standard of workmanship among the barbers of the state. Minnesota pioneered the way, and today fifteen other states have state boards for the examining of barbers.

As the Wisconsin board has only recently been organized and has had no opportunity to learn how the boards do their work, this meeting of the Minnesota board in Duluth gave them the opportunity they were looking for. The members of the Wisconsin board have been taking instruction from the Minnesota board.

The Minnesota board is composed of John H. Baker, Winona, president; W. J. O'Brien, Minneapolis, treasurer; and Frank W. Martin, St. Paul, secretary. The governor appoints the members of the board for terms of two years. The Wisconsin board is composed of Axel

THREE BIG GAMES

To Take Place On Next Saturday On the Gridiron.

Michigan Is Now Placed First and Minnesota Second.

Chicago, Oct. 27.—The Tribune says: Out of the mass of football scores last Saturday, but two are of particular interest. One is the result of the Chicago-Illinois game; the other, the tally of the Columbia-Pennsylvania contest. The Eastern score is interesting as showing the weekly "surprise." The outcome of the Western game attracts attention as a measure determining the ranking of two of the "big nine" teams.

Judged on the basis of Saturday's games, in the light of the showing of the teams throughout the season, the order of merit appears to be Michigan, first; Minnesota, second; Wisconsin, Chicago, Northwestern and Illinois closely bunched as contestants for third place. Thus they stand now. Next Saturday will settle what is likely to be the order until the end of the season.

Saturday will be an eventful day in the history of Western football. Sedan games have so many critics, and have been grouped on one day. At Minneapolis, Michigan and Minnesota will meet, and the battle which is likely to decide the Western championship. At Madison, Wisconsin and Chicago will settle on the field of combat which is to outrank the other. At Champlain, Northwestern and Illinois will determine which is the better team and how much Chicago really improved in one week after the "disaster" of Oct. 17.

On the probable outcome of the Michigan-Minnesota game the showing of the two teams Saturday night is interesting. In both contests the scores ran up were much lower than had been expected. Michigan beat Drake by 41 to 0, while Iowa defeated the same team two weeks ago by a score of 22 to 0. Minnesota ran up only 10 points on Belmont, against which Michigan two weeks ago ran up a score of 79 to 0, while Wisconsin a week before made a record of 57 to 0.

In each case, however, it was evident that no attempt at a big score was made. Both coaches realized that only one week remained before the critical test of Oct. 31, and neither cared to risk injuries. In the Michigan-Illinois game the players were carefully put up the poorest game of the season during the first half. county. The parties to the litigation are the Superior Cedar and Lumber company and the H. M. Lord's Sons company, whose differences arise from certain logging deals. The cases have been dragging along for two years, but it has now been agreed to submit all differences to a non-interested board of three. The arbitrators chosen are A. P. Lutter, of Muskegon; G. L. Harris, lumber manufacturer, of Muskegon; and Claude W. Case, vice president of the First National bank, of Marquette.

The Northwestern Copperage and Lumber company's two mill properties have been purchased by W. H. Thompson, of Grand Rapids, president of the American Handle company, and S. Doty, representing a veneering concern, and during the winter will be remodeled and converted into important hardwood manufacturing. New machinery will be installed and the plants will furnish employment to 150 men.

Ishpeming—As a result of the suspension of operations at the big Champion iron mine at Champion, there has been a general exodus from the village until there are comparatively few men remaining. Nearly all the able-bodied men have departed, the majority of them to the lumber woods.

Calumet—Peter Felletti, the Italian who shot Thomas Cox in a saloon in Laurium, will answer to the charge of murder before the next term of circuit court. The coroner's jury found Felletti guilty of killing Cox. The testimony of witnesses is damaging.

Troywood—Edward Nicholas, an Englishman, was killed, and John Hakola and Miles Hintz, Finns, seriously crippled in a cave of drift in No. 7 shaft of the big Norris. One of the injured men may not survive.

Menominee—The Bird & Wells Lumber company, of Wausau, Wis., has sold to H. P. Christ all of the cedar and other timber, except pine, on thirty-six thousand acres of land in Marinette county. The consideration was $15,000.

The steamer Hackley, which went down in a storm on Green bay several weeks ago, will be raised and rebuilt on the bay again. Holmes & Son will get out about 10,000,000 feet of lumber this fall and winter for the N. Lumber company and the Hamilton & Merriman Lumber company, and this will probably wind up the business of this concern.

Capt. Morris of the schooner Lydia, who held at bay with a rifle a half dozen lumberjacks who made an attempt to board his boat to eject seamen workers, says that upon his arrival in the southern part of the state he will consult the United States marshal and swear out warrants for the arrest of the lumberjacks and make a test case of it. He says this was not the first time union men have molested him at various ports on the lakes and he intends to discover their rights in regard to such matters.

BLACKBURN'S JOKE ON VEST

Missourian Tried to Brave It Out, But Nerve Failed.

Washington, Oct. 27.—One of the first intimate acquaintances which Senator Vest formed when he came to Washington for his election to the senate was with Missouri, was Senator Blackburn. Vest had been stopping at a hotel but considered to find more accommodations and appealed to Blackburn for a suggestion.

"I'll take you to a room which will suit you," I know, for I used to live there myself," said the Kentuckian. "I'll see the landlord sometime today and make the arrangements, and tonight I'll take you to your quarters."

It was dark when Senators Vest and Blackburn that evening walked down F street to Vest's new quarters. Blackburn led the way up a pair of stairs next to a store, whose character Vest could not exactly determine because of the darkness, and entered him into a commodious, handsomely furnished front room, which appeared to offer all the conveniences of a modest but refined bachelor establishment. Soon the landlord appeared. Vest paid a month's rent in advance, and after the landlord had quietly retired to his bed, and slept till morning. When he reached the door he concluded to take a good look at the house in order to fix his place of abode firmly on his mind. He looked through the windows of the store and saw a collection of coffins and other evidences of a first class undertaking and embalming shop within.

THERE ARE REASONS WHY this store is the biggest in the Northwest—and these same reasons are your reasons for trading here. The difference between the modern, up-to-date department store and the antiquated little "exclusive" store is all in favor of the buying public. Our aim is to see "how much merchandise we can sell on the smallest margin of profit." The aim of the smaller "exclusive" store is to see "how much it can bleed the public for."

This difference is the real difference. It isn't just talk and bluster—it's a good, hard, cold business fact. Most of the people know it is a fact—and if you don't know it, it's to your interest to get acquainted with the facts, for it means money in your pocket.

Now listen—To whom does the manufacturer, the importer and the commission man look for a market for his goods? Do you suppose for a minute he gives the little shop any preferences? Never in the wide, wide world. The big department stores that sell millions are looked to first for an outlet to the public. The little store can have what is left after the big store has made its selections. And the department store, being a consolidation of many stores in one, saves rent, saves labor, saves many managers' expenses, saves on advertising—And you, the buying public, get all this saving in the way of lower prices.

All the leading stores in America, in fact in the civilized world are department stores. Don't forget that fact. Then remember that this being a fact, has been brought about by modern, progressive, up-to-date methods of doing business.

So much for department stores in general.

The Glass Block Store is recognized and conceded by all who are in position to know, to be the biggest and most progressive department store in America in any city with a quarter more population than Duluth. Manufacturers, wholesalers, importers look to us first, when they want to reach the people of this section.

Still there are a few who imagine that if they go to the "exclusive" stores they will get something better—something they can't get elsewhere. It is a mistaken idea. Such people succeed only in getting what has been offered to and has been turned down by the bigger institution.

Trade where the masses trade and you'll make no mistake. "Enough said."

ONE BRICK $5000

Wealthy Carbondale, Kan., Man Taken In By "Nephew."

"Assayer" Said It Was Pure Gold, Worth $30,000.

Carbondale, Kas., Oct. 27.—Robert Forbes, a wealthy citizen of this place, is the victim of a gold brick swindle that cost him $500 in cash.

About fifteen years ago Mr. Forbes went to Mexico, where he worked in the mines. He located several valuable claims and ten years ago he sold his holdings for $180,000 and returned to Osage county. He invested his money in lands and securities and is rated as one of the wealthiest citizens of the county.

Three weeks ago a young man appeared in Carbondale. He was roughly dressed and looked like a miner. His face was covered with a growth of stubble beard, and his appearance indicated that he had been working hard.

The stranger hunted up Mr. Forbes and told him that he was his nephew, Thomas Forbes, and that he had just returned from New Mexico. He said he had discovered a mine in New Mexico which he had named the Independence at Cripple Creek or the Bonanza of California. He said he was prepared to prove that it was the greatest prospect ever found, and added that while he was willing to give his uncle an interest in the mine for $5000, he made this offer after he had sworn the old gentleman to secrecy, and he confided in him that he would go to Topeka with him, where the matter could be fixed up. Forbes said that if Mr. Forbes cared to invest he would leave the gold brick and send him another which he had secreted there. He wanted the gold to be in safe hands.

Robert Forbes knows something about mining and mines and the story of the young man had a genuine ring. He told him that he would go to Topeka with him, where the matter could be fixed up. Forbes said that if Mr. Forbes cared to invest he would leave the gold brick and send him another which he had secreted there. He wanted the gold to be in safe hands.

the two started for a jewelry store. The brick was carried carefully concealed under the young man's coat. On the way to the jewelry store the two men stopped at a drug store and drank some soda water. They then went to the jewelry store, where the supposed chemist examined the gold brick and appeared to make some chemical tests. He then said: "Why, sir, that is worth $30,000. Where did you get it?"

The "nephew" said that he got the brick in a New Mexican mine, and then the chemist proposed to buy the mine. Then the young man appeared to grow suspicious and told his "uncle" that they had better go. This brick is to be left with my uncle, Mr. Forbes," he said, "and it is not for sale. We own this mine and know when we have a good thing."

When Forbes and his chaperon left the drug store the young man started for a jewelry store, but Mr. Forbes said that it was not necessary, and that he was satisfied. He offered to give the young man a check for $5000, but this was refused, and he said he must have the cash. Forbes then went to the bank and got the money. They went to a room, where the brick was carefully deposited in a trunk, which the young man said had cost him $50. It was not deemed safe to send such a large sum to Carbondale on the train, so a man was hired at a livery stable and the two men armed themselves to guard the treasure. The trip was made without incident, and the trunk, with its contents, was left at Mr. Forbes' home. He returned to New Mexico the next day and the second gold brick was sent him by the express.

Then came a long, weary wait of days and days for the stock and the second gold brick. Mr. Forbes began to grow anxious, but he still had faith, but on Thursday he was awakened from his dream by the following letter:

Robert Forbes, Esq., Carbondale, Kas. Dear Uncle: I have concluded not to send you the other gold brick, as you may be enough. All is not gold that glitters. Better examine what you have. No one would have known me fifteen minutes after I left you. Your affectionate nephew, TOMMY.

Mr. Forbes fished up the brick, and of course, found that it was brass and worth a few cents. He is out $5000 and now knows that he has been duped. He says that he was hypnotized by the young man, and that if he had been in his right mind he would not have been taken in so easily. He believes that the men who robbed him live in Topeka, and officers have been there since trying to find them, but without success.

It is believed that the same man tried to fleece a wealthy citizen of Overlook, but the man became suspicious and so escaped.

Philadelphia, Oct. 27.—The belief is general that the Pencyoy Iron works of this city, will be abolished by the United States Steel corporation and the contracts for work to be performed here will be transferred to the New Bridge works, being erected near Pittsburgh. Within a few weeks various branches of the concern have been closed and the employees laid off indefinitely, nearly 700 men of the normal force of 3000, having been thrown out of work this week. The large rolling mill was shut down on Saturday and the fifty-inch and twelve-inch mills will stop next Saturday. The three furnaces, perhaps four, will also be closed. The steel rolling mill, it is reported, will be closed a little later. At the end of this week, the number of men thrown out of work will be fully 1500.

Dollar Bay Man With Eleven Children Asks About Pension.

Calumet—A Calumet law firm has received a communication from a Dollar Bay man, who wants to know whether he cannot secure some pension from the government on the extraordinary plan that he is the father of eleven children, all boys. The list of eleven sons includes a set of triplets and twins. The man explains his peculiar request by stating that he understood it was the custom in some countries, particularly in France, for the government to make some sort of a financial consideration to fathers of triplets, and he considered that the United States government ought to help him out in his efforts to educate his eleven sons. He provided in his letter that all of the boys would be brought up Republicans. The Calumet lawyer was stumped when he read the letter, and finally decided that the only thing for the father to do was... he to get a picture of the eleven sons, set in a row, and then apply for membership in the Society for the Prevention of Race Suicide. The lawyer also suggested that the Dollar Bay man might send the picture to President Roosevelt, with an explanation.

Mrs. William Lynn, of 120 Third street West, says: "I suffered a great deal for many years with pains through my back and kidneys. Especially if I caught cold or over-exerted myself. I tired very easily and often when working about the house my back hurt me so that I was obliged to sit down and rest myself. I tried many remedies, but could get nothing to relieve the trouble. Seeing Doan's Kidney Pills highly recommended I procured a box at a drug store and commenced using them. They acted like a charm, and in a few days I was much better. ## GOING TO TEXAS

Cole Younger to Engage In the Real Estate Business.

Backer and Partner Is Former Member of Quantrell's Band.

Kansas City, Oct. 27.—"Cole needs a home; he's getting old, and I'm going to look after him," said C. E. Wells, a former Jackson county member of Quantrell's band of raiders, now living at Crescent, Okla., as he sat on a baggage truck at the Union depot with Cole Younger, ex-bandit, ex-convict and ex-showman, waiting for the 9:15 Missouri Pacific train for St. Louis.

"Yes, Charley wants me to go down to the Panhandle and go into the real estate business with him," explained Younger. "He's sold his big farm of 1,000 acres, and he's got a lot of money down in the territory, but he has got a home."

Younger rolled the word "home" on his tongue as if it were some luscious luxury such as he had often longed for but had never known.

"Yes, Charley has a home," he continued, "and eleven children and three grandchildren. He's sold his big farm of 1,000 acres, and he's got a lot of money down in the territory, but he has got a home."

Wells and Younger had not seen each other for thirty years. Their friendship for each other is remarkable, and the eagerness of each to recite the deeds of valor performed by the other is interesting. Their talk continually reverted to their earlier days when as members of Quantrell's band, they rode over Western Missouri and Eastern Kansas.

"It is not generally known," said Cole, "but Charley here was the boy who saved all our necks after the raid at Lawrence. If it had not been for his knowledge of the country around Paola we would never have been able to get away."

away. There were 1500 men at our rear and 200 men in front of us. They thought that we were going west, but Charley said to go north. It was our only chance and we got away, but we had to fight our way out after fighting all day under a hot August sun. We were as black as 'niggers' when we got out."

"It's not generally known, either," said Wells, "that Cole was the only officer who voted against making the raid at Lawrence."

"I thought it was too dangerous; that was my only reason," replied Cole. "Cole was 18 then, and a captain. I was only 17. Yes, I was a private, but I was high private and I knew the country thoroughly. Not a dozen men in the band knew what we were going to raid Lawrence the day we started out of Johnson county."

Younger says he is out of the show business for good. He is tired of the whole business and says that he will never go on the road with a show again.

"I should have made $20,000 this season if it had not been for the poor management and for the thieves connected with the show," he said. "As it is, I have lost my time." He showed a letter from his attorney, enclosing a check for $1000, which said: "This fully and completely severs your connection with the company and ends all litigation, present and prospective."

After a short stay in St. Louis, he will go to Fort Worth and then to Mr. Wells' home in Oklahoma. They expect to move to Texas this winter and engage in the real estate business together.

Younger rolled the word "home" on his tongue as if it were some luscious luxury such as he had often longed for but had never known.

TWAIN HAS AWFUL

Presentiment He Will Meet Dowie In Next World.

Says If He Does He Is Going to Get Out.

New York, Oct. 27.—Mark Twain saluted for Europe on the Princess Irene for a stay of one year in Florence, Italy, where he and his invalid wife, his two daughters and friends will reside in Villa Belle di Quarto, one of the most beautiful palaces overlooking the Arno. At the door Mr. Clemens was asked if he had John Alexander Dowie in mind when he wrote the story in "Huckleberry Finn" of "The King" who was painted with leopard's spots and exhibited in the town hall for monetary purposes.

"Well," drawled the humorist, "I can't just say; I've never seen Dowie with his clothes off."

In fact I've never seen John Alexander Dowie, but I have a presentiment and an awful presentiment that I am going to meet him in the next world. If I do not meet Dowie in either one of the two places where people go, and I see Dowie there I am going to leave. It don't make any difference to me whether the place I go to is 1000 degrees warmer than the place where I met Dowie, I am going to leave. I like society, I love society, but not Dowie.

A number of newspaper men rushed up to Mr. Clemens and asked him if he had heard of the arrival of Henry W. Lucy, the noted English humorist and famous as "Doby, M. P. of Punch." Lucy said he had come to this country to ask a settlement with Twain in the matter of "The Obituary," a magazine he was publishing in England, and then selling the subject all the copies he desired, suppressing the rest of the edition.

Twain was shown the following letter that he had written Lucy several weeks ago, and which Lucy had reproduced on his arrival on the Lucania.

The letter read:
"My Dear Lucy: You will arrive on the morning that I depart so there isn't going to be any rendering of accounts. The thing will still continue to be published, but you are out of it. I am firmly convinced that in its ending capacity it is better for Twain than for two. You were the other segment of the 'Two.' Good-by."

When the humorist saw the letter his eyes twinkled as he replied:
"Can't that man Lucy understand a joke? I wonder if any Englishman can understand a joke."

He was informed that that very question had been propounded to Lucy and that the Englishman in reply had handed Twain's letter to the questioner as proof positive that an Englishman could understand a joke.

"Well, I don't know," at least one Englishman can see the point." Mr. Clemens said he expected to be away from the city for some time. His trip would spend part of his time working on two new novels.

Hints To Advertisers

People nowadays are not inclined to patronize stores that do not advertise. The public realizes that in this age any business institution that does not place its goods and prices before the people is going to go to the wall. Advertisers do not obtain a trade by the competition with other stores who go after trade aggressively.

You cannot afford to miss The Herald's First or Iron Range and Superior editions. You won't if your copy is turned in the day before.

One step won't take you very far. You've got to keep on walking. One inch won't take you very far. You've got to keep on walking. One inch won't take you very far. You've got to keep on walking.

Never forget that men and methods are everything. The right men pursuing the right methods are a tower of great strength.—The Advertiser.

There are few commodities about which nothing new can be said. But do not study how to say something new.

Modern advertising, says Printers' Ink, sets the pace for the commercial growth of the world. It is a recognized factor in business—a trade necessity of unprecedented importance.

A—Do you believe advertising pays? B (in disgust)—No. Did I find a purse the other day and advertise for the owner—and find him? Pay? Not much—Stray Stories.

You wouldn't put off making a sale that could be closed at the instant; why not get your advertising copy in early?

A mighty lever is a little Herald want ad. It has started many a man on the road to success—one cent a word is the cost—the results are splendid.

Those who are of the opinion that advertising doesn't pay should consider the vast amount of money being expended for publicity by the shrewdest merchants in the country. Isn't it likely that if advertising was unprofitable they'd have found it out before now?

The advertising that fits Marshall Field's likely won't fit another's business; but if there's a merchant who can't afford to advertise—in one way or another—he can't afford to remain in business.

The man who advertises judiciously, and the things he advertises, is the man who will succeed, and this proposition will become more and more apparent to you.

This is a strenuous age, and it's the aggressive advertiser who's going to win. He's the one who's just so sure as the sun rises and sets.

Buy Good Rubbers

The trouble with rubbers has been you didn't know whether they were good or not until you had worn them awhile; then when you find they were poor, all you could do was to buy another pair and go through the same process again.

No need of that now; there are good rubbers in the market; better-than-usual. They cost the same as usual, plus the trouble of asking for them.

EQUALIZE RANK OF ENGINEERS

Northern Pacific Men Will Get Proper Place on List.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 27.—A general grievance committee, representing the engineers of the Northern Pacific, has secured a partial settlement of the principal local questions under consideration with the management, and a new list of engineers, including the men employed on the Minnesota main line west on the Wisconsin branches, will soon be issued. This will equalize the relative rank of the old engineers on three divisions and the men who were transferred when a division was created by dividing the Minnesota main line and the St. Paul terminals into two operating districts.

When men were transferred to the new division it was found that important discrimination resulted. Men

GOLD MEDAL

Pan-American Exposition.

Butte, Mont., Oct. 27.—Almost fabulous finds of gold ore have been made on Owl creek, according to reports received in Butte from Hamilton, Mont. The greatest excitement prevails over the discoveries, which are said to eclipse the Klondike finds and a stampede is on. Miss Romney, mayor of Hamilton, and one of the well known editors of the state, has just returned from the scene of the gold discovery and his account sounds like a fairy tale.

Ten massive ledges uncovered on the side of the mountain blaze in innumerable spots, the glint of shining gold dazzling the eye. A towering cliff overhangs the leads and far below the gulch is choked up with boulders sloughed from the heights. These chunks of ore, Romney declares, range in size from hazel nuts to chunks as large as four-story blocks. Enough ore is in sight, he says, lying on the ground to run a thousand stamps a hundred years.

W. D. Cross, a Denver mining expert, made the first discovery on Aug. 1. Cross was accompanied by Julius Weimer, Frank Mayer and Robert Forbes, old residents of Lemhi county who were in his employ. The Morning Star group of claimants comprises those that Cross made the first discovery. Later he found the Mammoth ledge, which parallels it. Both are true fissure veins. The trend is northeast and southwest. The foot wall is granite and the hanging wall porphyry.

Morning Star on top is 75 feet wide, and the ore is exposed on the side about 2000 feet from the summit. The estimated width of the vein by crosscut at this point is about 200 feet. The dip is easterly and is exposed at water level at a distance of 400 feet from the top. The ledge can be traced clear into the shaft.

Mr. Cross estimates the average gold value of the leads and rock in gulches at $14 to $200 per ton. About eight pounds of rock from a rich streak was pounded up in a mortar and yielded $40 in gold. Romney chipped samples from numerous points in the lead, which upon being pounded up, gave nice pennings of gold. Lower is available on the creek just below the big ledge. The ore may be quarried out and milled at a minimum cost.

A. D. Rilea, a New York capitalist, is now incorporating a company to handle the Owl Creek property. Associated with him are Senator George E. Groen of New York, and others representing $500,000 capital. Mr. Rilea stated that the company would place $500,000 in the treasury and that not a dollar's worth of stock would be thrown upon the market, as the entire amount will be subscribed by his immediate associates. The company has a force of twenty men at work building culverts and preparing for the work. Between $500 and $10,000 will be spent in preliminary work this winter. Over 100 claims have been staked out.

PLOT TO LIBERATE

Cattleman Tom Horn, the Murderer, Discovered.

Cheyenne, Wyo., Oct. 27.—According to the Wyoming authorities a desperate plot has been unearthed which has for its object the liberation of Tom Horn, who is under sentence of death for the killing of Willie Nickell, the Iron Mountain ranchman's son. All the details of the proposed attempt have not been learned, but enough has been found by the officers to warrant them in doubly increasing the guard at the jail in which Horn is confined, to prevent that structure being taken by storm by friends of Horn among the cattlemen of the state. One of the best known cattlemen of Wyoming is said to be at the head of the daring scheme to free Horn, and the plot, it is alleged, was hatched in a small stock camp in Routt county. The bold plan was discussed for two days and nights, and which structure being taken by storm by friends of Horn among the cattlemen of the state. The Bradford Regulator Co., Atlanta, Ga.

Portland, Ore., Oct. 27.—The United States grand jury yesterday returned an indictment against Asa B. Thompson, receiver of the land office at La Grande, Oregon. The indictment charges Thompson with soliciting money to influence his official decision for approval for homestead application which had been held up for insufficiency of proof.

There are three counts in the indictment, and among the witnesses against only man who has thus far formally announced himself a candidate is not a strong man and will not have much of a chance in the convention. I have just returned from a trip through his own district and even there I find that he is not a particularly strong supporter. I do not think much of his chances.

"I don't think Congressman Joel Hearns will go after the job, although he has talked of a good deal now. Gov. Van Sant will not be a candidate for a third term. He has told me repeatedly that he would not want to come back. I don't think he will. There has been a good deal of talk of his coming out at the eleventh

Here are two striking proofs of the way the Big Store does business, and why it pays you to read our ads and buy first where the big manufacturers come to sell first.

PANTON & WHITE COMPANY
THE BIG GLASS BLOCK STORE
WHERE QUALITY IS PARAMOUNT

The great "snap" that comes only twice a year:

The semi-annual sale at which dressmakers load up for the season because they can buy at less than wholesale prices. At which housekeepers buy their entire winter's supply of the little findings for their sewing and dress accessories. This is the sale that never fails to be imitated, but always fails to be equaled. It is, like all the Big Glass Block Store's sales, a proof that our bargain-getting and bargain-giving power is far the greatest of any store in the Northwest.

Maybe there's enough of everything to last 3 days—maybe not. It depends on how wise you ladies are in your economies. If you're real wise our entire stock of notions would go in one day at these prices. Anyway the wise ones will be here the first day, but the sale lasts

RAILWAYS OWNED

By the People According to Railway Officials' Statistics.

Nearly Two Stockholders to Every Mile of Railway.

Chicago, Oct. 28.—"Holders of railway securities in the United States nearly equal the number of employees. The people own the roads."

This deduction was made yesterday by Sloan Thompson from figures collected from railway officials. The question was suggested by the recent statement of President Stevenson Fish that the stock of the Illinois Central is held by 847 stockholders, of whom an overwhelming majority own less than 10 shares apiece. Thirty-nine of the principal railway companies of the country represent 167,400 miles out of the 222,471 of single track mileage in the United States reported to Mr. Thompson's letter of inquiry. These gave the total number of stockholders on their books as 191,257. This is nearly equal to two stockholders to every mile of railway. The ratio on the Illinois Central, as given by Mr. Fish, is a little more than 2 to 1. Applying 2 to 1 as the ratio approximately in the total, the figures would show 380,000 stockholders in round numbers for the 222,471 miles of railway in the United States as owned by the 191,257. Assuming that the $1,000,000,000 of debt is as widely distributed among bondholders, the railway ownership would appear to be its approximate 380,000 holders. These figures, approaching the total of railway employees (1,138,261), do not represent the total of those interested in railway ownership. One owner would have these figures for registered stock, but, as many of these are bankers and brokers, holding stock in their name for others will be greater. The controller of one of the largest systems writes: "It is probable that the number of actual stockholders is twice as great as the number of registered stockholders." "There also the holding of railway stock by insurance companies, savings banks, and trust companies, extending their ownership among thousands," declared Mr. Thompson. "The accounting official of one road stated that 19.88 per cent of its shares was so held. Little stock in non-dividend paying roads is held by such institutions, but more than 15 per cent of the railway stock in the United States is now dividend paying. "There are numerous instances of large ownership in many roads in individual hands and of ownership in several companies by the same individual," Mr. Thompson continued. "The number of these is inconsiderable compared to the multitude who own 100 shares and less in one road. It practically follows the same line of distribution as the compensation among railway employees. "In one way or another the people of the United States own the railways of the United States, and something like 2,000,000 persons, through wages, interest and dividends, divide two-thirds of their gross earnings of $1,726,380,257 (1901-'02) among them. The other third goes for fuel, taxes, supplies and equipment."

MUSICAL AT VILLA MARIA.
Ponchartraine, Minn., Oct. 28.—(Special to The Herald.) The following pupils gave the October musical: Miss Margaret Davis, Jean O'Neil, Wm. J. Horton, Miss Smith, Chippewa Falls, Wis.; Miss Marie Widenbom, Miss Gladys O'Brien, St. Paul; Miss Stella Porter, Miss Sadie Buntou, Minneapolis; Miss Lillian Seyfried, Katherine Hayden, Duluth; Miss Elizabeth Farrell, Belle Creek; Miss Lucile Otis, Orono, Iowa; Miss Daniel Fox, Plum City, Wis.; Miss Jeanette Roman, Lewiston; Miss Lorena Billings, Fergus Falls. All the numbers were enjoyed by the audience, but a ballad sung by Miss Smith, and "Four-leaf Clover," sung by Miss Davis, were enjoyed the most. A few days ago the girls of Villa Maria exchanged recreation grounds with the boys of Nazareth, both parties had all the fun youthful hearts could crave.

THE SHEEHANS OBJECT. Do Not Want Children Sent to Public School.

When Humane Agent Withrow's application to have two of the children of Mrs. Daniel Sheehan committed to the state public school at Owatonna came up before Judge Middlecott in probate court and the court postponed sentence pending the decision of the probate court on the application of Mr. Withrow. Percy was severely burned in a fire some time ago and Mr. Withrow said he doubted whether he would be accepted by the authorities of the state public school, which usually refuses to take defective children. Percy will be brought into municipal court Oct. 31, or if not, the sentence passed on him, "Robert," whose name is not Robert, say the Sheehans, has been hidden away so that he cannot be found, Mr. Withrow says.

Thirty-seven Accepted.
Thirty-seven applicants for a barber's license passed the examination held by the state barbers' board of examiners in the store of the Standard Barber Supply company, at 107 Lake avenue south, yesterday and Monday. The five that failed were deficient in their knowledge of the keeping of a shop in sanitary condition, although they were of average ability as hair-cutters and shavers. The examinations were closed yesterday afternoon, the state board leaving for Minneapolis, where it will hold examinations Nov. 2, 3 and 4.

TWENTY HOUSES BURNED.
New York, Oct. 28.—Twenty houses, including stores and private residences were destroyed last night in a fire that swept over two city blocks in Kingsbridge at the upper end of Manhattan island. The flames were only checked when fire reinforcements arrived from distant sections of the city. Two firemen and a member of the Kingsbridge military company, who aided the firemen, were severely burned and removed to a hospital. The Kingsbridge hotel, formerly a famous road house, was destroyed. The total property damage was about $150,000.

CONSERVATIVES RE-ELECTED.
London, Oct. 28.—Major Arthur Hamilton Lee and the Marquis of Hamilton, both conservatives, have been re-elected to parliament, without opposition, for the South, or Fareham division of Hampshire and for Londonderry city, respectively, in consequence of the former being appointed a civil lord of the admiralty and the latter treasurer of the household.

Scrofula

It is commonly inherited. Few are entirely free from it. Pale, weak, puny children are afflicted with it in nine cases out of ten, and many adults suffer from it. Common indications are buncies in the neck, abscesses, cutaneous eruptions, inflamed eyelids, sore ears, rickets, catarrh, wasting, and general debility.

Hood's Sarsaparilla and Pills

Eradicate it, positively and absolutely. This statement is based on the thousands of permanent cures these medicines have wrought.

"My daughter had scrofula, with eleven sores on her neck and about her ears. Hood's Sarsaparilla was highly recommended and she took it and was cured. She is now in good health." Mrs. J. H. Jones, Parker City, Ind.

Hood's Sarsaparilla promises to cure and keeps the promise.

We'll be fair and square with you: Not a waist will be sold or laid aside before the sale begins, so everyone will have just as good a chance as all the others. The

JOIN OUR PIANO CLUB

What Is a Piano Club? Co-Operative Piano Buying.

A Piano Club is not a new thing in this country. It is a successful method of co-operation that has been used in the East with very satisfactory results to every member. By clubbing together, a fine piano can be obtained at a price that no individual could obtain singly, and upon terms so easy that the piano becomes your own before you realize that it has cost you anything. Besides this, the piano comes into your house the day you join the club and its cheer and charm are yours from the moment you become a member. The inducement for the seller is the sale of thirty-five or more pianos at practically one time, which justifies him in accepting a lower price than he could possibly do otherwise. The only condition of membership is the fee of $10.00 at the beginning and then $1.50 per week afterwards until the price has been completed. Twenty-five cents a day (not including Sundays) will give you a fine instrument, and all the pleasure that goes with it. We have organized the first piano club in Duluth—just as we were the first to introduce the new popular easy payment plan by which thousands of homes have been made happy—so now we introduce the Piano Club and invite you to join.

WHAT IT PROPOSES: First—Your choice of four high class pianos of most reliable makes, fully warranted, beautiful tone and action, cases of mahogany, walnut or oak, to suit your taste, with stool and scarf to match. Second—A price to the CLUB members lower than can be made to any individual purchaser, the club limited to thirty-five members. Third—Delivery at your house the day you join. Fourth—The only expense: $10.00 membership fee and $1.50 per week afterwards. Fifth—Absolute satisfaction guaranteed.

If this interests you (and who would not be interested in such a proposition?) let us take you a step farther: The pianos chosen for the club are each and every one the favorite styles from four of the leading well known makers of high class pianos. They are pianos which will commend themselves to all good judges, and ones which we heartily recommend to our friends. Our regular prices for these instruments, when sold singly, is $300.00, and they are considered unusually good values at these prices, as pianos go.

Our Price to Club Members Will Be $225.00!

We shall be glad to show the pianos to you, and it will be accompanied by the joint warrantees of the manufacturers and ourselves. Out-of-town memberships may be secured by mail, and will receive our prompt attention.

FINE GAME IN SIGHT

North Dakota University Team May Play the Zeniths.

Great Interest In Duluth
In Michigan-Minnesota Game.

There is a possibility that the football team of the University of North Dakota will be brought to Duluth for a game with the Zenith team, of this city.

Elmer White, secretary of the local club, is in correspondence with the North Dakota men, and the prospects are that a date will be closed.

This will be the first opportunity local supporters will have of seeing a university football team on the gridiron. The North Dakota men have the best team they have had for years, and those who have seen both teams play say that at the present time the chances are the university men would defeat the local players.

The Zenith team will be materially strengthened before the game is played, however. The men had the best practice of the year Monday night, a full team being out. Five new players have turned out with the team, which will cause keen competition for places in the line-up.

The men are for the most part old high school players, whose names are well known to Duluth followers of the game.

Randall and Fred Mallet are two of the new candidates who will try for positions as half backs.

There are also three new candidates for position on the line, Arthur Mallet, Magnus and Opper. The latter is a brother of the high school player, and is himself an old-time high school man.

A week from Saturday the team will meet the Olympics of Superior at the Driving park. There is a movement on foot in Superior to merge the Olympies and the Company I team and pick an all-star team for the purpose of meeting the local men. If this is done a good game will be assured.

The game with Hibbing has been declared off.

There is at present no talk of the Zeniths meeting the high school team. The enormous difference in the weight of the two teams would make the game a very unequal one. The Zenith's line last Saturday averaged over 180 pounds, while the high school men were fully thirty-five pounds per man lighter. The center and two guards of the Zenith team each weigh over 195 pounds, and the tackles weigh between 190 and 195. Central game in which a number of the members will make the trip to Minneapolis for the purpose of Saturday.

On the following Saturday the St. Cloud high school team will be brought to Duluth for a game here.

The members of the team are recovering from the effects of the Minneapolis Central game in which a number of them were badly battered, and they will be in good condition to meet St. Cloud.

Can Minnesota beat the Wolverines?

This is the question that is being asked by all followers of the game of football in the state, and all eyes will be turned toward Minneapolis next Saturday afternoon, when the Gophers will line up against Yost's men from Ann Arbor.

Secret practice for the Minnesota team commenced Monday, and the Williams will have the men behind closed gates every evening this week.

A large force of coaches is supervising the practice, and among them are, including Heffelfinger, Dyer, Page, Cole, Van Campen and Walker, and if efficient and thorough coaching can win the game it would appear to be a sure thing.

The injured men are improving. Current and Thorpe are in good shape again, and it is almost certain that Sharpe will be in the game Saturday.

O'Brien is in a less satisfactory condition, being still out on crutches, and it is doubtful whether he will be in the line-up Saturday.

The odds in betting favor Michigan. Minnesota's supporters are holding off for odds of 10 to 7, and as yet little betting is believed to have been done.

There is plenty of Michigan money being offered, but the supporters of the Wolverines hesitate to give the odds.

The injury to O'Brien has materially decreased the hopes of the Minnesota supporters, and whereas even money on Minnesota was not uncommon before the accident, it is now difficult to secure it at the odds of 10 to 7.

The absence of the star quarter back from the line-up would go far toward bringing defeat into the Minnesota camp.

and all supporters of the team are anxiously hoping for his recovery.

The strongest roster's club ever seen on a football field in Minneapolis is scheduled to attend the game, and take advantage of every chance to cheer the team on to victory. The songs and yells are being practiced every evening this week, and a special block of seats has been reserved for the club.

The seats for the game are going with a rush, large blocks having been bought up by speculators.

In Duluth the interest in the game is probably higher than it has ever been in previous years. All of the roads running to the Twin Cities will carry large excursions to the game, and Duluth will be well represented among the supporters of old Skidum.

CONFIRMATION OF A PRIEST.

Rev. J. P. Keyes, of Scanlon, Ark., writes: "For 12 years I suffered from the use of Plastic Bitters and feel that I am now cured of a disease which has been with me for many years. If you want a reliable medicine for indigestion, constipation, nervous disorder or general debility, get Plastic Bitters. It is guaranteed by all druggists. Only 25c a bottle."

The wrestling match for the championship of the world, which took place at Old City hall, Pittsburgh, Tuesday night, between Tom Jenkins, of Cleveland, and Dan McLeod, of Canada, was won by Jenkins, he taking first and third falls.

A movement has been started among city officials of Milwaukee to abolish the use of Plastic Bitters and feel that I am now cured of a disease which has been with me for many years. If you want a reliable medicine for indigestion, constipation, nervous disorder or general debility, get Plastic Bitters. It is guaranteed by all druggists. Only 25c a bottle."

The letter adds:

"My right to practice my profession is one of which I ought not and cannot properly be divested without a full and impartial hearing according to law. The government has preferred its charges against me in the courts, and I am ready and anxious to meet them; indeed, I am glad of the opportunity to clear my name and to show that the allegation that I entered into an unlawful conspiracy with Gen. Tyeer, a man who has lived nearly eighty years respected and honored among men, and who has been a member of the highest order of the grand jury, is as absurd as it is false. You must know that I have not and would not appear as attorney before your department so long as the indictments against me were pending. Therefore, if you have issued an ex parte order, as reported, it is wholly unnecessary and can only tend to my prejudice and should not be allowed to stand. While I am ready to meet any charges that may be formulated, surely the government is bound to deal fairly by its citizens and will not call upon me to meet substantially the same charges in two tribunals at the same time."

At a meeting of the directors of the Great Northern Railway company, Tuesday, J. N. Hill resigned the office of vice president and Louis N. Hill was elected as his successor. Both are sons of President J. N. Hill. J. N. Hill has been in poor health for some time and is now traveling abroad.

W. R. Vanderbilt, John Jacob Astor, General Manager Harahan and other directors of the Illinois Central railroad narrowly escaped injury in an accident to their special train at Carbondale, Ill., through a misunderstanding. Another train undertook to leave a side track just as the special came along. Two coaches of the special were "sideswiped," the sides of two of the coaches being torn away.

Major Tom E. McCalland, seized ten Winchester rifles and 900 rounds of ammunition found under the residence of E. E. Cogan, a member of the Free Colored Miners' union of Altman, Colo. No arrests were made.

Three men were instantly killed on the tracks of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad Tuesday evening by a local train. Only one of the bodies was identified. The men were returning from a fishing trip and were walking along the tracks.

Edward Groeger, a building contractor, of Kansas City, shot and killed John Nash, a carpenter, aged 28, firing from behind in a quarrel in the southern limits of the city Tuesday afternoon. ## BARRETT IS DISSATISFIED

With His Summary Disbarment Without a Hearing.

Washington, Oct. 28.—Harrison J. Barrett, whose disbarment from practice before the postoffice department for alleged wrongful acts disclosed by the general postal investigation was announced last week, has written a letter to the postmaster general under date of Baltimore, Oct. 27, in which he expresses surprise, in view of the fact that he has been furnished no specification of charges and has been given no hearing. The letter says he (Barrett) invited a searching investigation of all his acts and was assured a hearing and an opportunity to meet any accusations against him. He says he furnished the inspectors all information asked of him, though much of it was irrelevant, notwithstanding he was satisfied they were seeking his indictment.

The letter adds:

"My right to practice my profession is one of which I ought not and cannot properly be divested without a full and impartial hearing according to law. The government has preferred its charges against me in the courts, and I am ready and anxious to meet them; indeed, I am glad of the opportunity to clear my name and to show that the allegation that I entered into an unlawful conspiracy with Gen. Tyeer, a man who has lived nearly eighty years respected and honored among men, and who has been a member of the highest order of the grand jury, is as absurd as it is false. You must know that I have not and would not appear as attorney before your department so long as the indictments against me were pending. Therefore, if you have issued an ex parte order, as reported, it is wholly unnecessary and can only tend to my prejudice and should not be allowed to stand. While I am ready to meet any charges that may be formulated, surely the government is bound to deal fairly by its citizens and will not call upon me to meet substantially the same charges in two tribunals at the same time."

KNOCKED OUT IN ELEVENTH

Murphy Stood Up Against Young Corbett For Ten Rounds.

Boston, Oct. 28.—For ten rounds and a minute and a half in the eleventh, Hughie Murphy, of New York, stood up against Young Corbett last night, putting up a clever defense and landing many blows on the featherweight champion. Then came three blows in quick succession and although Murphy came up before the count, he was a "groogy" that Corbett refused to continue the fighting and was awarded the decision.

Although Murphy besides evading many of Corbett's blows, landed frequently his punches had but little weight behind them and Corbett scarcely noticed them. Through the first five or six rounds there was practically no difference in the skill displayed by the competitors. In the tenth round Murphy had the better of it.

In the eleventh round Corbett started in to get the decision and rushed the battle from the start. At the end of a minute he landed a solar plexus blow on Murphy and followed it up with a left on the chin, sending the New Yorker to the floor until the referee counted nine.

Murphy arose to continue the battle but was too groggy. Corbett landed another left on the chin. Murphy went across the ropes and lay there for another count of nine. He got up before being counted out, but Corbett, noticing his condition, refused to continue the fighting and the decision was given to the Denver lad.

Murphy then fell his full length on the floor and Corbett picked him up and carried him to his corner.

FIRED AT THE PRESIDENT

Evidently an Attempt to Assassinate Ruler of Mexico.

Guatemala, Mex., Oct. 28.—Great excitement was caused here yesterday by what looked like an attempt on the life of President Diaz, who was a guest of the state government during the festivities here.

The president, his staff and guests, were passing by the Casino, a building in a street car when a man of the lower class, by the name of Elias Toscano, approached the car shouting and fired five shots from a revolver at the car, fortunately doing no harm.

Elias Escandon, of the president's staff, rushed out of the car and caught the man, wrenched the revolver from his grasp. The police took Toscano to prison. He is a man with a bad criminal record and was recently released from prison at Grandtias where he had served a term for homicide.

The matter will be investigated.

One theory is that Toscano was drunk and shot the chief magistrate, planned to shoot the chief magistrate, and was proclaimed by the crowd of citizens, showing their joy at his escape.

Toscano's evil record makes the theory of a deliberate attempt at assassination appear probable.

An attempt was made on the life of President Diaz Dec. 16, 1897. He attended on that day the public celebrations in the city of Mexico the anniversary of Mexican independence. During the festivities a man rushed toward him, evading all efforts made to check his progress, raised the president's side and attempted to kill him.

Great excitement prevailed but it was soon seen that the efforts of the murderer had been futile. President Diaz was not hurt. The assassin was at once arrested and thrown into prison. This attempted murder created much excitement and subsequently the assassin was dragged from prison by a mob and lynched.

Winona, Minn., Oct. 28.—Will Stout, son of Presiding Elder J. F. Stout of the St. Paul district, formerly stationed in Winona, is back in this city from Europe, where he spent the summer touring the principal countries and paying his expenses as he went. When he left Winona early in the summer he had little more than enough to pay his way to Ireland, which was the country he intended to visit.

HUSBAND'S MOTHER Tries to Run Things and Wife Quits.

Centerville, Iowa, Oct. 28.—Alleging that her mother-in-law insisted on her doing her housework according to Swedish custom, Mrs. Carl Polson has asked for a divorce from her husband, a prominent Swede, of Centerville, and proprietor of a prosperous department store. She says she has come to detest him because his Swedish ancestry has become a burden to her. She says she became nervous over her troubles with her mother-in-law and threatened to send her to an asylum. She was $2000 almost, she says, the most respected business man of Centerville, director of the Y. M. C. A. and well fixed financially. She has gone to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Gardner, at Linville.

try first visited. He went with another Minnesota university student, Rev. Mr. McCrea. They planned a lecture tour through Iowa, Mr. McCrea to do the talking and young Stout the chalk illustrating. The venture, however, proved a failure. On reaching London, Stout took to writing for London papers and earned enough in this way to make his expenses. He worked his way back on the steamer Lancastrian of the Leyland line, and is now in New York. He expects to get home in time to eat Thanksgiving turkey.

SOCIALISTIC LECTURER Tries to Enlist Girls In the Cause.

Manitowoc, Wis., Oct. 28.—"I would advocate that any young woman of this audience who is keeping company with a young man who is not the possessor of a paid-up union card or the little red badge symbolic of socialistic allegiance, should break up with him at once," said Father Hagerty, the socialistic lecturer, in a speech. The girls seemed very impressed, and just to show that they are union at heart, sixty of them, who are employed by the Madison Seed company, struck for higher wages.

THE CONVENTION CITY. Republican Committee Will Decide Upon Location Dec. 9.

Washington, Oct. 28.—President Roosevelt and members of the Republican national committee are considering the question as to where the next convention will be held. Senator Scott of West Virginia, a member of the committee, was with the president half an hour Monday discussing this question. Senator Scott lives at Wheeling, W. Va., sixty-eight miles from Pittsburgh, and favors holding the convention at the latter place. The committee will meet here on Dec. 9 to decide where the convention will be held.

New York, Pittsburgh, Baltimore, St. Louis, Detroit and Chicago all desire to secure the convention, but as yet the campaign for the prize has not warmed up. Philadelphia will not enter the race inasmuch as the last convention was held there and will stand aside in favor of Pittsburgh.

FRICK GIVES PAINTING Of Scene When Peace Proto- col Was Signed.

Washington, Oct. 28.—Henry C. Frick, the Pittsburgh millionaire, has presented to the government a painting by Charran of the scene enacted at the signing of the peace protocol between Spain and the United States in August, 1932. The president has accepted the painting on behalf of the government. It cost $20,000. The protocol was signed in what was used by the president as a cabinet room, now one of the private apartments of the White House. President McKinley is given a conspicuous place in the painting.

WHEAT IS DULUTH

Range Is Narrow and Duluth Is the Weakest Market.

Export Demand Drops Off Flax Has a Decline.

Duluth Board of Trade, Oct. 28.—The wheat market started out firm this morning owing to the steady cables and the heavy cash business yesterday, but a decline at St. Louis caused weakness and prices fell off, but rallied some later. The market throughout the day was dull and the range of fluctuations narrow. There was some export business. New York reporting sixteen loads worked, but it was dull, the foreigners evidently having been well filled yesterday when they bought about 100 loads or more. Duluth exporters sold nothing today, but did a fairly large business yesterday. The Liverpool market closed low and flax is lower to 10 cents higher. Antwerp was unchanged.

The Duluth market closed low for both December and May. Minneapolis is up for December and for May, Chicago is up for December and for May, and New York is up for December and for May. Cash receipts at Duluth were 173, against 40 last year, 200 for Minneapolis 89, against 50 last year, making a total for the Northwest of 701 against 669 last year. Chicago received 16, against 14 last year.

Primary receipts of wheat were 1,380,000 bushels; last year, 1,420,000 bushels. Shipments, 18,600 bushels; last year, 18,600 bushels. Clearances of wheat and flour aggregated 325,000 bushels. Corn in the Liverpool market closed 1/4 lower. In the Chicago market December corn closed 1/4 lower, and the market was 1/4 lower. Primary receipts of corn were 16,000 bushels; last year, 16,000 bushels. Shipments, 172,000 bushels; last year, 172,000 bushels. Clearances were 170,000 bushels.

Trading in wheat was very dull. December opened unchanged at 77 1/2 and sold down to 77 1/2 at 10:30. It rallied to 78 1/2 at 11:30, and then declined to 78 1/2 at 1:30. It closed at 78 1/2. The market was 1/4 lower.

Merger of Chicago Gas Concerns Held Valid.

Chicago, Oct. 28.—At Springfield today the supreme court of Illinois held that the legislative act empowering the consolidation of the gas companies of Chicago is legal.

By this decision, provided the verdict has not been based on legal technicalities, the People's Gas Light and Coke company can openly take over the United Gas company—this step, together with the absorption of a half dozen other companies, having now been practically consummated—and thus cure the gas monopoly of the city.

The decision was in the case of a suit brought by the People's Gas Light and Coke company—known on the stock exchanges as the Chicago Gas trust—and attacked the consolidation which was put through the state legislature some years ago.

Merger of Chicago Gas Company Concerns Held Valid.

Chicago, Oct. 28.—At Springfield yesterday the supreme court of Illinois held that the legislative act empowering the consolidation of the gas companies of Chicago is legal.

By this decision, provided the vote has not been based on legal technicalities, the People's Gas Light and Coke company can openly take over the Ogden Gas company—this step, together with the absorption of a half dozen other companies, having now been practically consummated—and thus create the gas monopoly of the city.

The decision was in the case of people against the People's Gas Light and Coke company—known for its exchanges as the Chicago gas trust—and attacked the consolidation which has put through the state legislature some years ago.

The Ogden Gas company, the head of which is John P. Hopkins, Dr. C. Sullivan and other politicians have in power when the ordinance granting rights in this corporation was passed during John P. Hopkins' mayoral term—was the last company to be taken over.

The city council endeavored to prevent this consolidation, but failed, and the deal was practically consummated in New York city years ago, though there has been an effort to keep up appearances by the two companies distinct by maintaining different offices. The price paid for the Ogden company has been paid at $600,000, practically all of this having gone to John P. Hopkins and his partners.

The present decision, it is held, makes the gas companies and attorneys, allow open consolidation.

MISTOOK HUNTER FOR DEER

One month ago a Chicago man went into the big woods of northern Wisconsin on a fishing and hunting expedition, says the Chicago Tribune. There he was shot by a deer hunter who took his big rifle with him because he could not resist the temptation to go off on a hunt.

The man got off the railroad at a station about five miles south of Lake Superior, and was met by a local hunter. The hunter, who had settled on the shore of a lake five miles away through the woods and opened a cabin there, led the way back through the winding track through the burned and tangled forest, and pointed out several deer. At frequent intervals the hunter pointed footprints of a deer in the snow and said the red log cabin in the distance was the place where the hunter's pet stand of the red deer lived.

The man was determined to go out that night after a deer.

"It must be quite dangerous," said the guide, "for the game warden has been snooping around a good deal recently."

But the Chicago man was willing to take chances. He had with him a .30-06 Remington-Union Metallic Cartridge Co. on the front of the cap, and he was anxious to see how it would work.

At first they used the most commonly used methods of hunting—although it is utterly impracticable in extremely dense woods—and the hunter fired gasoline or electric, backed by an extremely powerful reflector. As the Chicago man followed the hunter along, he took a small and easily moving bait. The man with the light gun was so intent on following the hunter's attention to managing the light

One month ago a Chicago man went into the big woods of northern Wisconsin on a fishing and hunting expedition, says the Chicago Tribune.

Though he was armed with a rifle, though he took his big rifle with him for he could not resist the temptation to go into the woods at night, he got off the railroad at a station about seven miles south of Lake Superior, and was met by a local hunter who pointed out a place where he had settled on the shore of a lake five miles away through the woods and opened up over the winding track through the burned and tangled forest, and "French" hunters, at frequent intervals the pointed footprints of a deer in the wet sand of the road. The log cabin the Chicago man was determined to go out there tonight after a deer.

"It must be little dangerous," said the guide, "for the game warden had been snooping around a good deal recently."

But the Chicago man was willing to take chances. He had with him a car loaded with traps, and he walked on the front of the cap, and he was anxious to see how it would work.

The most deadly methods of hunting deer, though it is utterly unimportant whether it is done with the bow or with either gasoline or electric, backed by an extremely powerful reflector. As the light glances off the antlers of the animal, they take a small and easily moving bait. The man with the light gun has no need of a dog, as he keeps his attention to managing the light.

In the center kneels the second man, holding a long pole which he uses lessly along the shore of some remote creek or lake frequented by deer during the winter months.

The man with the gun, ready for instant execution,

The light—in reality a miniature searchlight—is kept turned on the shore, sweeping the whole circumference of the thick darkness of the woods.

A few miles north of Northern Wisconsin are closely bordered. The deer come down to the shore to drink or to feed, and the light glances off their antlers, which in their season are the best of many and all animals.

The light glances off the deer's antlers, turns an instant, startled for a moment into stupid curiosity. In such a boat are the eyes of the deer, reflecting the light like a pair of mirrors.

RUSSIAN TROOPS REOCCUPY MUKDEN

Action In Consequence of Weakness Displayed
By Chinese

Who Have Utterly Failed to Fulfill Their Promises.

Rumors From the Yalu River Are Exaggerated.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 29.—An official dispatch from Mukden, Manchuria, says: "A detachment of Russian troops entered the town yesterday and re-occupied the guard houses. This action was in consequence of the weakness displayed by the Chinese authorities who do not fulfill their promises and owing to general ferment prevailing here."

The rumors emanating from Japanese sources relative to the erection of Russian forts on the Yalu river, Korea, are declared to be exaggerated. It is explained that only a rampart has been built for the protection of the Russian settlements against the Chinese.

The reports of the entry of the Japanese troops into Korea are also unconfirmed and the anti-Russian demonstrations in Japan are now said to be less frequent.

SHORT OF CARS.

Heavy Movement of Freight
From New York.

New York, Oct. 29.—Movement of merchandise by rail out of this city continues so large that the leading trunk lines have issued urgent calls, says the Times, for the speedy return of cars from the east-bound trains. In some instances also the reduction of train working forces, which was arranged for Nov. 1, in accordance with the usual fall custom, has been deferred indefinitely.

Shipments of general merchandise and machinery to the West have thus far shown no signs of abatement. There is no such congestion of traffic as that which occurred last year, however, but the eastbound movement is lighter.

BLOODY BATTLE

Fought on Blind End of Baggage Car.

Cleveland, Oct. 29.—A bloody battle was fought late last night on the blind end of a baggage car attached to a west bound Lake Shore train. The men boarded the train at Ashtabula with the intention of beating their way to Cleveland. A row started and revolvers and clubs were freely used on the narrow car platform while the train was running fifty miles an hour. The engineer threw off a message at a station asking that the police of Collingwood be on hand when the train arrived. Two of the men, however, escaped by jumping, while five others were taken into custody when the train pulled into Collingwood. One of the men arrested had been shot in the arm while the others are all badly cut and bruised.

BLAIR IS IMPROVING.

Will Be Ready to Travel In Few Days.

St. Louis, Oct. 29.—James L. Blair, the attorney, passed a comfortable night and this morning his physicians stated that he showed greater strength than at any time since his accident. He is expected to be sufficiently improved within a few days to stand the fatigue of a journey which, it is said, the whole family will take part in. The furnishings of the Blair mansion at Kirkwood, near St. Louis, are being dismantled and packed for shipment. The sale of the Blair horses and equipages has continued until the stables have been completely emptied of their stock. Neighbors of the Blairs have bought several thousand dollars worth of household furnishings, rare bric-a-brac, costly rugs and pictures.

The grand jury continues the investigation of the Blair story from day to day. Reports that the signature and seal of the office of the recorder of deeds had been forged resulted yesterday in calling before the grand jury Paul Young, the recorder.

CANNERS GO OUT ALSO.

Chicago, Oct. 29.—Packing house canners walked out today, joining the striking sausage makers, and increasing the number of idle men at the stock yards to 240. There are sixteen other branches of organized labor in the packing houses yet to make demands, and more than 2,000 employees are said to stand ready to support the strikers.

CHECK SWINDLERS.

New York, Oct. 29.—Fully 100 business men in the upper section of Broadway on the east side of Manhattan have been victimized to a probable extent of $25,000 by a gang of clever check swindlers.

PUBLIC LAND FRAUDS MULTIPLYING FAST

Many More Flagrant Irregularities Discovered on the Coast.

Act Are Most Conspicuous.

Washington, Oct. 29.—Secretary Hitchcock today received a telegram from Portland, Ore., announcing the indictment of three more persons in connection with the public land frauds in that state. The telegram gave the names of the persons indicted as Emma L. Watson, Guy Huff and Norman Williams. The woman is charged with conspiracy in connection with the proceedings against Miss Ware, the commissioner of the United States district court for Oregon, who already is under indictment and Williams is charged with forgery in connection with the Nesbitt case. The proceeding against Huff is for forgery, but his is an independent case. So far, most of the prosecutions have been directed against those engaged in fraudulent proceedings under the timber and stone act, and it now appears that many very flagrant irregularities have been discovered in that connection. Innumerable instances of the invasion of public land regions by people in large companies have been reported to the department from day to day for the past year and more. In many cases people have gone to the coast to enter lands under the stone law. The arrival of carloads at a time has been reported and many of the members of these parties were women. In one or two cases during the vacation period of last summer, entire carloads of female school teachers, having from the middle Western states, made tours to the coast and all entered lands under the stone law. The frauds extend eastward from the coast states from Idaho, Montana and Nevada.

MAN SHOT IN CAFE REFUSES TO IDENTIFY HIS ASSAILANT

"Doc" Naylor Is Charged With Shooting Jack Russell, But the Latter Refuses to Name Him as the Man Who Wounded Him.

New York, Oct. 29.—The examination of Thomas Lenahan, said to be "Doc" Naylor, the "polky" king of Philadelphia, who is charged with shooting Edward Carpenter, also known as Jack Russell, in the cafe of the Rossmore hotel, early today, and of Thomas Cleary, of Lynn, Mass., Lenahan's companion at the time of the shooting, who was arrested with Lenahan, was postponed today until tomorrow, pending the result of Carpenter's injuries. Carpenter, who was shot in the abdomen, breast and hand, may not recover. A determined effort was made by the police to get Carpenter to identify Lenahan as the man who had shot him. Lenahan and Cleary were taken before the injured man in New York hospital. When Carpenter was asked if Lenahan had shot him, he said:

"I was murdered, but what is the use of murdering him?" and then fell back on the bed in a faint.

Later he said to the coroner: "There were 200 persons in the cafe at the time of the shooting. If they want to testify for me, why, all right. If they won't, I'll let the man who did the shooting go free."

THE MICHIGAN TEAM ON ITS WAY TO LAKE MINNETONKA

Where They Will Remain Until Event of Saturday
Coach Yost Says He Never Had a Team That Looked as Well as This.

Chicago, Oct. 29.—Twenty-nine young men, composing the football squad of the university of Michigan, accompanied by Trainer Fitzpatrick, Coach Yost and the latter's staff of assistants, arrived in Chicago today on their way to Lake Minnetonka, where they will occupy temporary training quarters until they meet Minnesota. All of the members of the delegation were reluctant concerning the impending contest, but it was apparent there was no lack of confidence in the Wolverine squad. Coach Yost reiterated his declaration that Michigan would win.

WOLF KILLED IN MINNEAPOLIS

Minneapolis, Oct. 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—A wolf was shot yesterday at Lyndale and Forty-ninth streets, Minneapolis, by John Travis, a 12-year-old boy. The wolf had been creating havoc in chicken coops and several men have been laying for him, but little Johnny Travis was the lucky individual to land him. Young Travis and another little boy, without saying anything to their parents, got up early yesterday morning and, after waiting for some time, the intruder approached the barn, and the boy Travis had an old shot gun, and when the wolf was 150 feet away the boy fired and killed the animal.

MRS. HANNA MARRIED LAST APRIL

New York, Oct. 29.—Mrs. May Harrington Hanna, formerly the wife of D. R. Hanna, of Cleveland, son of the Ohio senator, became the wife of Edmund Kittredge Stallo on April 27 last. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Henry Rollings, in St. James Episcopal church, in this city. News of the marriage became public only today through an announcement given the newspapers by Mr. Stallo, who is a lawyer and

ASSASSINATION WAS PART OF PLOT

New York, Oct. 29.—Armenians of this city are beginning to talk more freely about the murder of Sogomoun, which occurred in London Monday. These men, who refuse to permit the use of their names, dreading vengeance of their organized enemies, insist that Sogomoun was the real head of the Armenian revolutionary party, and that he was murdered by an assassin in the pay of a certain European government. Members of the Hunchakian party here say warning was sent to Sogomoun a month ago, when a wholesale assassination plot was first discovered. It is asserted that twelve Armenian leaders are known to have been marked for assassination. The Hunchakian leaders are now considering the advisability of laying all the evidence in their possession before the secret service officials.

CONSUL EMMA BOOTH-TUCKER KILLED IN RAILROAD ACCIDENT

MRS. EMMA BOOTH-TUCKER.

BILBAO PRESENTS SORRY SPECTACLE

Owing to the Widespread Destruction Wrought by the Rioters.

Garrison, Although Reinforced, Has Trouble In Coping With Mob.

Bilbao, Spain, Oct. 29.—The garrison of Bilbao has been reinforced, but the troops still have difficulty in coping with the rioting strikers who constantly erect new barricades as the old ones are torn down by the soldiers. The city presents a sorry spectacle, owing to the widespread destruction wrought by the mobs. The rioters used dynamite in several instances to blow in the doors of the Jesuits' houses, and to destroy the railroad tracks, with the object of preventing trains from entering Bilbao. Furniture prices are already being charged for provisions. Even bread is so scarce that loaves are selling at four paces (about 75 cents) a piece. Six persons were killed and 100 injured during yesterday's conflicts. Hundreds of terror-stricken people have fled from the city.

The railroad employees now threaten to join the strikers. The governor of Bilbao has summoned the mine owners to a conference.

PRIEST CHARGES A ST. PAUL MAN WITH EMBEZZLEMENT

Father Metzler of Wisconsin Has Caused the Arrest of Casper Ernst, a Prominent Capitalist and Promoter of the Saintry City.

St. Paul, Oct. 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—Casper Ernst, owner of the Erie building, a large office building in the heart of the city, and who has ranked among the capitalists and promoters of large affairs, was arrested and arraigned in police court today on complaint of Rev. Father Metzler, of the diocese of Wisconsin Roman Catholic church, who alleges that Ernst embezzled funds entrusted to his care. Two complaints were sworn to by Father Metzler against Ernst, one charging that Ernst collected $200 on a certain mortgage owned by the priest, and who alleges that Ernst embezzled the money by applying it to his own use, by paying the priest the usual interest in order that he should keep the heart of the city, and who has ranked among the capitalists and promoters of large affairs, was arrested and arraigned in police court today on complaint of Rev. Father Metzler, of the diocese of Wisconsin Roman Catholic church, who alleges that Ernst embezzled funds entrusted to his care. Two complaints were sworn to by Father Metzler against Ernst, one charging that Ernst collected $200 on a certain mortgage owned by the priest,

DEPOSITORS RETURNING MONEY

St. Louis, Oct. 29.—A round of the trust companies offices made today after 10 o'clock the hour of opening, showed that matters had assumed their normal aspect. Places that were yesterday besieged by crowds eager to draw out their savings today had a comparatively deserted look, only the usual

FEDERATION TO COPE WITH LABOR

Delegates representing national trade organizations of the country were present at the opening session. The conference will last two days, by which time it is expected a constitution and by-laws will be adopted, scheme of revenue decided on and permanent officers named. Among those already here are: D. M. Perry, Indianapolis, president of the National Manufacturers' association; J. W. Van Cleave, John Kirby, Jr., president of the Dayton, Ohio, Employers' association; E. F. Craig, of the Citizens' alliance, of Denver; F. W. Hodges, representing Detroit employers, and C. N. Chedwick and James T. Hoyle, representing the employers of New York.

Prominent Leader of the Salvation Army.

Was the Only One Killed

strongest men in the army. He has a wife and three children at Amity.

Chicago, Oct. 29.—Commander Booth-Tucker, who arrived in Chicago today, expecting to join his wife here, was prostrated by the shock of Mrs. Booth-Tucker's death. At the Salvation Army headquarters, where he appeared soon after his arrival, he declined to be interviewed and denied himself to all but his intimate friends. Ensign Agnew, speaking for the commander, said that he had thus far made no statement, but that he would soon make an effort to reach him earlier having failed. He came here from New York.

Commander Booth-Tucker was met at the railroad station by Salvation Army officials and was taken in a carriage direct to headquarters. No mention of his wife's death was made on the way, however, and the newspapers were withheld from him. The arrangements were that Commander Tucker and his wife were to meet here, Mrs. Tucker arriving from the West at about the same hour as her husband, and they were to have been a ten-days' campaign on Saturday night. Arriving at headquarters, the commander asked for his wife and expressed surprise that she had not met him. As gently as he could, Col. Sowton, in charge of the Chicago station, said:

"Commander, your wife is dead. She was killed in a wreck on the Santa Fe."

Commander Booth-Tucker staggered, raised his hand to his forehead and exclaimed: "God help me, is it true?"

Fort Madison, Iowa, Oct. 29.—The body of Mrs. Emma Booth-Tucker, who was killed in the wreck on the Santa Fe road at Dean Lake, Mo., last night, was brought here today. Twenty-seven other persons, badly injured, were also brought to this city.

Topeka, Kas., Oct. 29.—James Hurley, general superintendent of the western division of the Santa Fe, was here this morning, in connection with the wreck at Dean Lake.

At 9:10 o'clock last night our train No. 2, with Engineer Cunningham in the cab and Conductor Andrews in charge, met with a serious accident near Marcelline. The brake rod to the sleeper dropped down and caught on the switch, this quickly derailed the car, another sleeper, the dining car and Pullman following.

The dead: MRS. BOOTH-TUCKER, enroute from Amity, Col., to Chicago. Severely and perhaps fatally wounded: Col. Holland, Amity, Col.

Other passengers seriously injured were: Mrs. A. E. Baden, Winfield, Kas.; E. S. Baden, her son, Winfield, Kas.; John H. Shoemaker, Denver, Col.; W. H. Murray, San Francisco; L. N. Kirk New Castle, Ind., wife and two children; L. Newby, Onarga, Ill.; Mrs. Newby, Onarga, Ill.; Anna Newby, Onarga, Ill.; Fred Miller, Philadelphia; Albert Miller, Philadelphia; Emma Hester, Peoria, Ill.; Dining car Conductor Burkhardt, address unknown. Twenty others were slightly hurt.

Those most severely wounded were taken to the company's hospital at Fort Madison, Iowa, the others sent to Chicago.

No. 6 closely following No. 2 was derailed to Chicago via the Wabash tracks.

London, Oct. 29.—The news of the death of Mrs. Booth-Tucker reached the International Salvation Army headquarters here through a dispatch of the Associated Press. The heads of the international department immediately held a short service and dispatched a cable message of sympathy to the Salvation Army headquarters in New York. Gen. Booth lives out of town and Emma Booth wished to go to his residence and break the news of Mrs. Booth-Tucker's death.

New York, Oct. 29.—The following telegram was received at the Salvation Army headquarters today from Mrs. Booth-Tucker's secretary, Ensign Dammess, who was also on the train but was not injured.

"Conal passed from earth to heaven. Bringing body on board same train. Fort Madison, Iowa, Oct. 29.—Miss H. Dammess, a Salvation Army member, tells the following story of the wreck and the death of Mrs. Booth-Tucker:

"With Mrs. Booth-Tucker as a companion and assistant to her I left New York with her three weeks ago for a trip of inspection to the Salvation Army colony at Amity, Col. The trip being made without accident, untoward incident. "Tuesday night we left Amity for Chicago, where we were to have a conference with Gen. Booth-Tucker. When we left Amity we secured berths in the tourist car, but last evening concluded to change to a standard Pullman sleeping car. When we reached the Pullman, leaving Mrs. Booth-Tucker and Col. Holland in a room of a sleeper, which was being run unoccupied, they being busy engaged in conversation. I had been talking to them, but left to arrange our baggage in the Pullman. I had left them but a few moments when the crash came, though thrown violently about, I was not hurt. All of us who were uninjured went at once to the aid of those who were hurt. I saw a terrible scene. I saw me when I found Mrs. Booth-Tucker and learned that she was dead. When extricated from the wreck, she was taken into the waiting room of the station at Dean Lake, where she was placed upon a mattress and surgical aid given her. The cause of the accident, however, her skull being fractured and the spine broken, was not known at the time. She moaned pitifully for a short time, but her moaning ceased when her clothing was loosened."

NEBRASKA'S BIG WEALTH

Bank Deposits Increase Over $60,000,000 in Seven Years.

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 23.—Nebraska did pretty well this year for a state without mines and with little manufacturing. The state labor commissioner, who is by law charged with the compilation of crop statistics, has just figured out that the value of all the products of the soil this year is $200,000,000, which is $20 for every inhabitant and $100 for every family of four.

Out of the inexhaustible earth has come this great flood of wealth in the shape of wheat, corn, oats, rye, barley, buckwheat, hay, potatoes, butter, eggs, poultry, live stock, fruit and sugar beets. The value of the products of the farms of Nebraska in 1903 was $100,000,000, which was three times as great as ten years before.

These figures will give some idea of the tremendous strides toward material wealth that Nebraska is making. They show why she is able to lead the East in wealth every year and require but only a small part of it to move her crops. The labor commissioner says that there is not a state in the Union that produces so much per head in agriculture as Nebraska does. This is what has carried the state's bank deposits from $20,000,000 in 1896 to $80,000,000 in 1903, an increase of over $60,000,000 in seven years.

One phase of banking which was severely reprobated at this meeting is that proposed by New York trust companies of recent origin. It was asserted by several of the bankers that agents of these companies have been soliciting business in the West, seeking to get the New York accounts of Nebraska banks. They have offered 3 per cent interest on daily balances, and have intimated that if the banks do not come to the balance as a deposit account—although it could be checked upon, if necessary—they would pay more than that. When asked how they could afford to pay such rates, the agents replied that they had their deposits on real estate at 6 and 8 per cent on ten and twenty year terms.

Most of the bankers turned down this proposition, which they regarded as unbecomingly low. Some, however, have permitted the agents to establish branches in Nebraska, but have made it plain that they would not be active in the state association.

MASQUERADE DANCE will be given by the Young Men's Dancing Club at Columbia hall, Halloween Eve, Oct. 31, 1903. Elevator's full orchestra. Stevenson prompter. Oyster supper will be served in the hall.

DENOUNCE REPORT

Attorneys of C. P. Maginnis Bring Up News Tribune Article.

Class It as Malicious—Mr. O'Brien Makes Closing Argument.

The prejudiced and unfair report of the proceedings of the C. P. Maginnis case which appeared in the News Tribune this morning was denounced by the attorneys for the defense in open court this morning.

During the morning session, C. O. Baldwin arose and introduced the subject. He said in part:

"This morning paper came out this morning in glowing headlines about this case. It stated that one of the attorneys intended to make the statement that the defendant had been indicted for the murder of Mr. Maginnis, and that the attorney who had been indicted for the murder of Mr. Maginnis was a villain and a scoundrel."

"I am a lawyer and I know that the statement made by the attorney who was indicted for the murder of Mr. Maginnis was a villain and a scoundrel."

AT WEST DULUTH

Paddy McDonnell, the contractor for the work on Fifty-fifth and Fifty-eighth avenues, is going forward with his work, and walking, riding and driving will soon be smooth. His brother, who is in the lumbering job, says only a few days will intervene before teams and pedestrians will have it all their own way.

GOING TO RAINY LAKE. A party of West Duluth hunters has planned an outing to the neighborhood of Rainy Lake. This is said to be the best hunting section adjacent to Duluth. Frank and George Bushnell are going up today to build a shack and provide for the hunters, Joe Shulka and others. It is said that the success of the party will depend on the weather.

The laboring man does not receive a 10% discount card

such as are being sent out to nearly every other class by some Duluth clothiers. The laboring man pays in these stores the full price marked on the ticket, along with those who forget to ask for the discount.

Those who saw David Warfield at the Lyceum a few months ago were given a forcible illustration of kindred methods of doing business.

Why should one man pay more than another? If any one class in particular is entitled to a discount, it is the men who earn their bread by the sweat of their brow.

As a matter of fact the whole system is unfair and tricky in the extreme—a case of trying to pull the wool over the eyes of those who are credulous enough to take stock in such representations.

If you have been trading at any of these stores and have failed to get 10% off each purchase, your money has as surely been taken out of your pocket, as though you were held up by a highwayman.

If you patronize any of these 10% institutions, insist on the discount being given you. Others get it—why not you? The goods are marked with the intention of your getting it.

The Great Eastern gives no special discounts to anyone, but treats all alike. A child can trade at this house with as much safety as the most experienced buyer.

THE NEXT CARDINAL

For America May Go to Brazilian Prelate.

Rome, Oct. 23.—The widely circulated rumor that American cardinals would be credited by Pope Pius X has been considerably amended by the Vatican by the statement that "America" does not mean the United States, and that in all likelihood the first appointment will be made from Brazil.

Europeans generally, and Italians in particular, use the term "American" as applying to Canadians, citizens of the United States, and South Americans equally.

According to this custom, therefore, even if the pope, who does not speak English, mentioned his intention to create several American cardinals, he did not mean that they should come exclusively from the United States.

The argument has been made that this United States has not a sufficient number of representatives in the sacred college, that Canada has been without a cardinal since the death of Cardinal Taschereau, in 1888, and that the whole of Central and South America never had one.

It is probable that the archbishop of Rio Janeiro will be the first South American prelate to be named to the purple; but if this is done it will then be difficult to refuse the same favor to Mexico, Buenos Aires, Argentina and Santiago, Chile.

It has been suggested, in order to do room for new cardinals, to reduce the cardinals in those countries which do not seem to be sufficiently appreciative of the privilege as, for instance, France, which normally has seven cardinals.

In the United States there are several archbishops whose high attainments fit them to enter the sacred college. Archbishop Ryan of Philadelphia is considered first among these, but if a new cardinal were to be named the relative importance of Philadelphia, New York, Chicago, and St. Louis must be taken into consideration.

According to the opinion prevailing at the Vatican it is not likely that in the next consistory, or in the one following, will a red hat be sent to the United States.

It is just possible that several of these machines may be used in the forthcoming spring elections, and the company making them will try to sell several to the city.

Stollman will be prepared Monday to explain the working of the mechanism to the city fathers and to answer any questions that they may ask. The machines cost $50 each and wherever they have been used they have given entire satisfaction.

EYES ARE OPEN WHEN SLEEPING

Minneapolis Man Who Is Unlike His Fellow Beings.

Minneapolis, Oct. 23.—There is in Minneapolis a man who has not closed his eyes in twenty-five years.

He is compelled to sleep with his eyes wide open, for he could not close them if he tried.

He is Fred A. George, assistant county surveyor of Hennepin county. In spite of his misfortune, fate has in a measure dealt kindly with him, for he is the only man now living of the nineteen who were working in the flour mills on the night of May 2, 1878, when the terrible mill explosion sent eighteen lives into eternity in one breath.

Twenty-five years have elapsed since this terrible catastrophe, but it still stands without a parallel in the milling industry.

As a general thing, Mr. George is very reticent about making any reference to the mill explosion, but this morning he said:

"Try as I may, I cannot blot out the terrible memory of that terrible night. My watch stopped at exactly 7:00 o'clock, and I think that was the exact time of the explosion. There were three explosions in rapid succession, and in the twinkling of an eye the whole milling district was one mass of flames."

Those who saw the explosion say that the roof of the "A" mill was sent 200 feet into the air. This may be a bit exaggerated, but parts of the roof were picked up on Wabasha street, St. Paul, the next morning.

"A lucky jump into the canal from one of the second-story windows I believe saved my life," says Mr. George. "My upper and lower eyelids are burned off, making it impossible for him to shut out the light from his eyes. His fingers were burned together, mangled, as it were, into one unshapely mass, and splinters, an inch and a half long were taken from his nose."

In the daytime he wears heavy black goggles, and in the nighttime he sleeps with his eyes wide open.

Is Able to Be Out. Motorman Montgomery, of the Duluth-Superior Traction company, who was terribly cut by a colored man, Nick Evans, a few weeks ago, was on the street yesterday. He is still in the hospital, unable to work, but visiting with his friends.

INGS HE SAW ABROAD.

His field for operating for the next six months will be mostly in Nebraska, Iowa, Missouri and Kansas. He will, of course, continue to take care of his Minnesota, Wisconsin and North and South Dakota practice.

We publish a few names of the many he has cured.

R. Paulson, Baldwin, Wis., cured of cancer tumor of the stomach. This growth was as large as a pint cup and Dr. Reed removed it with three injections of his McGraw cure.

of chronic blood disease, ulcerated
sore throat and falling of the hair. Cured completely in three months time.

Mr. J. H. Oberg, of Olin, Iowa, had chronic neuritis, rheumatism and blood troubles. Mr. Oberg had been troubled for many years by a nervous system and could scarcely leave his bed. He visited California and some of the principal physicians, but they were of no help of them did him any good. Dr. Ross treatment worked wonders on him and he is completely cured.

A. W. Swanley, Grand Forks, N. D., cured of an aggravating form of pleurisy and pneumonia in a few quick weeks and without inconvenience.

Mr. Mary Harlow, Moorhead, Minn., was afflicted with a very bad case of edema to every portion on the body. She had doctored much and had failed to receive any relief.

Rea's treatment.

E. V. Prost, Minneapolis, Minn., cured of chronic rheumatism and general weakness. Dr. Rea did not ask him to discontinue, but pronounced his disease curable and said he could quickly cure him. Mr. Prost, who had consulted many other doctors in Minneapolis and they all said he could never get well, was cured in Minneapolis.

W. H. Smith, Great Grand Forks, Minn., cured of general debility, weakness, female complaint, nervousness and general debility. He was cured in Minneapolis.

Severt Knutson, Petersburg, N. D., cured of chronic rheumatism of three years' standing. The disease had been cured by other doctors, but Knutson's boy and he was at no time freed from pain.

W. H. Brodgers, Kent, Minn., cured of chronic rheumatism of the foot. Mr. Brodgers has sent many patients to Dr.

her friends and acquaintances advising them to see him.

Andrew Skog, Grand Forks, N. D., cured of chronic stomach trouble that effected his heart, his nerves and his blood.

August Carlson, Woolverton, Minn., cured of chronic heart disease. Mr. Carlson had suffered for many years with this affliction. He had scarcely been able to work and thought he would certainly die. He is now sound and well and has scarcely missed a day at work since he was cured.

Mrs. John Erickson, Christine, N. D., cured of early consumption, stomach troubles and constipation. Mrs. Erickson gained flesh at the rate of three pounds a month. She speaks very highly of Dr. Reed and thinks no other doctor half so good.

Oscar Edmonston, Woolverton, Minn., cured of a long-standing ailment. Cured quickly and at a reasonable cost. Cured because he was treated in Dr. Reed's practice. Able as he is to tell patients their diseases without asking a question.

he is not liable to doctor for the wrong allment. His main ambition in life is to fully master the complicated science of as a specialist and by judicious use of his superior knowledge, gained by being in the wards of some of the best hospitals in the world, where obscure diseases of nature are constantly under his care, he hopes to be able to relieve the suffering of human suffering. His great skill and experience has been the cause of many afflicted souls being lifted out of the depths of misery and made to enjoy good health as robust men and women.

When you get into Wright's Health Underwear you begin to feel different right a way. You don't have that stuffy, stifled feeling all over you that you used to have and you don't get chills after perspiring.

These are good sensible reasons for wearing Wright's Health Underwear—reasons that are based on natural laws of bodily health. With its great advantages Wright's Health Underwear is no more than ordinary underwear.

WRIGHT'S HEALTH UNDERWEAR, CO., 75 Franklin St., New York

Boston, Oct. 29.—Massachusetts is in the midst of the most strenuous state campaign it has experienced in a long time, and the opinion is freely expressed

It is hoped that Mr. Quincy's interest in the campaign is due to the coin- cidence that he is a native of the State, and, as the Democratic candidate for lieutenant-governor. If that is the case, it is a very laudable interest, inasmuch as the young man is a politician, for the former secretary of state is the idol of thousands of voters.

There is no doubt about the repellent of our manners being woe. They realize now that this is not a year when they can get away with anything. The expectation that Gov. Foster will drift into the executive chair again. A month or so ago, the national press was being held in the grip of the "Goulds" but things are different now. Secretary Moody, ex-Secretary of War, Gen. Logan, ex-Secretary of the Navy, and the leading spellbinders in the Gray state have been called upon to stir the Republicans.

BRADFIELD REGULA FOR DOGS.

New York, Oct. 25.—The elephant Columbia has gone back to Cuba. Columbia is a gentleman elephant, notwithstanding his name. Coney Island breathes easier now that he is gone. How Cuba will receive him is a matter

If he were a man, Columbia would find an indictment for homicide awaiting him at Havana. In Cuba last summer he killed W. Goodrich, one of the owners of the Quintard circus, who was the cause of the great troubles of Quintard and Miss Bradley, of Stamford, who afterward took a flight to Cuba.

After killing Goodrich, Columbia was brought to this country and exhibited in the city of New York by the hands of Tony Lovando, who in his spare days was a bareback rider of great reputation.

Columbia kept things moving at Coney Island. On one occasion he broke through the wire fence at the Luna park paint shop with variously decorated effects. As he was led away to the city of New York by the Clyde line Mexico, on which he was to sail to Havana, the light green of his coat and the red of his trousers were easily visible on his broad flanks.

Columbia was taken to Coney Island with a new outfit, and a "return" with three trained lions. He seemed far more anxious to twist the lions about his neck than to be taken to carry out his part of the program, and had to be cut out of the performance.

After that he stood with his forefoot chained to a post and swayed and swayed, and swayed, and swayed, until he came to stare at the "Horrible

"That Massachusetts is suffering more or less from these troubles, and that the people are not satisfied with the Republican party continues in the saddle, only the most extreme partisans will have the hardihood to deny. It is not to be denied that the people are not to be looked for within the party itself. It must come from without, and must be a party which is morally and intellectually responsible for its acts."

Colonel D. C. Del 25 Deputy Tilden Marshall Deane yesterday afternoon, at the request of the attorney, filed with the clerk of the court a warrant for the arrest of the woman on the charge of being the female defrauder. She was, it is to be taken into custody, charged with the defrauding of Edward S. Howell sent through the mails a letter in which she asked for $100,000, "doubtless, demanding that he pay her the money."

It is alleged that the woman sent a letter to Senator Hanna, demanding $100,000.

The woman "Anna" Linn was signed out of the hospital yesterday.

Wife confabulated by a telephonic spy. It is alleged that Mrs. Brown, wife of the man who is charged with the known letter defrauding to the United States, was telephoned by a man and that her net was tangled only to be found to be a net for a man.

It is alleged that the woman was found to be suffering from a nervous condition and unable to receive news from her husband.

She is sufficiently recovered to be able to travel, and is now on her way to her husband in a traveling automobile.

Ottawa, Ont., Oct. 29.—Eau de cologne and other toilet preparations are doing a great deal of harm among the Indians.

Indians drink them. "Coke and various other concoctions known in Florida water, essence of ginger and essential oil of peppermint are prepared especially for internal use by traders, who are not permitted to sell whisky to the Indians. The stuff is in reality nine-tenths pure alcohol. J. M. Macdonald of the Canadian survey says that the traffic in alcohol thus disguised has become such a serious matter that the missionaries have been obliged to discontinue the business of the Hudson Bay company promises to be embarrassed.

The Indians have learned that the sweet smelling things are to drink and not to be wasted as a perfume ornament. It would be a great Dominian record of impositions, one would suppose that the Indian half-breeds of the West had suddenly become a remarkable people for cleanliness, for the customs reports show an unusual increase in the quantity of toilet water imported. Most of the preparations come from our States.

According to Mr. Macdon, the effects of drinking these preparations are very prompt. The cologne is especially injurious. It has been shown to destroy the effect the eyeglass of Indians drinking it continuously.

Mr. McCoun also asserts that he took one drink of cologne just to see what sort of stuff the Indians were drinking and found it very different from anything he had the same time so hearing hot. He was glad to end his experiments. The essence of peppermint water, if taken in moderation, is a very good thing. It is a ginger, he thought, might be beneficial to persons exposed to the rigor of the winter. He thought it would be a much better to receive undiluted essence prepared at a chemist's rather than to drink the stuff prepared for the Indians.

Washington, Oct. 29.—It seems to be pretty well understood that President Roosevelt will not make public the report of Fourth Assistant Postmaster General Brlow until he transmits his annual message to congress in December. Various reasons are assigned for the holding up of the report, but both ing office has been announced. The president and his cabinet hold up and the president and Attorney General Knox are holding a number of conferences with the members of the cabinet. Mr. Brister is taken as evidence that the president intends to make a change in the postoffice department about changes in the postoffice department.

Another change is expected to be the transfer of appointing power from the postmaster general to the president. The president is expected to be in general for the postoffice department. He is expected to be in general in that he is appointed by the president of the department of justice, although he is paid from the treasury department.

Another recommendation congress is expected to receive is that the position of postmaster general be abolished and the chiefs of city and rural free delivery be made subject to the four assistant postmaster general.

The president is expected to be in general for the postoffice department and new secretary of the Republican national committee.

port for many of the administrative irregularities which the investigations have shown existed while Mr. Heath was in office.

Mr. Heath has been mentioned there and again in the discussion of the case, and his political prominence and influence were thought to be sufficient to protect him from direct censure by Mr. Bratton. It is now said, however, that his name and position have not been ignored, and the portions of the report dealing with Mr. Heath make interesting reading.

NEW YORK PROMOTED IN TROUBLE OVER LOAN

The Non Payment of Small Amount His Undoing. Secured the Loan Through a Fictitious Story.

New York, Oct. 30.—John B. Conger, a promoter, who until three months ago occupied an office up-town where he was known as president and general manager of the National Carbonate Baking Company, has been arrested on charges of grand larceny. William H. Reynolds, a wealthy broker, asserts technically that Conger obtained from him $40 by false pretense, but it is alleged by others that the promoter had induced Cornelius Vanderbilt and others to invest in the concern of which he was the president to the extent of $100,000. Mr. Reynolds came out the warrant on which Conger was arrested after he and a lawyer had laid the case before District Attorney Jerome for investigation.

TOD SLOAN "BROKE."

Working as a Chauffeur For a Paris Firm. Kokoro, Ind., Oct. 30.—After traveling across the country in a train, and entertaining with a liveliness that lined his friends with awe, and making unsuccessful attempts to break the bank at Monte Carlo, James Tod Sloan, the champion jockey of the world, is in Paris working as a chauffeur.

From a wardrobe which was equal to that of any potentate, and which he had a lot of society, a little fellow, according to word which has reached here, is in want of both clothes and a place to sleep.

He is in Paris, employed temporarily by a French automobile concern at a paltry salary, a salary that in a month does not reach the figures of one day's expenses two years ago.

When not employed as a chauffeur he is engaged in selling machines for different concerns, who rely upon his reputation as a former jockey to bring trade to their shop.

Always of a determined spirit, he recently told some acquaintances who met him in France that he would never return to the United States and suffer the humiliation he knew would be his if he learned that he is now receiving less than $100 a year, when he was earning $10,000 annually when he last saw his relatives.

The foster parents live here, and they say that Tod was worth $50,000 not long ago, but will not say how it happened and they are not now in a position to help him financially, willing as they are to do so.

The boy was taken to the city hospital. The knife penetrated the left liver and the injured lad is in a serious condition.

"It was no surprise. The British papers have been predicting it right along. It will result in the salutary reduction of values and the bringing of everything to a healthy condition. It is a good thing to squeeze the water out of some stocks. The standard securities are as good as ever."

In reply to a question whether the Schwab methods had been severely criticised in England, he said:

The arrangements of the park have not interfered with the marking of the additional tract. The general says:

"It is also a matter of satisfaction to the commission that for another year the practical use of the park by the government has continued by maintaining the field camp of the Seventh cavalry within its limits. I have heard reports of the unhealthfulness of the park, which has caused current during the Spanish war and it is proper to say that the health of the soldiers camped there was excellent, and an abundant supply has been secured for the campments and the new post from the surrounding woods. The cities of New York, Maryland, Ohio and Iowa are preparing to erect state monuments during the coming season, for each of which liberal appropriations have been made by the states named."

DETECTIVE'S CLEVER RUSE

Fire Engines Helped to Get Proof For Divorce Case.

New York, Oct. 30.—Living a life of luxury with every comfort in their cottage in Borough Park, Brooklyn, Samuel G. Estabrook and his wife Martha, were supposed to be the happiest couple in the land. In the opinion of the fashionable set in that suburb of the borough across the bridge.

When Mrs. Estabrook brought a suit for divorce the neighbors were shocked, and the wronged wife had a host of sympathizers in her sorrow. The suit was tried before Justice Garretson in the supreme court in Brooklyn, and was decided on the testimony of Jacob Hamburger, a private detective, whose method of getting the needed evidence was spectacular and successful. Mrs. Estabrook got a decree, with $30 a week alimony.

Estabrook is connected with the firm of S. G. Estabrook & Co., wholesale furniture dealers of Nos. 135-139 West Twentieth street. He is said to be wealthy, and the manner of life he and his wife led in Borough Park stamped them as persons of wealth as well as refinement. Their beautiful cottage and fine lawns, gardens and stables housing half a dozen thoroughbred horses, with several attractive equipages, were evidences of the cultivated taste of the proprietor. Estabrook and his wife were prominent guests at the social gatherings in that section and on the Park slope, broached until their friends were astounded by the suit for divorce. Mrs. Estabrook testified to the date of her marriage and of the discovery of her husband's infidelity last February.

She had been led to suspect there was something wrong because of her husband's frequent absences from home, which he attributed to business requirements. She was told that her husband was often seen uptown at nights when she supposed he was out of the city. These reports led to her placing the detective Hamburger on her husband's track.

Hamburger testified that in February he followed Estabrook to the Geneva hotel, but was unable to induce the clerk to permit him to go to the room assigned to Estabrook and an unknown woman. Fortune favored the detective when an automobile blew up in front of the hotel. The car took fire and Hamburger seized the opportunity as a ruse to get his evidence. He turned in a fire alarm and the engines came clanging to the hotel.

His ruse worked admirably, for the excitement of the arrival of the engines brought the guests in the hotel to the windows. Estabrook and the woman stuck their heads out of the front window of a room on the second floor to watch the firemen extinguish the flames of the blazing motor car. Hamburger called to Estabrook by name, and he and the woman quickly withdrew their heads and shut the window, drawing the curtains. The detective waited for hours until Estabrook and his woman companion left the hotel, and he followed them until they separated. He followed Estabrook to his home in Brooklyn. On this testimony the decree was granted.

Cause of Lockjaw.
Lockjaw, or tetanus, is caused by a bacillus or germ which exists plentifully in street dirt. It is inactive so long as exposed to the air, but when carried beneath the skin, as in wounds caused by percussion caps or by rusty nails, and when the air is excluded, the germ is roused to activity and produces the most virulent poison known. These germs may be destroyed and all danger of lockjaw avoided by applying Chamberlain's Pain Balm freely as soon as the injury is received. Pain Balm is an antiseptic and causes such injuries to heal without maturation and in one-third the time required by the usual treatment. It is for sale by all druggists.

MISSING FOR MANY YEARS

And All the Time Living In His Own House.

Clyde, N. Y., Oct. 30.—The startling discovery was made last week that Arthur Hamilton, who disappeared in a night twenty-five years ago, at a time when he was one of the most prominent young men in business and social life, had been in hiding all these years in the old Hamilton home here. Hamilton's mind is not in the least affected.

Hamilton was 26 years old when he dropped out of the village life 25 years ago. He owned a prosperous jewelry and clothing business, in partnership with David Sterling, was young and good looking and popular, and was noted for his business push. His energy and enthusiasm were unbounded and he was a leader of social life here as he was in commercial affairs. Suddenly without the slightest hint of his intention, he disappeared and was seen no more. No one could conceive of a reason for his going, and his dropping out was for many days a matter for wonder and speculation. It was certain that there had been no love affair that had gone against him, and his business matters were in the most satisfactory condition.

In time the story that he had gone west to engage in some venture was accepted, and several years later the report came that he had died out west and had been buried there. Now it is found that Hamilton never left Clyde at all. He simply went up stairs to his room in the old Hamilton home—led at De Senig and Solus streets in the village, and there he has remained ever since, attended by the members of his family. There was never a breath of suspicion that he was in the house, and it is said that he rarely ever left his room. Hamilton has spent his waiting hours of the last quarter of a century in reading and smoking, and has never shown any restlessness. It is not admitted that he is in the house, but no one has offered any reason for his course. Everyone is in as much perplexity at this time, because of the peculiar discovery, as when at first he disappeared without any cause that could be divined.

GIVING HIS VERSION

Robert Forbes Presents
His Defense In Partnership Suit.

A. J. Milner Contradicts
Dr. Forbes and His Wife.

Robert Forbes, the defendant in the action brought by his brother, Alexander Forbes, is today putting in evidence to show that the plaintiff is not entitled to any more of the assets of the firm than he received at the dissolving of the partnership.

William Foulke, one of the promoters and officers of the Consolidated Copper company of Pary Sound was on the stand yesterday afternoon and this morning to testify to certain stock transactions of the company. He has been subpoenaed by Dr. Forbes to produce other books of record of the copper company said to be at St. Paul.

One of the interesting points in the testimony brought out this morning was the denial by Dr. Forbes of certain statements made by both Dr. Forbes and his wife earlier in the trial of this case. Both Dr. and Mrs. Forbes testified that the evening of the day Robert Forbes and Mr. Milner dined on Tuckah Island to visit them, Mr. Milner, after dinner, went down to a store to purchase a cigar and that while he was gone Robert Forbes said Mr. Milner was a wealthy wholesale merchant of Duluth, that Judge Boyle of this city was another man interested and had unlimited capital at his control.

Mr. Milner this morning testified that he did not leave the house after dinner on the night in question, that the store referred to was not at that time built further than its foundation. He testified that he slept that evening with Robert Forbes, was with him all the evening, and during that time there was no conference between the brothers in which the things were said to which the doctor and his wife testified.

MEETING OF COUNTY BOARD

Road Petitions Principal Thing of Importance For Next Session.

The November meeting of the board of county commissioners will be held next Thursday afternoon. Very little new business has yet been filed with the county auditor for the consideration of the commissioners at that time.

Principal among these will be the hearing on three petitions, each for a different route for a proposed county road in the town of Cotton. Last session a warm fight was developed among farmers along the three routes recommended by the county commissioners and it was decided to have a hearing on all the petitions at the same time. The situation promises some interesting discussion at the board meeting.

Another will be had in the matter of the petition for the addition of new territory to the town of Cotton. St. Louis county, also the addition of territory to school districts No. 41 and 42.

Peter Spina's application for a renewal of his liquor license in section 8, first will come up for consideration. So far there has been no objections filed with the board against the renewal asked.

Aside from the hearings already mentioned, there is practically nothing more in sight yet, except the usual routine business of the board.

DULUTH HOMES

Made Happy By Joining the Duluth Music Company Piano Club.

The piano club has been the center of interest in the piano department the past week. It is something so entirely new that piano purchasers have hardly got their breath yet.

Eight homes, however, have seen the advantages of it. There are now enrolled about one quarter of the membership desired. The piano club gives anyone, no matter how small the income may be, an opportunity to get a fine high grade piano on the easiest kind of payment plan, at a saving that means $75 on the instrument.

The piano club is the means of our selling thirty-five of our best looking styles of pianos at practically one time. Thus we can afford to accept a smaller profit on each instrument.

The piano selected for the club our regular $300 grade, but we are offering them to the club members for $225, saving them $75 if they buy through the club.

The terms are only $10 down to join, then $1.50 per week, or 25 cents per day. As soon as you have made the first payment, $10, the piano is sent to your home and you enjoy it while you are paying for it. Call and examine these instruments. They are first-class and fully warranted. No excuse for any home to be without a piano.

Nearly a hundred $40 new suits at $24.50

Our bargain-getting and bargain-giving receives another forceful illustration in this purchase and this sale of $40 suits for $24.50. The ladies' tailor who made them received nearly double for similar suits two months ago, and if you buy of the smaller exclusive shops you'll have to pay double the price for suits not worth a cent more. No other store in Duluth could tackle such a proposition and add a hundred suits to present stocks.

These suits are fancy zibelines and men's suiting cloths, with skirted silk lined blouses, with military capes and epaulets, with fancy hands trimmed with pipings in strikingly smart contrasting colors—and with gilt buttons—the very latest effects. All have the new even length trainless skirts. Colors are Oxford grey, brown, navy, castor and black, with fancy rough and smooth dots, spots, splashes and dashes. After they've reduced the price to the lowest possible, other stores will have to get $40.00 for suits as good as these. There are hardly two suits alike in the entire lot—all sizes from 32 to 42—and your choice for $24.50

"BLACKIE" IS A BAD ONE

Does Not Behave Himself In the Stillwater Prison.

Joseph Goldstein, known as "Blackie," who is serving a 32-year sentence in the penitentiary at Stillwater for attempting to kill Deputy Sheriff Magie three years ago, is not proving a model prisoner. Mr. Magie, who has just returned from a visit to Stillwater, says that Goldstein is now confined in the dungeon for misbehavior. The prison officials have frequently had to punish him by solitary confinement in the cage.

THE STAGE

"The Two Sisters" played to a rather small house at the Lyceum last night. The play is somewhat sombre in tone, having for its theme the base betrayal of one of the sisters, Martha Howard, but relieved at times by comedy of an indifferent sort. It is an old, old story of an innocent, but sprightly country girl going to a large city to find work and falling a victim to the wiles of a gay, unscrupulous, rich young scoundrel, who casts her aside after he has betrayed and ruined her life forever in the sight of her kind. The story is handed in a conventional way and does not differ materially in plot and situations from many another play of the same kind. The play is a companion piece to "Old Homestead," written by Denman Thompson.

Frank Karrington, who plays the hero in the part of Hiram Pepper, from Montana, was good, and his portrayal of the rough, ready, manly Westerner won him much applause. Arthur De Voe as the villain, Harry Horton, was as despicable a cad and scoundrel as he could be. His acting was good, although it won him no applause.

Anita Zorn, as Martha Howard, the woman betrayed by Horton, and Evelyn Faber, her sister, Mary, won much applause by their interpretation of their parts. She Shiffin, who wants to run a hotel, was amusing at times, but a monologue he indulged in in the third act could have been left out just as well as not. Most of the comedy was horseplay that detracted greatly from the play that otherwise was satisfactory.

A. E. Obert Had Indigestion, Constipation

The Bottler's Union, Chicago, Ill., August 21, 1903.

Mr. Obert, a delegate to the Chicago Federation of Labor says: "I suffered from indigestion and constipation a number of years. I spent many sleepless nights and was mentally depressed. I treated with several doctors but could not receive any relief. I was persuaded by a friend to try Paine's Celery Compound and I consider myself perfectly cured."

SCHOOL IN THE OPEN

Health Trained In Outdoor Work.

Develops Sound Children
—How Pupils Divide
Their Time.

Tucson, Ariz., Oct. 30.—"Prep" school in the open—each young fellow possessing his own tent, horse, seven dogs, if so inclined; study punctuated with hunting and camping trips to the mountains, mines, Indian reservations, steer-tying and branding contest, prehistoric ruins and the big horse ranches, almond orchards and orange groves that are marked features of the Salt River valley, Arizona—this is the latest addendum to the popular desert camp life which is proving such a boon to people who need the outdoor living to build them up.

Boys temporarily disabled by over-exertion or athletic, pale, weak and anemic, yet anxious to keep up their class work, have found an all-fresco school life where development of brain goes on with that of the body, an attractive and delightful prescription for "how to get strong" and be contented while getting so.

One of the young fellows, just out of the high school, who went last year from the East, profited so well by his year's experience in self-reliance and the ability to fend for himself that at the close of the school year in May last he started, with only his saddle and pack horse for company, for the long overland trip across the desert, through the "range" country and over the Rockies to Denver, cooking and caring for himself on the way. He returns this fall—brown, robust, keen-witted—ready for another year that will fully re-establish his health, and at the same time finish his preparation for one of the Eastern colleges.

The misc-en-scene of this queerest of schools is an interesting one. It is situated on the very edge of the desert, near the little city of Mesa, which was first reclaimed from purely desert about twenty-five years ago by the Mormons, who were the pioneers in opening up these pleasant lands to civilization. On the east are the Superstition hills, around which cluster so many Indian legends and so many tales of lost mines. Off toward the north rise the Mogollon and San Francisco ranges and in the distance Four Peaks looms up, whose snow-clad summits are the rancher's "weather bureau," which he consults to ascertain whether the valley is to have a plentiful supply of water. Nearest by is the red Mountain of McDowell, where Gen. Crook and his followers fought and finally overcame the wild Apaches, and to the south Twin Buttes and the distant hills of Saguaro.

For the boy with archaeological or ethnological predilections, this section offers a fascinating field for private exploration and study. In every direction rise well-defined prehistoric mounds, filled with countless pieces of pottery, broken to be sure, but with colors and patterns perfectly bright and clearly defined—shell and bone amulets, arrowheads, flint, obsidian and flint, bits of turquoise, charred corncobs and stone implements galore; all relics of that skillful, industrious, provident race that dwelt in Southern and Central Arizona centuries ago, but vanished, leaving no history of where they came from, or the cause of their disappearance. Here, too, are the pictured rocks, their colors still as fresh as when the prehistoric artist depicted on these tables of stone strange birds and animals, long since extinct.

Five miles away lies "Los Muertos," the fields of the dead, partially uncovered by the Goshute expedition in 1888. This was one of the largest of these ancient cities whose population, prior possibly to the Pharaohs or Roman kings, has been estimated at more than 65,000. All about in the desert are the ruined corals or stock pens, in which the llamas and other animals of the inhabitants were kept, while the irrigating canals still in use are the splendidly built prehistoric ones, splendidly clean and repaired by the thrifty ranchmen of today.

VALUE OF COCAINE

Injected Into Spinal Cord as Anaesthetic.

Philadelphia, Oct. 30.—The value for surgical purposes of what is known as the Corning method of anesthetizing—that is, the injecting of cocaine into the spinal cord—was demonstrated to the satisfaction of a group of visiting surgeons at St. Joseph's hospital when Dr. R. E. Porter, a conductor on the Pennsylvania railroad, while the patient talked and chatted with those about him.

The operation was witnessed by the nurses and attendants at the hospital, together with the dozen physicians. Cocaine was injected into Porter's spinal cord with a hypodermic needle, the sharp instrument being forced between the vertebrae in the lumbar region. The patient was blindfolded. While the surgeon worked the conversed freely with those about him, unconscious of any pain, and once he asked if the leg was off. The leg was amputated above the knee, and when the operation was completed the patient congratulated the surgeon on the success of the operation.

According to those who witnessed the operation, he suffered from no shock, and it was not even necessary to administer a stimulant after the operation.

A MURDER REVEALED

Indictment Brings to Light
Details of Double Crime.

Portland, Ore., Oct. 30.—The federal grand jury yesterday returned an indictment in the United States district court that brings to light for the first time the details of what was probably a double murder. The indictment is against Norman Williams, on a charge of forgery in affixing a false signature of Miss Alma Nesbitt to a relinquishment for a homestead claim in Wasco county, but underneath the entire procedure lies strong circumstantial evidence that murder followed the forgery to cover up detection of the crime.

The matter was brought before the grand jury by United States Inspector A. L. Greene, of the interior department.

Years ago Norman Williams and Miss Alma Nesbitt were friends in Omaha, Neb., and came West together. They took up adjoining homesteads in Wasco county and lived there about a year. Then Mrs. Nesbitt, mother of Alma Nesbitt, came West. In March, 1900, Williams met Mrs. Nesbitt and daughter at Hood river, and started to drive them to their homestead, some twenty miles distant. After leaving Hood river the women were never seen again and the officials believe that they were murdered. The case attracted much attention at that time, and their disappearance has ever since remained a deep mystery. The federal authorities have been looking for Williams for some time. It is supposed that he is somewhere in Canada.

DOWNFALL CAUSED

By Ambition In the Case of Maj. Gen.
Corbin.

Transfer of Autocratic
General Applauded By Many Enemies.

Washington, Oct. 30.—Reasons why Major General Henry C. Corbin was relegated to the rear by President Roosevelt are complicated.

No one cause would have precipitated the order which transfers the all-powerful adjutant general from his commanding position to a subordinate place, and especially to a place where many of his enemies can shrewdly annoy him. Briefly the reasons are:

During the last few months the president has suspected that either Secretary of War Root or Maj. Gen. Corbin was using his wide influence to further the fortunes of his chief.

Lieut. Gen. S. M. B. Young desired to command the army without guidance. Mrs. Corbin is not satisfied with her social position in Washington. She believes that in New York she will be the first woman of her set, wield a powerful social influence, as the hostess of most of the social and political visitors, and in a word, be the thoroughgoing woman of metropolitan society of New York. Mrs. Corbin does not count, and Mrs. Grosvenor is seldom in the city.

When the general staff was organized and took over the control of the army there was some cause to avoid in the present, sound policies to protect, and which should properly issue from the military success lay along the path of absolute responsibility for the chief and assured obedience of all subordinates.

Gen. Corbin has not been wont to obey. He is never obedient. Gen. Young found a growing difficulty in administering the general staff. Orders would become obscure. In the clerical department orders that should issue from the office of the chief of staff, under his personal command, would be published by authority of the adjutant.

When that detail was settled by patient instruction and a general watchfulness, the case would be reversed and petty detail would be ordered by the chief of staff. It should properly issue from the adjutant general as mere routine. Most of the items merely issued from the military etiquette or custom. In total the situation was annoying.

It all seemed part of a plan by which business was again to be brought into the adjutant general's office. The scheme was to work along to that point where the adjutant general would be the chief of staff, and the chief of staff would be the chief of staff.

Now it was just in those minute details that the power of the adjutant was asserted. Gen. Young was given a short command as chief of staff that this plan promised success in every aspect that Young is a statesman in his own way, and he is smoothly capable of gaining his end.

Just at that moment some genius suggested that the adjutant general should be made the chief of staff. The adjutant general was made the chief of staff. The adjutant general was made the chief of staff.

Difference in Rubber Shoes

A rubber shoe is a good deal like the lining of a coat—subject to lots of wear. Durable or worthless. No style, no chance for variety except in quality.

There hasn't been, until recently, any difference in the quality of rubber shoes;—all made by same combination—good enough to sell; in fact, sold too often for your good.

The Selz Royal Blue Rubbers are different. The better-than-usual rubbers that come packed one pair in a box like shoes. They last and don't cost any more than the old, frequent-selling kind. Ask your dealer for them.

WAS TOO FOXY FOR MR. FOX

Buncoed a Constable to the Extent of Two Dollars.

Chicago, Oct. 30.—A. Modine buncoed a constable to the extent of $2. Instead of receiving a medal of honor from Chief O'Neil, honorary membership in the Anti-Constables' association, and other tokens of esteem, another constable trailed him for two weeks and Mr. Modine is now in the county jail.

Constable C. H. Fox confidingly gave $2 to Mr. Modine. He was to receive 40 cents in change and a membership card in the Elevator Men's union. Mr. Modine escorted Mr. Fox to the Masonic Temple. Modine took the $2 bill and an elevator to the upper regions, and Fox obediently waited in the lobby.

He would have been waiting yet had not the building attaches "chased him" as a suspicious character.

Business was dull among the constabulary of Justice Underwood's court when Modine burst into the room on the afternoon of Sept. 28. He greeted Constable C. J. Johnson as an old-time friend.

"I'm chief electrician for Marshall Field & Co.," he announced, "and am looking for an elevator man."

"Take Fox," suggested Constable Johnson.

"Would you like to ride all day in an elevator?" asked Modine.

"Sure!" declared the venturesome constable.

"You must join the union first," concluded Modine, as the two left the building.

He explained that the headquarters of the union were in the Masonic Temple. They passed a stranger with a yellow sash on his chin standing at the corner waiting for the building to turn, but Modine pointed out the elevator in Marshall Field & Co.'s store, which Fox was to have charge of, and the stranger was unnoticed.

"It will cost you $2.20 to join the union," said Modine. "I have influence and get reduced rates."

"I have only $2," demurred Fox.

"That's all right. I'll pay half, anyway," responded Modine. "Give me the $2 and I'll return the change."

"Don't move from this spot, or I may not be able to find you again," cautioned Modine, as he stationed Fox on the center of a mosaic triangle.

"Did you buy the building for $10?" inquired a policeman of Fox two hours later.

"This is not a lodging house," announced the head elevator man, who had called the policeman.

"Hearus mit you?" chorused two janitors and Fox found himself on State street.

He waited on the corner, vainly hoping that Modine and the union ticket might drop from a window. He inquired for him at Marshall Field & Co.'s. When he told of the visit to the Masonic Temple the clerk smiled pityingly.

Then he returned to the court and said mean and profane things to Constable Johnson about his friend Modine. Constable Johnson wore gum shoes for two weeks, and discovered Modine on Clark street. He captured his man after a chase of two blocks. Modine could not furnish $200 bonds and went to the county jail.

Bryan Addressed a Large Audience at Toledo.

Toledo, O., Oct. 30.—William Jennings Bryan was last night ordered off the steps of the Toledo postoffice by the watchman in charge of the building.

Col. Bryan, who was on his way home from the East, stopped over for the night, and late yesterday afternoon a meeting was arranged, and he was to speak from the steps of the postoffice. Two thousand people had gathered and he was about to open the meeting, when the watchman quietly went to Frank Niles, candidate for lieutenant governor, and informed him that Col. Bryan could not speak from the steps, but that he would have to get down on the curb. Mr. Niles made the announcement that the meeting would be held on the corner, and the crowd followed Col. Bryan and his escort to the new stand.

TAKES HIS LIFE

Thomas Bechtel, Brother of Murdered Girl, Commits Suicide.

Officers Consider It a Practical Acknowledgment of Guilt.

Allentown, Pa., Oct. 29.—Thomas Bechtel, who was held awaiting investigation of the murder of his sister, Isabel M. Bechtel, at their home a few days ago, committed suicide last evening in his cell in the central police station. The police consider this act as a practical acknowledgment of Bechtel's guilt.

Bechtel was in cell No. 2 on the right side of the corridor. Several relatives and friends were admitted to see him yesterday afternoon. About 4 o'clock he called to the corridor guard and asked for a priest. He was given a priest and a priest.

"Hello, are you there?" "Yes," answered Bechtel. "I wish you were here with me now, that we might die together."

These were the last words heard from Bechtel. A short time later he was found dead in his cell. He had hanged himself from the bars of his cell with a knife. He was found by the police at 10 o'clock.

How he got the knife is not known. He was carefully searched when placed in the cell and no weapon was found. There is a rumor to the effect that a newsboy passed the knife to him in the cell.

Bechtel was a single man and 29 years old. He was a laborer, and had been about the town and in the country. He was a hard drinker, and when intoxicated was easily suggested and prone to fight. He was of powerful physique and possessed great courage. During Mayor Schantz's administration from 1899 to 1902.

This happened immediately after midnight, the lock was not closed. He was found by the police at 10 o'clock.

The court sentenced him to imprisonment for one year, but Major General Chaffee, who reviewed the findings just before coming to the war department, set aside the verdict and said:

"From the evidence of the record the reviewing authority is of the opinion that the main cause of this soldier's desertion was the rough treatment commonly called hazing, to which he had been subjected by men in the company and the reviewing authority deems it essential to invite special attention of the commanding officer of the company of coast artillery to which this soldier belongs to this particular case."

"While this is no excuse for the crime of desertion, it may be considered a mitigating circumstance. In view of all the circumstances the sentence of the court is remitted and Private Cunningham will be returned to duty."

It is said at the war department that other cases of hazing of individual soldiers has been brought to light, but that this is the first time where it was responsible for a soldier's desertion.

THE THIRD CAUGHT

Frank Latimer, Alias Packard, Wanted at Superior, Apprehended.

Taken In Company With One Burns, at St. Paul.

Frank Latimer, alias Packard, who is alleged to be the third man concerned in the big stamp robbery at the Superior postoffice, was captured in a street car, in St. Paul, yesterday. He was accompanied by P. Burns, alias Jimmie Lonnegan, another alleged desperate criminal.

Latimer and Burns were about to alight from a car at Fourth and Waukesha street, in St. Paul, when they ran into the arms of Sheriff Scholt, of Waukesha, Wis., Superintendent Valins of the Pinkerton Detective Agency, Detective Ringdill, of the same agency, and Deputies Sheriff Kroeger and Weirick, of Ramsey county, Minn.

The two men recognized the officers by the flash of their badges and immediately drew their revolvers when they saw the trap into which they had walked. Before a shot was fired the officers threw themselves on Latimer and Burns, overpowering and disarming them. The two men were then placed in irons and taken to the Ramsey county jail.

Latimer escaped during the confusion attending the fight of the postoffice robbers with the officers at Ishpeming. He took advantage of the confusion and walked out of the car with the passengers and is supposed to have caught a freight out of the place.

Sheriff Scholt of Waukesha, who has been tracing the men since they broke jail there, hung onto Latimer's trail persistently until the much wanted man was finally run down in St. Paul. Latimer and Burns are also wanted at Eagle, Wis., for a bank robbery and for stealing horses on which they effected their escape. There were three men in the bank robbery and Charles Dennis, who is under arrest with Pat Flaherty, for the stamp robbery, is alleged to be the third bank robber.

Latimer, Burns and Dennis escaped from jail at Waukesha July 29 last. Although Latimer is technically held with the postoffice robbery, Commissioner Perkins, in Superior yesterday, and were bound over to federal court. Their bail was fixed at $5000 each. Dennis thought the amount was too high and desired it made less. He told the commissioner he had a wife and family to support. He was told, however, that the law was the law and that he must insure his presence at the federal court trial.

Both men have been taken to Madison. Flaherty, who made some trouble for the officers when he was taken, was taken to the police station yesterday. He was again photographed yesterday. A photograph of him was taken behind some planks and secured his picture as he came out of his cell.

GRAFT AMONG THE POLICE

Letter Written By Sioux City Police Captain Published.

Sioux City, Iowa, Oct. 29.—The conviction of J. H. Bigelow for operating a slot machine here has so incensed him that he has written a letter to the editor of the Sioux City paper, in which he accuses the city police of bribery and graft.

They went to a certain place together, where they remained until midnight. Thomas Bechtel heard of this and being strenuously opposed to his daughter's marriage, he went to the police station and reported the matter to the police.

He was a single man and 29 years old. He was a laborer, and had been about the town and in the country. He was a hard drinker, and when intoxicated was easily suggested and prone to fight. He was of powerful physique and possessed great courage. During Mayor Schantz's administration from 1899 to 1902.

AGED FATHER OF DOWIE SAYS

His Son's Statements Are "Base and Cruel Falschoods."

Sharpsburg, Iowa, Oct. 29.—The statement made in New York, by John Alexander Dowie, to the effect that he had no right to the name of Dowie, and that he had "painful revelations" that John Murray Dowie was not his father, is a base and cruel falschood.

His father is John Murray Dowie, of Essex, Iowa, who was born in Scotland in 1835. He resided for many years in Australia, where he was held in high estimation as a member of the Presbyterian church and as an honorable citizen. Seven years ago he came directly to Chicago and joined his son, who in a public address, in a great congregation, introduced him with the highest eulogiums, as his father.

The father labored with his son in Zion for three years.

Four years ago, Dowie banished his father from Zion because the sturdy old Scotchman held firmly to his former beliefs and would not endorse the false views and strange methods, which had made his eldest son so notorious.

The father is a consistent member of the Presbyterian church and an honored citizen in Essex. Nature has furnished strong proofs of their relationship. The two men are as much alike as two peas in a pod.

SECRETARY SHAW

Speaks to a Big Republican Gathering at Boston.

Favors Subsidy For Shipping as Well as Railroads.

Boston, Oct. 30.—Tremont Temple was packed to the doors last night, the occasion being the biggest political meeting held by the Republican party in this city during the present state campaign.

The principal speakers were Gov. Bates and Secretary of the Treasury Shaw. United States Senator Foraker of Ohio, who was expected, was unable to be present.

Congressman George F. Lawrence of North Adams, presided over the meeting. He said in closing his address:

"Let Massachusetts Republicans by their votes on November 3, show that they are aggressive and enthusiastic and can be depended upon to contribute materially to the triumphant election of that friend of our government, that champion of equal rights—President Roosevelt."

Governor Bates prefaced his remarks with a general review of the work accomplished by the Republican party in national affairs. The remainder of his address was devoted to a defense of his own administration.

Secretary Shaw followed Governor Bates. He said:

"While the importance of foreign markets is apparent to all, it is more important still that we do not lose sight of the value of our own markets. I submit that it would be unwise for us to adopt the Democratic contention and surrender what we now have in the hope of getting a larger share of what we do not now have. Giving away what is ours will not secure for us what we do not now possess. England has proceeded upon the Democratic theory for many, many years. She has given us free access to her markets, and we annually sell to Great Britain $600,000,000. We have protected our markets, and Great Britain annually sells to us about $15,000,000. Our policy of protecting our markets and thus keeping them for ourselves has resulted in a worth of trade in our favor of $580,000,000 per annum. The policy pursued by Great Britain and advocated by the Democratic party has resulted in a balance of trade against her of one thousand million per annum. Our Democratic friends during all these years have urged us to try the English policy of a tariff for revenue only. We have tried it a few times, and the result has been practically the same every time.

But conceding the importance of our markets, my belief is that there is open to us a yet more excellent way to secure them. We are securing only 50 per cent of the trade of South America, South Africa and of the countries washed by the Pacific ocean. The trade is worth more than a thousand million dollars per annum. We get ten per cent of it. The other countries secure the balance. Why? They are ready to pay the price. They avail themselves of every natural advantage and pay the price of others. They have and we do not have direct and regular steamship communication with these countries.

We created the commerce of the interior and the Pacific slope by means of subsidized railroads; we now subsidize rivers and harbors in the hope of aiding commerce.

Last winter a bill was introduced offering a subsidy for American steamships, but it was defeated.

I recognize that the term "subsidy" has a boresound. It is a good scare word. But it ought to take something more than scare words to deter us from every reasonable effort to get our share of the trade of the countries I have referred to.

PREHISTORIC DIKE FOUND

Gigantic Engineering Work Within Short Dis- tance of Spokane.

Spokane, Wash., Oct. 30.—A gigantic engineering work of prehistoric times is reported to have been discovered within a few hours' journey of Spokane. The discoverer of this enormous work is a surveyor, William Ashley, Jr., who has been engaged in laying out the boundaries to drainage district No. 1 in Hoodoo valley, some thirty miles northeast of Rathrum, Idaho.

Works that may form a link between the present and the unknown past were found in the valley, works that apparently took years to construct and the employment of many hands.

As Ashley was running the line of the drainage district along the edge of a swamp, known as Hoodoo lake, he ran across a mound of peculiar shape that caused him to stop and investigate. The mound was covered by trees two feet through, which may have been hundreds of years old, yet the sides of the mound and its construction seemed to regular to admit of its having resulted from any freak of nature.

A further investigation indicated the artificial construction of the mound. Broken rocks were found covered with earth. The mound was followed for 600 feet. It is stated that it was 8 feet at the base, 4 feet high and 4 feet wide on top.

In one place it had been cut in recent years, but in another, as he has the appearance of having been broken and swept away by floods in time long past. Mr. Ashley had heard of the dike before, but was inclined to the belief that it was an old moraine of the glacial period, such as are frequently encountered. Upon seeing it, however, his attention was arrested by the singular regularity of its form, and his investigation convinced him that it was the work of man.

The dike lies along the edge of a swamp which is known as Hoodoo lake, the country being thickly covered with timber and underbrush. From the present condition of the earth's surface in that section, there is some question for what the dike was built. Unless there has been some change in the earth's surface, the dike would have been useless for irrigation purposes, but it might have been constructed to keep back the waters of the lake. The theory is that it was not built by the Indians, but by some prehistoric race of a more peaceful and progressive type than the red men. But of so, who were they? Where did they come and how did they perish from the land?

MISSION TO THIBET

Undertaken By Rev. William Upcraft and His Wife.

Baptist Church Refuses to Be Responsible For Outcome.

St. Paul, Oct. 30.—Rather than give up a long-cherished purpose to preach Christianity in forbidden Tibet, Rev. William M. Upcraft, a pioneer Baptist missionary, has severed his connection with the missionary society of that church, and, accompanied only by his wife, who was formerly Miss Emma Ireen, of Alton, Ill., has started on the long journey whose destination is where no stranger can go without extreme danger.

Ten years ago, when a missionary in China, Rev. Upcraft announced his determination some day to enter Tibet as a missionary. He immediately began to work across China toward the Tibetan border and had reached it in 1900 when the Boxer uprising drove him out of Asia.

He laid his plan before the officers of the Baptist Missionary society and asked their support in the Tibetan journey. They refused, but he asked again.

Repeatedly he has pressed his case, but the plan has been as persistently refused. Officers of the missionary society told him the task was too hazardous. They would not undertake the responsibility of sending him where the chances were decidedly against his safe return. They pointed out that the country was a forbidden country and that no missionary had ever crossed its boundaries.

"Then let me be the first," said Rev. Upcraft. "I have been to the border line. I have many friends among the Tibetans who have crossed into China to see me. Let me now go to them. But still the society refused and last week formal announcement was made that Rev. Upcraft had left the Baptist society and would go immediately into Tibet to carry out his plan.

He and Mrs. Upcraft are now on their way from St. Paul to Vancouver, B. C., whence they will sail at once for China.

Tibet is one of the least known countries in the world, because an unwritten law of its people is that no stranger shall be allowed among them.

Particularly strong is their hostility to missionaries. They are a religious people and have been called "the praying nation." Buddhism and Bonism are their religions, Buddhism being in the ascendency. Rev. Upcraft will find learned priests in the theology and philosophy of Buddha, who will resist its Christian teaching and try every ruse to thwart his efforts.

Tibet occupies a lofty plateau in the heart of Asia, hemmed in by the Himalaya mountains. It is from 12,000 to 17,000 feet above the sea level, being famous as the highest plateau in the world.

Nominally its inhabitants, who number 5,000,000, are subjects of China. In fact, they pay allegiance only to their native chiefs.

They are a stalwart people, most of them being tall, lithe and strong. Rev. Upcraft says their men are among the most powerful he has ever seen. The few travelers who have passed through their country say they are gentle and hospitable among themselves and inclined to be lazy. Many of them are tent dwellers.

They rarely have trouble with neighboring nations, being even more exclusive than the Chinese. Their hostility is concentrated on strangers who cross their borders.

This fact is what has attracted Rev. Upcraft to them. He is an Englishman known throughout the United States, which he has frequently visited, as a man without fear, whose chief desire is to preach in parts of the earth where no other white man has been.

Although still comparatively a young man, he has spent twenty years in Asia, most of the time in China, making his home in the Yang-tse-Kiang river toward the Tibetan border, 2000 miles from the east coast of China.

Their progress was slow. They went from city to city, establishing missions, often in places where Christianity had never been heard of before. At times their reception was almost as hostile as what they might expect in Tibet itself.

The journey was a series of struggles against ignorance and hostility to strangers. It was a preparation for the entry into Tibet.

HARTY & ANKER

409-411 WEST SUPERIOR STREET.

There he had met and married Miss Ireen, of Alton. She joined enthusiastically in his plan and said she would go with him.

Immediately they began to work westward along the Yang-tse-Kiang river toward the Tibetan border, 2000 miles from the east coast of China.

Their progress was slow. They went from city to city, establishing missions, often in places where Christianity had never been heard of before. At times their reception was almost as hostile as what they might expect in Tibet itself.

The journey was a series of struggles against ignorance and hostility to strangers. It was a preparation for the entry into Tibet.

Rev. Upcraft and his wife reached the border line in 1888 and established their mission church on the lowlands at the edge of the Tibetan plateau. From their home they could see the forbidden land.

For two years they worked faithfully among the Chinese. Many converts joined their mission. Occasionally a Tibetan man across the border came within reach of their influence. Rev. Upcraft worked faithfully with these stragglers and finally secured a few converts.

They went back to their homes on the plateau, but often returned to see the missionary and his wife, sometimes bringing friends with them. In this way Rev. Upcraft continued to add to his strength in Tibet. These few converts formed his entering wedge into the country. He believed they would ensure him a safe entry and furnish him protection when the time came to begin his cherished work.

His time was thus spent, as he felt, successfully, until 1900, when rumors of the Boxer uprising reached him. They were quickly followed by orders from the British consul at Chung-King to leave the country at once. Although the natives were quiet for miles about them, Rev. Upcraft and his wife promptly obeyed.

Their journey on the Yang-tse-Kiang river was one of the most thrilling escapes in the great exodus of Christians from China brought on by the Boxer troubles.

Rev. Upcraft and his wife had but one companion, another missionary, when they started on the trip. They hesitated for a moment, considering whether there was no other way to safety. But Tibet was on one side, Siberia, with its exiles, on the other, and an impenetrable wilderness on the third. The river was the only way out.

Taking a little clothing and food enough to last them, they launched their hastily constructed raft and bade their converts good-by. The journey was slow, for they were dependent upon the current for propelling power, drifting as the water took them.

They were on the river three weeks, floating past Boxer strongholds and picking up fugitive Christians who swam out to the raft to be taken aboard.

As they drifted by Dulung the Boxers were looting the city and they saw the fires of burning buildings. Screams of terror from men and women reached their ears.

When they reached Shanghai their little raft was loaded almost to sinking with refugees. They had seen many others fleeing overland as they were on the river to escape the vengeance of the Boxers.

Instead of leaving the country after their terrible trip, Rev. and Mrs. Upcraft stayed on the coast until the interior was quiet. Rev. Upcraft offered his services to the allied forces which marched on Peking for the liberation of the ambassadors there. He went with them as interpreter and served throughout the campaign.

Then he returned to America with Mrs. Upcraft to prepare for another journey toward Tibet. The fearless couple stayed here only long enough to see their friends and transact necessary business before they sailed again for China.

The Boxers were quiet, and with little difficulty they retraced their steps to the mission on the edge of the Tibetan plateau. They took on the work they had hastily dropped and completed preparations for entry into Tibet.

With arrangements made, they returned to America once more to secure the consent of the Missionary society. The final refusal of this resulted in a severance of all relations.

"If you will not support me," Rev. Upcraft told the Missionary society, "I will go alone. I have worked ten years with this end in view. I believe the time is ripe. Except for these and people told of Christ. I shall undertake the task."

As soon as they reach Shanghai Rev. and Mrs. Upcraft will begin the 2000-mile journey up the Yang-tse-Kiang river to the border of Tibet. They will maintain their mission at Yuchow, where they were when the Boxer rebellion began.

This will serve as a station from which they can work into the forbidden country. The Tibetan converts they have made at Yuchow will aid and encourage them. Except for these and they are a small band—the two missionaries will be dependent solely on the mercy of the Tibetans.

Other Caucasians, who have attempted to cross the country, have been surrounded and compelled to fight their way out. They have been captured and imprisoned, often grievously wounded in encounters with the Tibetans.

Such treatment, furthermore, has been accorded, not to missionaries, but to travelers who have said nothing about religion and have, therefore, not aroused the enmity of the Buddhist priests. No missionary has yet entered the country.

Rev. and Mrs. Upcraft will have the intensity of the religious belief, which Rev. Upcraft will be compelled to combat, is indicated by the following account by Andrew Wilson of Tibetan characteristics:

"The Tibetans are the most pre-eminently praying people in the world. They have praying stones, praying pyramids, praying flags flying over every house, praying wheels, praying mills and the universal prayer, 'Om mane padme hum,' is never out of their mouths."

Travelers say, furthermore, that the Buddhist priests in Tibet, as elsewhere through Asia, are profound men, skilled in argument and deeply versed in religious lore. To combat them successfully a missionary must be a scholar and quick in debate. He must be equipped to grapple the fine questions, theology and philosophy, and uphold the Christian version of problems, moral and ethical.

Names Game Warden. Political Fight at Superior Over Appointment.

A long drawn out political fight in Superior for the appointment of a deputy game warden has resulted in the announcement by State Game Warden Overbeck, of Wisconsin, that John S. Craig, a former city assessor and real estate man, is slated for the position to succeed Deputy James Blackadder, whose term expires Nov. 1. Governor La Follette has confirmed the appointment, and now Mr. Blackadder's friends have brought heavy political pressure to bear in his behalf. It is rumored that a compromise is to be effected whereby Mr. Blackadder will continue to act as deputy game warden with a territory that will not conflict with that of Mr. Craig.

BROWN WAS POISONED

Jury Renders Verdict on Death of Pittsburg Recorder.

Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 30.—The verdict of the coroner's jury on the death of ex-City Recorder Joseph Owen Brown was reached last evening after fourteen sittings.

The jury finds that Brown came to his death March 15, 1903, from poison administered by some unknown person or persons.

The death of Recorder Brown occurred a few days after his resignation as city recorder at the close of a year's bitter factional fighting in local politics.

There were vague rumors of suicide at the time, but the death was generally attributed to collapse from overwork and mental stress. The suicide rumors, however, reached the ears of J. R. P. Brown, of Nebraska, a brother of the deceased, and he came here to investigate and on April 23 had the body examined and a postmortem examination held. After the postmortem the vital organs were sent to Philadelphia for a chemical analysis. On June 29 the inquest proper was taken up and has continued at intervals ever since.

Ex-Recorder Brown left an estate of considerable value in which his wife, from whom he had been separated, several nephews, and some close friends were made beneficiaries by his will.

The verdict of the coroner's jury leaves the case about where it has been all along beyond officially determining that he did not commit suicide or die from natural causes.

J. R. P. Brown, the dead man's brother, who has conducted the investigation, promises to remain here and investigate further.

A STRANGE YOUTH

Is Earl Ellsworth Who Was Convicted of Murder.

Regarded By Prison Officials as Man Without Conscience.

Joliet, Ill., Oct. 29.—Earl Ellsworth, the young murderer who has been sentenced to serve a life sentence, having been sent here from Woodstock, is looked upon by the officials of the penitentiary as a man without a conscience. The crime for which Earl Ellsworth must pay the penalty remained, from the time of his commission on Feb. 28, 1902, until the boys' confession, one of the most beguiling criminal puzzles in the history of Illinois. While it is not now fully cleared, enough has come to light to show the worst influence of his ancestry upon him, to bring out the ghastly contrast in his character and to show that even in an isolated place, where the prisoner could not have been criminally influenced, a heartless deed was born, bred and found its victims.

Benjamin F. Ellsworth, his wife, Alice, and a 28-year-old brother in the Ellsworth family were shot to death on the same night. The first two were murdered by the third, who was very well to do. Of the four only Earl Ellsworth, now a prisoner, remains. He alone knows exactly what took place in the Ellsworth household on the fatal morning and this Earl is a liar. By his own confession was he convicted, but since sentence was passed upon him he has gone even further and told a wilder, more shameless story than to his prosecutors. Among those who knew the Ellsworth family well, many contradictory opinions are held as to the motive for the murder. Many hold that Earl is a moral degenerate and killed the three; others say robbery was the motive, and still others are inclined to believe the boy a stork, who is truly this: That out of jealousy Ben Ellsworth would the lives of his faithful wife and her aged paramour, and then, through grief, decided on this crime.

"I know my father was going to murder my mother and old Anderson," said the boy in his confession. "I knew it well. My father had known for sixteen months what the relations between Anderson and my mother were, and I had told him what I suspected. I had never seen them together since. Three days before the murder my father came to me and told me he was going to kill my mother. He then told me he would let me do it. Before the morning of the murder he had drilled a hole through the floor of the attic bedroom, the ceiling of Anderson's bedroom. 'Go into the attic,' he said, 'and wait for me. When you see Alice and old Anderson together, signal to me. I will do the rest. Then you stay with me for I am going to kill myself. Do not leave me until I am dead, and if I do not die quickly put an end to me. When I am dead, tell the boys that I killed Alice and Anderson, and that Anderson killed me.' 'Between 7 and 8 o'clock I climbed upon the roof of the kitchen, crawled into the attic, and waited for him. He came, and opening, I lay on the floor above Anderson's room, and waited. I saw him watching him through the small hole. At last I saw my mother come into the room. Anderson also came in, and they stood and talked for some time. Then they rushed into the house from the kitchen, and I hurried down the stairs and just as I burst into the room father laid nearly a dozen bullets into my chest. I tried to run, but he caught me, and she fell against me, and a second later old Anderson tumbled over me. Anderson was also coming in, and he saw me and shot me. I was shot in the chest and saw him shoot me. I turned about and saw old Anderson rise up and start toward me. He cried out for me not to shoot. I don't know how many times I shot him, but he kept shouting until he fell. I placed the body on the bed and hurried out and gave the alarm. 'They say here that you murdered all three of the people,' he answered. 'I do not remember what happened.' 'Are you sure that your father killed your mother?' 'No, I am not sure of it,' said the boy. 'Are you sure you did not murder her?' 'No, I am not sure, but I don't think

FOUND NOT GUILTY

Charles P. Maginnis Acquitted By Jury In Federal Court.

Jury Out About Six Hours—Judge Lochren's Charge.

A verdict of acquittal was returned by the jury in the United States court last evening in the case against Charles P. Maginnis.

The jury, after deliberating for about six hours, returned to the court room shortly after 10 o'clock. Judge Lochren was hastily summoned from the Kitchi Gammit club and came at once to the court room. Clerk Spencer read the verdict.

"In the district court of the United States, the United States against Charles P. Maginnis, vs. the jury, find the defendant not guilty."

There was a little crowd of eager listeners present in the court room when the verdict was read. The court officials, the lawyers interested in the case, Mr. Maginnis himself and his five sons and a few curious spectators had remained in the court room throughout the evening, expecting a verdict. Congratulations were showered upon the defendant from those present in the court room, and the little party dispersed.

The jury was sent out yesterday afternoon shortly after 4 o'clock.

The judge, in charging the jury, said in part as follows:

"Gentlemen of the jury, the defendant has been charged by the grand jury with the crime of subornation to commit perjury."

"Perjury consists of a statement by a person under oath of any material matter which he does not believe to be true."

"Perjury is one of the most heinous and abhorrent of crimes. Fortunately it is of very rare occurrence. Subornation to perjury is equally abhorrent."

"This being a serious charge, the jury should weigh the evidence carefully. If the crime has been committed, it is in the interests of the community that the defendant should be convicted. If the crime has not been committed, it would be a cruel injustice to bring in a verdict of guilty. Weigh the evidence carefully, therefore."

"The defendant is presumed to be innocent. The fact that he has been indicted by the grand jury should not be considered as evidence against him. Before you can find the defendant guilty, each of you must be satisfied in his own mind, beyond the existence of a reasonable doubt, that he has committed the offense charged."

"The material fact for the jury to decide is—first, did Annie Stensland commit perjury? If she did not, then the defendant is not guilty."

"If she did, then it is for you to determine whether she had any agreement with the defendant prior to that time by which the entry of the land was to be made in the benefit. If she had no such agreement, the defendant did not commit the offense, and a verdict of not guilty should be returned. If she did have such an agreement, the defendant is guilty."

"It is for the jury to decide upon the facts of the case. You have heard the testimony given here. If you are satisfied there was an agreement made between the defendant and Annie Stensland, that the land was to be received for his benefit, then you must find him guilty. If the evidence does not satisfy you as to these facts, then you cannot find him guilty."

"You have heard the testimony in regard to the character of the defendant. It has been shown that he has been law-abiding, honest and truthful up to this time. Evidence of this kind is of great value in considering a case, especially if there is any doubt in your minds in regard to his guilt."

"The jury goes out for supper about 7 o'clock in charge of the bailiff, and returned to sit upon the case until shortly after 10 o'clock, when the verdict was returned."

THE STATE OF TRADE

Shown By Reports to the International Mercantile Agency.

New York, Oct. 29.—Special telegrams from correspondents of the International Mercantile Agency throughout the United States and Canada regarding the state of trade, are summarized as follows:

The between-seasons period is beginning to show its influence on the movement of general merchandise. Relatively the most favorable reports came from Chicago, Pittsburgh and New York. Baltimore reports the outlook from the South for a good trade, owing to the high price for cotton. Country orders are a fair average for the season at Chicago, but there is less disposition to branch out and a hesitancy in some lines slowly at St. Louis. At Boston the disposition is toward conservatism. At Philadelphia the volume of trade is about equal to that of a year ago, but affected by labor conditions is beginning to slacken. St. Paul and Minneapolis advise that interior merchants are restricting purchases somewhat. The Chesapeake flour output is becoming normal again. Traffic on Eastern railroads has declined this week, and car shortage has been less noticeable. Interior jobbers generally are buying less than last year, and cotton exports are increasing encouragingly, but mercantile collections have fallen away in regions tributary to Philadelphia and St. Paul. Shipments of furs on crop and bank accounts have made loans at New York firmer and tend to hold down security prices.

Good weather has prevailed throughout the grain regions, but winter wheat, which is all sown, could stand some rain. The outlook is for a good demand for wheat for export. Estimates of the cotton crop tend higher than recently. A feature in industrial lines is the sale of 10,000 tons of Southern pig iron for export at Manchester at $10 or less a ton at the furnace for delivery in Korea. Many large industrial concerns report an average decline in orders of 25 per cent from this time last year; new orders come in hesitatingly. Some 500 employees have been laid off, or have struck this week. Closed iron mines in Northern Michigan have reacted upon jobbers in the Northwest.

Staple winter goods are in steady demand at Montreal and prices are firm. Cottons are practically strong, and jobbers complain that there is difficulty in securing orders filled by manufacturers. Demand for woollens is less active. Collections are fair, and there are some renewals. There has been a less active distribution of seasonable goods from Toronto, owing to the mild weather, but the more rapid movement of crops from the Northwest is stimulating and an improvement is expected.

Elevator receipts indicate that there is less wheat than has been counted on. Canadian banks report that the demand for funds from farmers for handling the crops is less than anticipated. Money is, therefore, easier than expected, and the indications are that rates will be lower. The situation at Sault Ste. Marie is more hopeful. Some of the factories have started up and others are expected to.

VOTE TO STRIKE.

Iron Workers to Quit All Over Country.

New York, Oct. 29.—The threat of a national strike by the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers to force recognition of local No. 2 by the Iron League and Employers' association culminated yesterday at a meeting of the International and local committees of the association held in this city, in a resolution being passed ordering a strike where members of the Iron League of the Building Trades association have contracts. President Buchanan was in favor of exhausting all efforts to bring about a peaceful settlement, but the Parks element thought this too slow and carried the majority with them. The cities which will be most affected include

New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Easton, Chicago, St. Louis, Cleveland and Cincinnati.

It is estimated that 10,000 iron workers will be directly affected. This would mean the throwing out of work of from 100,000 to 150,000, and possibly more workmen in other grades.

President Buchanan would not talk of the national strike. All he would say was:

"We have made every effort to bring about an amicable settlement. We have won every other fight and I believe we will win this one."

ARMENIAN ARRESTED

On Suspicion of Knowing Something About Sagouni Murder.

Boston, Oct. 29.—On the arrival of the steamer Ivernia from Liverpool at her dock yesterday afternoon, Kirkorian, an Armenian, was arrested at the request of Scotland Yard on a charge of being an accessory before the fact of the murder of Sagouni Sagouni on Tuesday.

Kirkorian claimed that his object in coming to this country was to attend lectures at Harvard, but on being searched only $2 was found in his possession. He will be arraigned before a United States commissioner.

The police deem the arrest of the utmost importance.

The prisoner denies any knowledge of a conspiracy to kill Sagouni and appeared surprised to hear of the tragedy. He admitted that he knew the murdered man and that he had attended several meetings of the revolutionary society in London before his departure for this country.

He denied that he belonged to any revolutionary society. Kirkorian said he was 30 years of age and a graduate of the American college in Constantinople. For the last three years, he told the officers, he had lived in London, maintaining himself by journalistic correspondence and other writings. He expected to cover his expenses at Harvard by sending to Constantinople paper articles on American customs.

Kirkorian speaks English fluently and with little foreign accent. He is a good looking Armenian, dresses well and displays considerable refinement of manner.

BRIEF TELEGRAMS.

Humbetta Cattalini and Martin Pishkur, Russian miners, fell 100 feet from a cage descending into the Minnie Hoyle mine Thursday morning and were killed. An official of the Canadian Pacific railroad is seriously for the statement that the road will shortly inaugurate a system of retraining and will in a few days issue a circular laying off many of the force being cut down in every division. The reason for this move is that the net profits of the month of September this year were $20,000 less than for the same month last year. Information was filed in the Montana court against Isaac Gravelle, the man charged with the dynamiting of the Northern Pacific railroad. Two letters which Gravelle is alleged to have written to the railroad demanding money for immunity, are the basis of the information. The specific crime for which Gravelle will be tried is extortion.

Aracido Herrera, the light-weight Mexican pugilist, knocked out Eddy Santury, of Chicago, at Ancon, Thursday night, in the thirteenth round of what was to have been a twenty round go. The works of the Johnson Forge company in Wilmington, Del., were destroyed by fire Thursday night. The origin is unknown. Loss, $150,000, partly covered by insurance. About six men are thrown out of employment. Mrs. Sarah Ann Hinchshaw was exonerated by the Kansas yearly meeting of the Friends' church from the charge of persuading her nephew to join the United States army. She has been on trial for two days. Sald head is an excema of the scalp—very severe sometimes, but it can be cured. Doan's Ointment, quick and permanent in its results. At any drug store, 50 cents.

TURKEYS COMING

Increase In Michigan Street Receipts of the Noble Bird.

A Drop In the Wholesale Prices of Meats.

A decided improvement in the condition of the poultry market has taken place during the week.

During the early part of the month, something in the nature of a turkey famine was freely predicted for the Thanksgiving season, but during the past week the shipments of turkeys received on the local market have been gradually increasing, and while the price is expected to be high, it is likely that there will be a supply equal to the demand, and that in the words of a local dealer, "anyone who has the price will be able to have a Thanksgiving turkey."

The price has fallen during the week to 13 cents per pound.

Other poultry prices have also fallen from a cent to four cents per pound. Ducks have dropped from 14 cents to 10 cents and chickens from 11 cents to 10 cents. It is one of the busiest weeks of the year in the poultry market, the consignments of chickens received being exceptionally large.

Meat prices have also taken a drop during the week. Lamb has dropped from 10 to 9 cents, mutton from 9 to 8 to 6½ and 7 cents. Pork loins have also dropped from 2 to 2½ cents, and are now selling at 11 cents per pound.

Among the commission houses there is but little change in the market conditions from last week. The trade consists now almost entirely of staple articles. Apples are the chief feature of the business at present, and the consignments of these received during the past week or two have been among the largest in the history of the Duluth market. The price ranges from 43 to 50 cents per bushel.

Pointers are being received in large quantities and the price remains at about the same figure as it has been throughout the late summer and early fall. The tubers are now selling at from 5 to 60 cents per bushel.

The fine weather of the past week has had an excellent effect on the market, and all the dealers report business conditions good.

DOUBTS DISPELLED.

Millionaire Sexton Died From Natural Causes.

Chicago, Oct. 29.—In order to dispel doubts that had arisen regarding the true nature of the illness which caused the death of P. J. Sexton, millionaire contractor on Wednesday, an official has been held at the residence in Michigan avenue.

Active rumors had been floating about during the time subsequent to Mr. Sexton's death, to the effect that arsenical poisoning was indicated in the patient's symptoms and in the appearance of the body after death.

Neither the widow nor the sons, two of whom survive, placed any credence in the rumors, but to set them at rest they arranged for a postmortem examination. The result was made clear the cause of death as deterioration of the spinal cord, attended by neurasthenia and anemia.

The quickness with which the collapse came finally is thought to have given rise to the baseless poison rumor.

Will Be Most Imposing

the World.

FROM THE HERALD
WASHINGTON BUREAU.

Washington, Oct. 29.—(Special to The Herald.)—Nothing in the way of illustration that has yet appeared affords anything like an adequate conception of the impressiveness of the new Washington station, as it is the largest and most important such as has thus far been published in connection with the $14,000,000 Union passenger terminals for which the Baltimore & Ohio company has been awarded the contract. Major Daugherty is a Baltimore & Ohio man, the director of that company's great section at the St. Louis exposition, and which, in the 50,000 square feet of the station, will typify the evolution of the world's great railway.

Central in this large expense—by the way, the greatest revenue in the world is derived from the sale of tickets for the station, in the entire exposition—will stand a monument to the world's great railway. ## EUCLID TO CLOSE. Well Known Superior Hotel to Suspend.

The Euclid hotel at Old Superior, one of the largest and best known hotels at the head of the lakes, is to close tomorrow night.

Arrangements to close the hotel were made some time ago, but prominent business men of Old Superior, fearing the effect that the move would have on their interests, held a conference and agreed to keep the place open until a permanent company could be organized to look after it.

A few days ago a Chicago man looked over the property with a view of purchase, but nothing came of the negotiations. The rumor that a Superior physician would buy the property for a sanitarium has also proven untrue. For some years past the Euclid hotel has been the home of a large number of teachers and unmarried professional men.

No one would ever be bothered with contagious disease here, and the hotel is a quickly Burdock Blood Bitters regulates the stomach and bowels.

WIELAND SHOE CO.

ROMANTIC TINGE

Given to Murder Trial
By Presence of Barnes' Bride.

Sat All Week at Her Husband's Side In Court.

Troy, Mo., Oct. 29.—For romance and sensation, the case of Clarence A. Barnes, the young Republican attorney of Mexico, Mo., who was on trial here charged with killing Rhodes Clay, the Democratic representative of Audrain county, will be remembered as one of the most extraordinary that has attracted the attention of the people of Missouri for a long time. Barnes was acquitted after the jury had been out thirty minutes.

The very evening of the afternoon that Barnes was indicted and charged with killing the brilliant attorney and politician, he was announced to wed Miss Ruth Lakenen, a beautiful and popular young lady of Mexico, a town noted for its society and culture.

As a previous grand jury had failed to find a true bill against Barnes, the public had believed that the killing was probably a closed incident. Perhaps Mr. Barnes and his intended bride also believed this; otherwise the wedding would have been postponed until a later date.

Great preparations had been made for a society event, it being the first wedding to take place at the new Methodist church at Mexico.

After hearing of the indictment, which was almost as great a sensation as the tragedy that had shocked the community several months previously, the public naturally wondered if the bride-to-be would object to carrying out the program.

They were not long in doubt. The little lady did not alter. The carriages began to spin up and down the streets of Mexico, and in a short time a large and most elite audience assembled at the church.

There Miss Lakenen became Mrs. Clarence Barnes, promising to be faithful unto death.

How well she is keeping her word was demonstrated when she walked into the court room here this week and took her seat at the side of the defendant, to cheer and comfort him during the trial.

She was probably the prettiest girl in the court room, a brunette, dark hair, light blue eyes, a very sweet and modest smile. She was dressed in a neat white suit.

She was dressed in a neat white suit, and her presence in the court room was a source of great interest to the spectators.

To claim is one thing, to know is another. Here is the testimony of those who know what Hinkley's Bone Liniment has done:

"I have used your Liniment and it is just fine. I have used many bottles of it. I believe it is the best medicine on earth and I believe it will cure any disease. I never miss an opportunity of recommending it to my friends and neighbors." Mrs. DORA L. LARSON, Claret, Minn.

"I have used Hinkley's Bone Liniment for the last three years for various purposes, both internally and externally and consider my home to be very incomplete without a bottle always at hand." H. HOAG, Capt. Ladder Co. No. 7, Detroit Fire Dept., Detroit, Mich.

"I first became aware of the efficacy of Hinkley's Bone Liniment in '64, when our boys of the Second Michigan Cavalry used it. Since that time I have kept it with me almost constantly; in fact, took it with me at three different times when traveling in the old country. Have used it for nearly every disease it is recommended for and cheerfully testify to its merits." JOSEPH BREMAN, Saginaw, Mich.

Why not buy a bottle of Hinkley's Bone Liniment—the old, reliable, time-tested, time-proved medicine and know its goodness for yourself? The price is but 25c a bottle. You will find it the best investment you ever made. You will get it at the druggists' and be sure to insist on getting the genuine article.

HAPPENINGS IN DAKOTAS

Ramona Business Man Exonerated By Con- fession of Negro.

Sioux Falls—The term of the United States court will in all likelihood adjourn soon. After a jury had been secured in the case of Frank Moore, a negro, who was indicted for the robbery of the post-office at Ramona, the defendant decided to plead guilty to one of the two counts in the indictment. Judge Carlant imposed a fine of $50 and sentenced him to imprisonment for two years. The fact that Moore pleaded guilty exonerates James Crawford, a Ramona business man, who was first arrested.

John Damsch, who was convicted of selling liquor to Indians, was fined $100 and sentenced to a term of one year and one day.

James Beardon, formerly of Lincoln, Neb., who was arrested some weeks ago on the charge of robbing the postoffice at Bullion, near Alexandria, was released, the grand jury having failed to find an indictment.

Leading citizens will hold a meeting next Sunday for the purpose of deciding whether or not Sioux Falls will have another street fair and carnival next summer. The place has been a very successful one.

Herman Loebsch, a farmer of Roberts county, has filed a petition in voluntary bankruptcy in the United States court in this city. He places his liabilities at $180 and assets at $231. The case has been referred to the referees in bankruptcy, Charles N. Harris, of Aberdeen, for attention.

Official notice has been given that a recruiting station for enlistments in the regular army of the United States will be open in Sioux Falls from Nov. 10 to 20. The station will be in the same building as the one in Yankton.

Deadwood—A report has been received from Judge H. E. Dewey, of the county court, relative to the Lawrence county patients at the state asylum in Yankton. Several weeks ago the commissioner requested Judge Dewey to ascertain if all the patients in the hospital charged to this county are legally Lawrence county's charges. In his report he states that Lawrence county will be compelled to pay for the patients now in the hospital and charged to this county.

Judge Frank J. Washburn made an investigation in 1901 and reported that all the patients for which this county was paying were legally entitled to the same, with four exceptions. Judge Dewey stated that the matter had been heard by the state auditor, to whom proofs were furnished, and it had been decided against this county. By the statutes the county had thirty days in which to appeal to the circuit court, but did not avail itself of the right.

Judge Rice has filed a decision in favor of the plaintiff in the case of R. C. Lashley, register of deeds, against Lawrence county. This was a suit brought to compel the commissioner to pay Mr. Lashley at the rate of $150 a year for the months of July, August and September, instead of at the rate of $100 a year.

The judge held that the legislature had no authority to increase or decrease the salary of a county officer during the term for which he had been elected.

Miller—If reports from reliable sources can be trusted, anything then, the estranged lion that last summer made the night attack on Professor Shindley is still prowling about the vicinity of Campbell's gulch.

Alfred Nicodols and Miss Zula Lead-better, young people of that neighborhood, in driving after dusk, saw their team was torn out of the road by the animal, the wagon tipping and considerable damage resulting before the horses could be subdued. It is said, they have a keen dread of lions.

Now comes the report that Frank Chase, and religious on horses, purchased the intruder for several miles and that it was as large as a man. It will be remembered that Mr. Shindley stood as high as a man, when a lion, attacking Chase's statement as to size, as soon as now comes an organized hunt will be made and the lion, if such it is, will be hunted down.

Yankton—Senator Gamble's confidence that the Roosevelt reservation will pass congress this session. He does not regard the fact that three-fourths of the Indians will not sign the treaty as an insurmountable obstacle. He bases his opinion on a ruling of the supreme court in a similar case that the Indians are wards of the government, and as such congress can pass laws to pass of their property as deemed best.

Madison—Lake county has raised a enormous crop of potatoes and many buyers are here from Iowa and Minnesota buying for shipment East. And for their home demands. Carload after carload has already been shipped, and still the market is full of them. From $1 to 40 cents is being paid and it only takes about ten of the average potatoes to make a profit.

Boarding Housekeeper at the Phoenix Mine Is Burned to Death.

Calumet—Death amid flames was the fate of a boarding housekeeper at a boarding house at the Phoenix mine in Keweenaw. Fire broke out in Harjala's room on the second floor, probably from a candle, and spread with great rapidity, so much so that it was only by a narrow margin that the boarding housekeeper and her three children, who slept in a room on the first floor, were able to escape the burning building in safety. The house was a two-story building, and the fire spread from the second floor to the first. The boarding housekeeper, Mrs. Harjala, is believed to have had in her possession a considerable amount of money, and the fire was a great loss to her. The funeral will be held this afternoon under its auspices.

Crystal Falls—L. Harris, a Crystal Falls dry goods merchant, has filed a petition in bankruptcy. Two other business houses at the Falls—M. Savian and N. Warshawsky, dealers in dry goods and clothing—are reported to be in financial difficulties and to have settled with creditors for twenty-five cents on the dollar.

Menominee—Edward Smith, a young man from Chicago who some weeks ago stole a yacht at Menominee and was given a sentence of six days, has gone violently insane at the Menominee county jail, and is now confined in the Menominee county hospital.

Mike Hoffman, of Daguerre, Menominee county, better known as "Michigan Mike," while in the woods one day last week, discovered a wolf which he soon killed, and while in the act of skinning it, another wolf appeared and was also despatched in quick order. Mike says that the second wolf measured nine feet from nose to tip of tail. Hoffman made a neat stake, receiving $15 in bounties and as much for the pelts.

Bessemer—At the Ironton mine a new vein of ore was located after sinking No. 2 shaft less than fifty feet. The mine was practically abandoned some two weeks ago, the crews only being kept for sinking No. 3 and 4 shafts. The new vein is thirty-four feet wide and contains rich ore, and will be again in full blast here another season.

BOY CHAINED TO THE FLOOR

By His Father Because He Would Not Mind.

Marietta, O., Oct. 29.--"I defy the humane society, Chief Dye, or anybody else to touch me or that boy," said Luther Best to a correspondent who had called at his home to investigate a story of alleged cruelty to a child. "Yes, I chained him down, and I'll do worse than that if he don't mind me," Food and drink were carried to him by other members of the family. The case was first brought to the attention of St. D. Follett, member of the state board of charities. He in turn communicated the facts in his possession to the humane society and to the chief of police. The latter went to the house and found the story related by the authorities to be practically true. The story related by Best last night was to the effect that he had tried every means within his power to get the boy either to go to work or to school, or to stay at home. He would not do either. The father learned, however, that there was to be an investigation. He held a council of war with the boy, who agreed to go to work. Employment has been found for him at a local lumber mill.

The boy could not be seen, but the father expressed an opinion that all would be well in the future if no effort is made to put him to any trouble. He furnished a big revolver, and declared that if any attempt is made to arrest him that there will be trouble. Best is a laboring man, and has borne a good reputation. Asked whether or not there would be any arrests in the case, Chief of Police Dye said:

"I don't know."

The latest craze in New York among the very wealthy men is an extravagant style of invitation card. Not long ago the wife of a millionaire ordered 200 of these from a local firm and they cost her just $10 each. The cards were made of ivory, edged with gold, the name of the guest and hostess being lettered in gold on one side, the other being hand printed. Cards at $5 each are quite common.

BOTH HAD WIVES

Yet Neither Father or Son Knew of Other's Marriage.

Made Mutual Confessions and Both Are Much Pleased.

New York, Oct. 29.--"The Strange Case of the Two Standings" is doubtless what the Lambs' club will talk over for the next few days, for a disclosure was made the other day which startled both Herbert Standing and his son, Guy, out of all semblance to anything like calm contemplation of mundane matters. It is not often a father and son who have not seen each other in close to five years meet and introduce their respective wives to each other under assumed names and without mentioning the fact that both have been married.

Since Herbert Standing, who plays Sam Whitburn in "The Best of Friends" at the Academy tomorrow night, has been in this country he has been the guest of his son at the Lambs' club. The other evening they agreed to dine together, with Herbert Standing as the host, and each took a lady.

After the meal, in fact it was the next day, Herbert Standing took occasion to congratulate his son on the excellent taste he displayed in choosing his female companions.

"Glad you like her, dad," observed Guy Standing. "You see she is my wife."

After Herbert Standing had expressed the proper astonishment at this important piece of news, he remarked:

"What did you think of the lady who accompanied me, Guy?"

"Positively charming, dad. If I was not a married man I should think seriously of trying to cut you out."

"I am afraid that would not do, my boy. You see she is your mother."

"Well, you see, it is the same thing, she is your stepmother. I forgot you did not know I had married again four years ago."

Then the pair looked at each other and soon the Lambs' club became aware of the state of affairs. It later developed that while the friends of both actors were well aware that each was married, Herbert did not know his son had become a Benedict, and Guy was unaware of the fact that he had been furnished with a stepmother.

Another surprise is the announcement that Guy Standing is possessed of a daughter, 3 years old, and his father has been blessed with a daughter who has now reached the age of 13 months. Consequently the Herbert Standing baby is the aunt of the Guy Standing baby, who is just 23 months her senior. Herbert Standing was seen last night at the Academy of Music and admitted the story without reserve of any kind. He said:

"I do not know how the matter became known, but it is all true. I know Guy will not like it for a moment, but I cannot deny it is the truth. I cannot explain in just what manner we each overlooked the obvious duty of conveying to the other the news of his marriage, but we did. I suppose we were that careless."

ITALIAN KING'S VISIT
To Paris Cost Him $6000
a Day.

Paris, Oct. 30.--Although King Victor Emmanuel of Italy was the guest of the French nation, he did not find his stay in this capital cheap. He gave $10,000 to the poor of Paris and $6000 to the Italian poor here. This added to the sum he spent for jewelry and wages he gave away as presents at the ministry of foreign affairs, where he was lodged, brings the total to about $25,000, making the visit cost him over $8000 a day. That is more than most Americans pay even with the bill of candles included.

The Paris papers caused amusement by saying that the queen of Italy, who is a Montenegrin princess, gave assistance to a deputation of Montenegrin students, although only one student from Montenegro is registered in France.

This oddity is emphasized by the fact that Montenegro is represented at Paris by two consuls and the Montenegrin colony in the capital numbers four persons.

Queen Helen won the feminine hearts by her natural demeanor. She did much to help the Rue de la Paix, and makes green the most moish color from trimming hats the coming season.

Henry Rochefort has raised a great outcry in the intrinsigant against the arbitrary action against individual liberty taken by the French government to protect the king of Italy during his visit here. His particular and loudest complaint is because Prefect Lepine arrested more than 100 persons alleged to be suspicious characters the day before the king arrived.

Washington, Oct. 29.--(Special to The Herald.)--The importations of coal into the United States during the first nine months of the present calendar year have amounted to 2,657,081 tons, against 1,946,112 tons in the corresponding months of the preceding year, an increase of 1,140,969 tons. The rebate of duty on coal authorized by congress in January, 1903, went into operation January 1st, so that the figures for the nine months of 1903 represent the importation of coal free of duty during practically all of that period compared with the corresponding period of the preceding year, in which the importations of bituminous coal were dutiable. The figures here quoted, as presented by the department of commerce and labor through its bureau of statistics, include both bituminous and anthracite coal, but as the total imports of anthracite in the nine months of 1903 amounted to but 137,248 tons, the chief increase is in bituminous. This increase of 1,140,969 tons is chiefly in coal from the United Kingdom, from which the imports of bituminous coal during the nine months of 1903 amounted to 1,252,284 tons against 1,136,539 tons in the corresponding months of the preceding year, an increase of 115,745 tons. From other countries the imports are of course extremely small, the largest item aside from the United Kingdom and Canada being Japan, from which 50,781 tons were imported in the nine months of 1903 against 8175 in the corresponding months of 1902, and other "Asiatic and Oceanic" 266,635 tons. Thus, nearly all of the increase in the importations of coal in the present year under the rebate duty authorized in January has been from the United Kingdom, while the total increase, as already indicated, amounted to 1,140,969 tons.

Meantime the exportation of coal has increased more than the importation. The total coal exported from the United States in the nine months ending with September, 1903, amounted to 3,314,189 tons against 1,753,239 tons in the corresponding months of last year, an increase of 1,560,950 tons. foreign commerce of the United States in coal, whether of imports or exports, has never reached as much as 2,000,000 tons in a single year, the fiscal year 1903, when they were 2,610,235 tons, or a little more than 1 per cent of the

The relative importance of the imports or exports to the coal production from the mines of the United States is shown by the figures of coal production as reported from year to year by the geological survey, which shows that the total coal production in the last year was 251,900,000 long tons, the quantity being about the same as in 1901, in which year the figures were quoted as 251,825,000 tons. The growth in coal production in the United States is shown by the following table, which shows the number of tons of coal produced in the United States at decennial years from 1859 to 1900, and in 1901 and 1902:

RHEUMATISM

AN INDESCRIBABLE TORTURE

Because Rheumatism sometimes comes on suddenly it doesn't prove that it is a chance disease or one due to accidental causes. It takes time for it to develop, and is at work in the system long before any symptoms are felt. The blood is the first point of attack, and the poisonous acids that cause the aches and pains are then distributed through the circulation to different parts of the system, and settle in joints, muscles and nerves; and when the system is in this condition it needs only some exciting cause like exposure to night air, damp, chilly weather, or the cold, bleak winds of winter, to arouse the slumbering poisons and bring on Rheumatism. The severity of the attack depends upon the amount of acid in the blood and the quantity of acrid matter in the joints and muscles. Some people are almost helpless from the first, while others have occasional spells or are uncomfortable, restless, nervous and half sick all the time from the nagging aches and pains. Rheumatism is a disagreeable companion even in its mildest form. It grows worse as we grow older, and frequently stiffens the joints, draws the muscles out of shape and breaks down the nervous system. A disease that originates in the blood, as Rheumatism does, cannot be cured with external remedies like liniments and plasters; such things scatter the pains or drive them to some other part of the body, but do not touch the disease or improve the condition of the blood. The thin acid blood must be restored to its normal purity and strength, so that all poisonous substances may be carried out of the system, and no medicine accomplishes this in so short a time as S. S. S., which not only neutralizes the acids and counteracts the poisons, but builds up the general health at the same time.

Write for our special book on Rheumatism, and should you desire any special information or advice, our physicians will furnish it without charge.

How Women Act While Consulting a Male Physician.

Mrs. Pinkham, in Lynn, Mass.,

Nowhere except at Lydia E. Pinkham's laboratory in Lynn is there such an amount of information at hand to assist in the treatment of all kinds of female ills, from the simplest local irritation, to the most complicated diseases of the womb. The records of all the many hundreds of thousands of cases as to which advice has been asked are there kept on file by Mrs. Pinkham, and from this vast experience she is able to do more than the family physician for ailing women. Any woman, therefore, is responsible for her own suffering who will not take the trouble to write to Mrs. Pinkham for advice. The testimonials which we are constantly publishing from grateful women establish beyond a doubt the power of LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND to conquer female diseases.

International Sunday School Lesson For November 1, 1903.

Golden Text: "Honor thy father and thy mother, that thy days may be long upon the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee." Exodus 20:12

"Be sure your sin will find you out."
One does not have to wait for entrance into the next life to realize the effects of the evil he has set going here. Many a sinner has learned this lesson by the time he has reached the portals of the next world. In his domestic affairs David followed the sinful customs of the princes of the earth. He was not content with dishonoring with the charms of women led him to commit murder through an illicit affair. This led to the death of Bath-sheba's first born son. He was also the father of the son of the prophet Nathan, and all the deep consciousness of sin that is suggested by the words of the prophet.

David's haron life must have added many unchronicled vexation plots to the illustrations that his words relate.

The possession of a multiplicity of crime. Joab noted David's suppressed desire for Absalom and devised a plan to kill him. He obtained the king's permission to recall the wayward youth. But when Absalom refused to go to his own house, and declined to see him. This put Absalom in a position to take revenge. For many years this state of things continued much to Absalom's disgust. He was not content with this, but he would no wonder that he prayed to be king if he was deemed worthy of it, rather than to remain in his present position. There he was in the company of every one knew him to be a prince, and yet he was not permitted to rise from all privileges of intercourse with the court, from all occasions of public appearance, and from all the recognized son of the king.

One wonders that, when David at last perceived that Absalom was a prince, he did not administer some punishment and bestow a formal pardon. He had no doubt that Absalom was the son as if he had just returned from a journey. Perhaps, however, this Joab noted David's suppressed desire for Absalom and devised a plan to bring him back. He asked the king's permission to recall the wayward youth. But when Absalom learned of this, he decided to go to his own house, and decided to see him. "Thus put Absalom in his heart to come to David," says the Bible. "For seven years this state of things continued until Absalom's disgust," he wrote. "He was not content with the thought that he had been wronged, nor wonder that he prayed to be killed. He was not satisfied with the fact that he was deemed worthy of it, rank and position. There he was in the center of every eye knew him to be a prince, and he was not content with that. He was not satisfied with the fact that he was free from all privileges of intercourse with the king, and he was not content with that. He was not satisfied with the fact that he was not recognized from all occasions of honor, and he was not content with that. He was not satisfied with the fact that he was not recognized son of the king."

One wonders that, when David at last learned of Absalom's rebellion, he did not administer some punishment and bestow a formal pardon on him. He might have said to his son as if he had just returned from a journey. Perhaps, however, this

David was probably greatly shocked at Absalom's statement that during his absence in Geshur he had destroyed the king's army. Absalom had made such a pious vow unto the Lord.

At the very time David was blessing his treacherous son, that son's spies were murdering his faithful servants. He was already as disaffected or dissatisfied people to his standard against his father. He was already as disaffected to his father as Israel in Hebron. These spies instructed the people to proclaim Absalom King. Absalom's infamy did not stop with these acts. He trapped two hundred of his men, and he was the cause of the disloyalty, if not going with him to Hebron, and thus put them in a most embarrassing position. He was the cause of David winning to his side Ahithophel, David's most valued counselor, whose counsel was the cause of David's loss of time, since seemed to perch on Absalom's banners. His evil plans attained their end. He was the cause of David, in a night of sin and in a dismal day of defeat they were disrowned.

LaPorte, Oct. 20, that a family of wild dogs, almost as gaunt as wolves and as vicious as coyotes, have been discovered in the territory between Lopez, in this county, and the town of LaPorte. One of the wild curs was captured the other day by Draper Bowman, after he had been a catamount.

Bowman shot the animal while it was growling and snarling away. The dog had been at work on a carlion boy. It had wandered wild into the woods and had been killed by a trap. The animal was sickened or died.

The captured dog is a coal black, about the size of an ordinary shepherd, and taking on some of the characteristics of a wolf. But the jaws are of the long wolf-like kind, and the teeth are sharp and pointed. The animal would sort that indicates a life of untameness. It is a very active animal, as though in excellent trim for running.

Mr. Bowman says that the dogs that range about the country are gradually taking on the characteristics of the wolf.

Reports of wild dogs in the territory between LaPorte and Lopez have been made by woodsmen and others for several years. But they were but stray creatures that had drifted into the woods for food. But on two occasions last spring parties of hunters were out in the woods and deep in the forest. One of the persons in the party was Draper Bowman, and for a while it was feared that in some way these much-hated creatures had become tame.

Several times trout fishermen camping in the woods were disturbed by the barking of dogs in the distance, although a pack of dogs was not seen. On one of the occasions a party of campers, during a day's absence along the river, were surprised to find the camp of a half dozen dogs were seen in the "Look here, young man," said the impatient groom, "I have been waiting twenty minutes to go down and you have been passing without stopping. What do you mean by such fooling?" I can expect an important ceremony."

When the senator reached the parlor the bride and groom were sending the former United States Senator Norwood in search of her missing flower. Immediately after the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Stewart repaired to the dining room. They studied the menu card for a moment and then ordered a broiled beef bacon, rolls, celery, coffee and a bottle of wine.

After the wedding couples don't need much food," Senator Stewart said to the waiter, who seemed amazed at the order.

Owensboro, Ky., Oct. 30.—Living in the flats of Panther creek and with the winters of 90 years on her head, Mrs. Nancy Short has received a message from England to the effect that she is the beneficiary of a fortune of $1,000,000 in land and real estate amounting to over $1,000,000.

Her grandfather, William Steele died many years ago, and willed his vast estate and money in bank to his only son, John Steele. When the father, she had come to America. When the grandfather died efforts to locate the son failed and the estate was improved futile until a few weeks ago when Mrs. Short wrote to one of her

PIANO CLUB is POPULAR

We give you more piano for your money than any other house in the Northwest.

Terms: $10 down $1.50 per week.

Eight homes already made happy. The Piano Club is rapidly filling its membership and it will only take a little longer to complete the number. Wednesday morning, when we opened the store for business we found the first member of the club on hand, and before noon his piano was in his home. Last night at 6 o'clock there were eight members of the club and twenty-seven pianos left. The probabilities are that the full thirty-five members will have joined by the last of next week. You can't afford to wait—come in and select your piano while the stock is complete. Our plan is co-operative piano buying. By clubbing together fine pianos can be obtained at a much lower price than it would be possible to get in individual buying. The inducement for the seller is the sale of thirty-five pianos at practically one time. Thus, our piano club, which gives you an opportunity of getting a fine, high-class piano of most reliable make at a saving of $75.00, the only condition of membership is the fee of $10.00 at the beginning and then $1.50 per week payments, or 25 cents a day (not including Sunday), until the instrument is paid for. Pianos delivered to your home same day you join the club. You have your choice of four pianos, also color of woods—mahogany, walnut or an oak case. Instrument full warranted ten years.

FIGURES LARGE

Building Permits Issued In October Will Reach Large Amount.

Eight of Them Aggregate $328,785—Will Hereafter Decrease.

October has been the best month of the year so far as the aggregate cost of authorized building operations is concerned. The total is not made up yet but eight permits alone aggregate more than $328,785. So far as actual building during the month is concerned, there has not been a very great increase, but the total cost of buildings for which permits were granted was swelled materially by the Zenith Furnace company's taking out a permit to construct coke ovens and other structures at a cost of $250,000.

From now on there will be comparatively little new building done, and the business in the building inspectors' office will fall off. Inspector Robinson said today that there was nothing important in sight so far. Forty-eight permits have been issued to date and Mr. Robinson has collected about $99 in fees.

The Zenith Furnace company leads the list for October with a permit to construct buildings costing $250,000. Some of the others are: The Children's Home society for a new building, $25,000; Christian Scientists, flat building, $15,000; John Panton, residence and barn, $25,000; Al. N. McMahon, residence, $800; Lundmark & Franson, $700; Dr. N. McNulty, residence, $250; and P. Spelman, $500.

Time For Meditation.
Thomas Flynn will have ten days in which to meditate on the evil of his ways and to debate the question whether seven years of hard work follows on the breaking of a mirror.

Flynn went into Charles Carlson's saloon at 31 West Superior street about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon with a comrade and a friend. He got into a dispute and in his anger he hurled his whiskey glass against a mirror that is said to have cost $12. The mirror was broken, and so was the glass.

Flynn was arrested by Patrolman Webster and brought before Judge Vinland in the city court. Judge Vinland fined him $25 for the broken mirror and $25 for the broken glass. Flynn had paid Carlson $20, all the money he had, and he had to choose the alternative and go to the county jail for ten days.

OFFICIAL REPORTS.
Work of Meat and Plumbing Inspectors In October.

The board of health will hold its regular monthly meeting in the council chamber at 10 o'clock Monday morning, when monthly reports and other routine matters will be considered.

The report of William Langlow, meat and milk inspector, for October shows that he has examined 30 pounds of chickens, 120 pounds of veal, 200 pounds of corned beef, 80 pounds of fresh beef, 100 pounds of vegetables, 40 pounds of fruit. Two horses were killed for glanders, one on complaint.

According to the October report of Charles Rigden, plumbing inspector, thirty-six permits have been issued and fees amounting to $200 have been paid. He made twenty-nine inspections where persons were asked for plumbing permits during the month. During October the health department has received sixty-three complaints and has attended to the same number, while 14 nuisances have been abated.

CONSUL'S BODY LYING IN STATE
Remains of Mrs. Booth-Tucker Viewed By Thousands.

Chicago, Oct. 30.—Tribute to the memory of Mrs. Emma Booth-Tucker, the Salvation Army leader, was paid by thousands of her friends in Chicago today. At 11 o'clock the body was taken to Princess rink, and will lie in state until 7 o'clock tonight. An hour later memorial services will be held.

Before a canvass hearing in large letters the words "Faithful unto death." In Princess rink, the body rested while multitudes of Salvation Army followers and friends silently passed by the coffin.

After a sleepless night, spent in prayer and lamentations in company with the Chicago Salvation Army, the body of Mrs. Booth-Tucker was early led from his room in the rink to look upon the face of his dead wife. Several hundred people who had already gained admittance were asked to leave, and in solitude the corpse lay for several minutes beside the coffin.

He was led away again and doors admitting the public were thrown open. The visitors passed in single file, approaching the casket on one side of the hall and returning on the other. The coffin guarded by two Salvation Army cadets, stood before the same platform where Mrs. Booth-Tucker once spoke at a meeting conducted by her father, General William Booth. On the casket lay Mrs. Booth-Tucker's bible, which had been given her by her mother just before the latter's death fifteen years ago.

RELIEF TRAIN
Arrives With the Santa Fe Road Injured.

Junta, Oct. 30.—The relief train sent from here to bring in the injured has arrived and the seriously hurt have been taken to the hospital. Engineer John Walker is probably the most seriously injured. Several passengers were more or less bruised but none received serious injuries.

The cause of the wreck is not known. The accident occurred a few rods west of the Alameda falls, which is spanned by the bridge. Had the wreck occurred on the bridge, the loss of life would have been enormous.

MAYVILLE WAS A MYSTERY

Alleged Dead Highwayman.

NORTH DAKOTA.

Mayville—Mayville has been trying to solve a mystery as deep as that of the screaming of Billy Patterson, or that of the missing horses to mention a few. It was the crime of the dead man? James Warren, 7 years old, says that four masked men came from the west and were waiting to the junction above this city. They were in broad daylight, and the place was so close to a mile and a half from town that he heard them to remark that they were opening fire, sending several bullets through his lungs; top one of which killed him. He saw the East-bound train returned their fire, and declares that he saw the motive on the young man's face and that another cried out with pain, as he was hit. Warren himself was unharmed. News was sent in to town late to do anything of the kind, and after a day several men came down to see, but could find no tracks man enough. It is said there were dead men being flowing toward the East. The thing is one of skepticism about the affair, but absence of motive on the young man's part for concealing such a story convinces his friends.

The case of Wilmore vs. Graudin, in which Harry Wilmore sued J. L. Graudin, Jr., for $200 for injuries received in a harvester runaway on the latter's farm, was tried in the United States circuit court at Fargo and a verdict returned in favor of Mr. Graudin. Mr. Wilmore alleged that injuries that crippled him. He based his case on the theory he can find, his experience showing him that Dakota people are very busy and great rare jewels and gems, without regard to price. Mr. Bartley has given a vast deal of study and energy to the collecting of rare and odd coins, and expects to be able to give the people of this community an opportunity to select things here that they would not find ordinarily in large city stores.

SOUTH DAKOTA

Spearfish—W. J. McLaughlin & Sons who are preparing to build a narrow gauge railroad from a point on the Spearfish branch of the Burlington near Spearfish to Mr. McLaughlin's works near Little Pierre Canyon, have been purchasing a large stock of the Burlington locomotives they have one of the locomotives that has used several years on the Black Hills. The new gauge railroad out of the old one road will be between ten and twelve miles long and is intended to connect ultimately as far as Grand Canyon.

Rapid City—An appeal is to be taken to the supreme court in the divorce case of Fred G. Gilbert against Mrs. Nellie J. Gilbert, in which a decree was issued last week by Judge McGee in favor of the plaintiff. Judge McGee allowed the defendant $250.00 for her health and attorney's fees. It is asserted by Mrs. Gilbert that the divorce was not sustained by the statutes or the supreme court, that if Mrs. Gilbert was entitled to a divorce, she should have been granted it by the supreme court.

NEXT WEEK'S ELECTIONS.

The results of this year's elections are being awaited with much interest by the politicians, because they will in a measure be an indication of the trend of public sentiment and shed light on the presidential campaign next year. There will be elections in eleven states next Tuesday. Full state tickets will be elected in Iowa, Kentucky, Massachusetts, Maryland, Mississippi, Ohio and Rhode Island. In Colorado, Nebraska, New York and Pennsylvania, minor state officers are to be elected. In Ohio the state contest has attracted attention by reason of the campaign of Tom L. Johnson, the Democratic candidate for governor, against Myron T. Herrick, the Republican candidate, a Cleveland banker, and also because the legislature to be chosen will elect a successor to United States Senator Hanna. In Maryland the contest has assumed national interest by reason of Senator Gorman's prominence in the campaign and possible candidacy for the Democratic presidential nomination. The Republican candidate for governor is Stevenson A. Williams and the Democratic candidate, Edwin Warfield. The Iowa contest at one time seemed likely to take on wide significance on account of Governor Cummins' well-known views regarding tariff reform, but the Republican leaders seem to have got together temporarily, at least, and his re-election is not in doubt, although it is claimed the normal Republican majority will be considerably reduced.

In Rhode Island, Governor Garvin, Democrat, is a candidate for re-election. The Republican candidate is Samuel P. Colt. In Massachusetts the present Republican state officers, with Governor Bates at their head, are renominated. Gaston, the Democratic nominee for governor, was defeated last year, but there are signs that he will poll a much larger vote this year and that, in view of Republican apathy, he may defeat Governor Bates. Massachusetts is usually a Republican stronghold, but several Democratic governors have been elected, and Col. Gaston's prospects are said to be good.

Pennsylvania will elect two justices of the supreme court, treasurer and auditor general. Nebraska and Colorado elect a justice of the supreme court, and regents of the state university. Kentucky and Mississippi may be counted on to elect full Democratic state tickets.

In the country at large, however, greater interest is being taken in the municipal contest in New York city than in the state elections. Tammany is making a strong fight to regain control of the city government, and the fusion ticket, headed by Mayor Low, is making a strenuous campaign to retain its power. What the outcome will be it is difficult to say in advance, but the most reliable reports indicate that Tammany has a shade the best of the contest, though Low is still the favorite in the betting.

TEACHERS FOR PHILIPPINES.

The civil service commission has discovered that it is not so easy to secure teachers for the Philippines as was anticipated. The number applying for examination this month is not sufficient to fill the vacancies, even if all should pass, and it is certain that some will be rejected. Another examination will be held on Nov. 27, and it is hoped that a sufficient number will be obtained at that time. At present, only men between 20 and 40 years of age are wanted. It proved a venturesome experiment to take women out to the Philippines as teachers, although some of them have been remarkably successful. The task of finding places where they could live in suitable conditions, was such that the bureau of education will for the present call for no more.

The great trouble with the first assignment of teachers who went out there was their inclination to abandon their positions after too short an experience. It is hoped now that with a better understanding of conditions and responsibilities on the part of applicants there will be fewer desertions from the ranks. The records, as tabulated in the war department, of the teachers who separated themselves from the service before they had been in the islands long furnishes some interesting reading, even though a somewhat pathetic story. "Ill health" is assigned as a cause for resignation with monotonous regularity.

The salaries paid to teachers in the Philippines, while they may seem small in the more thickly settled parts of the United States where teaching is a profession is viewed with something of its deserved importance, are much larger than generally prevail throughout the United States. The intention has been to make them about double the American home salary for corresponding work. One-sixth of those now appointed will get $1200 a year, one half of them $1000 and the remaining third $900. The assignments of the successful applicants will depend upon the degree of experience and the standing in the examination. They will all be eligible to promotions after they get there to positions carrying salaries as large as $2500 a year, which is the compensation of division superintendents.

The government has been tricked somewhat by teachers in the matter of traveling expenses. People have become pedagogues for the sake of being moved 10,000 miles at somebody's else expense. A plan has been devised for making the applicant pay his way out, to be reimbursed at the end of two years of satisfactory service. This might require too much capital for some applicants, and so a loan system has been adopted. The government will, if necessary, advance the candidate his traveling expenses, deducting to per cent thereof from each month's salary, until it is paid, the whole amount to be returned regularly at the end of two years. That is the period for which applicants are supposed to accept their positions. Half salary begins with the date of embarkation and full salary on the date of arrival in the islands.

While teaching in the Philippines may allure some, the majority of people will prefer to remain in the United States even at a smaller salary. There is likely to be more trouble in securing a full quota of pedagogues.

CANADIAN INDEPENDENCE.

An editorial article which appeared in the Halifax Chronicle a few days ago, stating that there are now only two courses open to Canada—complete legislative independence within the empire, acknowledging the sovereignty of the king of England alone, or the status of an independent nation—is very significant, because the chief owner of the Chronicle—the leading Liberal organ in Nova Scotia—is Hon. William S. Fielding, minister of finance in the Laurier cabinet. Taken in connection with Sir Wilfrid Laurier's declaration in parliament that Canada must be granted the treaty-making power, it is doubly significant of the state of feeling in Canada at the present time and the probable policy that will be pursued by the Liberal government.

It is evident that the movement for independence is rapidly spreading in Canada, and it would not be surprising to see the connection with the British throne severed at an early date. The Canadians, having declared their independence, will soon see the advantages of annexation to the United States.

CHURCH ADVERTISING.

There is no good reason apparent to the ordinary observer why the church should not advertise, and there are many reasons why it should. That this is beginning to be realized is evident from the various movements in direction. One of Milwaukee's most prominent clergymen, Rev. Judson Tittsworth, D.D., pastor of Plymouth church, in a recent interview reported in the Milwaukee Sentinel, "advocates the maintenance of a bureau of publicity in every church, but he does not recommend sensational advertising. The basis of his theory is that the church should be conducted as a business enterprise. When there are applied to the churches the same principles that insure success in other lines of activity the churches will become prosperous. Conducted as charitable enterprises, their growth will be uncertain. This age is not more thoughtless or more irreligious than any other. It is merely more full of diverse activities and interests. Men and women are so much preoccupied by their vocations and avocations that they forget their religious obligations unless reminded in some insistent manner." Touching on this same subject of "churchly matter in the secular press" the Rev. Albert L. Sawyer of Trinity church, Haverhill, Mass., writes of his own experience to the Living Church.

"In Saturday's paper," he says, "I give a brief epitome of what is the collect, epistle, and gospel teaching for the Sunday. Then follows an announcement of the services for the day, and after that, any notes on work of guilds, entertainments, etc. In Monday's paper I publish a church calendar for the week, adding thereto anything of note about the Sunday services, etc. I also add notes about the proper colors and about the teaching of the holy days. Of course in Lent, and in fact whenever there is a special occasion, we furnish an account for the press. The advantages in brief of this scheme are these: It keeps the Episcopal church before the people. They can't get away from it. It furnishes instruction for our own people and for those outside the church, who read the notes and learn something. It helps the pastor in his work. It advertises whatever is going on in the church. It is the same scheme applied to parochial affairs that is so well exemplified by our mission board and by every business."

Auxiliaries of the church like the Y. M. C. A. advertise more or less extensively and it brings results, that alone being sufficient to show the effectiveness of publicity.

FEW BONDS HELD ABROAD.

The interesting statement is made in the annual report of the register of the treasury that only about $4,000,000 of United States bonds are in the hands of foreigners. The amount held by foreign banks and investors exceeds this, but all except the sum stated is deposited in this country. It appears from the register's report that the largest foreign holders of our bonds reside in Cuba, where more than one-half of the individual owners live. France and England come second and third, respectively, in the list of foreign individual owners of our national bonds, each country reporting about $300,000. German investors hold only $14,000 worth of our securities.

The register of the treasury, referring to the fact that practically the entire outstanding indebtedness of the United States government, aggregating about $50,000,000, is held in this country, says that it is a remarkable instance of the patriotic faith of the American people in the financial stability of the government. Indeed, it would be astonishing if there was not such faith exhibited. No other country surpasses the United States in the extent of its resources, while the rapid development of national wealth during the past forty years has enabled this nation to attain a higher standard of credit than is enjoyed by any other country. Some national securities pay a higher interest rate than those of the United States, but none are safer. While of late British consols have been selling at a lower rate than for many years past, United States bonds have been held at high figures, showing the faith that is reposed in the strength and stability of our government.

The two professors who recently stated that football is "an almost invaluable aid to religion" should now try to reconcile that claim with the report that the betting on the Minnesota-Michigan game is expected to reach $100,000.

If You Do Not Know, You Ought to Know:

That in Maine there are sixteen spool factories that cut up enough white birch trees in that state to make 300,000,000 spools a year, about which are ultimately wound 50,000,000,000 yards of thread.

That New York has had fifty-five United States senators in 110 years.

That Australia has more churches per capita, so to speak, than any other country; and yet her prayers fail to turn away drought and such. She has 210 churches to every 100,000 people, England has 144, and Russia but 55.

That 200,000 tons of unconsumed fuel are discharged into the atmosphere of London every day. Chicago does about half as well as that; no wonder laundries thrive there.

That one-half the world's production of coffee comes to the United States. We pay over $1,000,000 a week for our coffee and send the money out of the country. Germany and France together only consumed half as much as we did last year. We consume over 800,000,000, or about 10½ pounds apiece, every year and wonder that we have nerves. Most of this coffee comes from South and Central America, some from Porto Rico, the Philippines and Hawaii, but mighty little from Mocha or Java, your grocer to the contrary notwithstanding.

That the United Kingdom has increased its export trade but 7½ per cent since 1872. Its population has increased 30 per cent in the same time. It exported to the United States and Germany, $580,000,000 worth of goods in 1872, and only $365,000,000 in 1902.

That in India nearly 25,000 people die every year as a result of snake bites. What's the matter with our whisky salesmen?

That it is figured out by some wisecracker that the average traveling man, preacher or teacher takes 12,000 words a day. You and I utter about 600 apiece; some of our feminine acquaintances have been known to get rid of as many as 27,000 in a day.

That some statistical fiend has figured that there are 600,000 Smiths in the United States. Three hundred are employed by the United States government, and 19 Smiths die every day. In New York alone there are 126,000. Including the Smythes, the Schmidts, Smids, and other variations the family is roughly estimated to comprise 1,000,000 in this country.

That there are in round numbers 3,500,000 telephones in use in the United States. Their use has increased ten fold in the past six years. There are nearly 250,000 telephones in farm houses.

That there are 22,400 publishing houses in the United States with a working capital of $314,000,000. The census figures show us that in 1900 the value of the product of the industry was $347,055,000, to produce which involved an outlay of $36,000,000 in salaries for officers, $85,000,000 for wages, $56,000,000 for rents, taxes, etc., and $87,000,000 for materials, supplies and freight; 1,200,000,000 pounds of paper were used last year and 80 per cent of that went to the newspapers.

That London's social condition is distressing. Inside the so-called Outer Belt it has a pauper population of 107,600 souls and this figure does not include vagrants or the insane poor. Twenty-one per cent of the entire population over 65 years of age, exclusive again of vagrants or insane, are paupers.

That Uncle Sam has gone into the propagating business to the extent of hatching and distributing nearly 1,200,000,000 fish a year.

That according to an English authority, we eat more than any other people. It takes 29 pence a day per capita to feed us; the Briton grows fat on 28 pence, the German on 21 pence, (but then there's his beer), a Frenchman on 19 pence and an Italian but 9. The same authority tells us that we eat and produce in proportion to our eating. Our annual exports are about in the same proportion. But we are not as sweetly inclined as our British cousins; they eat 70 pounds of sugar a year and we but 67 per head.

That we export over $20,000,000 worth of coal a year and even so far as to Egypt. And the joke of the thing is that they pay but a trifle more for it in Egypt than they do in New York.

That France produces about 34,000,000 tons of coal a year and has to buy 15,000,000 more.

That the railroads use up 40 per cent of our steel output, in rails, rolling stock, bridges, etc. Structural steel comes next on the list, then the electric railways, machinery, agricultural implements, utensils and the jobbing foundries use the rest.

That lumber has increased in value 100 per cent in the past fifteen years, while clay products have been greatly cheapened. A man might just as well as not build his store, apartment house, church or residence fireproof. The first investment will not be more than 9 per cent increase above what it would cost him to build in the cheapest and most fire-trappy manner. That, what with increased conveniences and the higher price of labor, our buildings cost us 13 per cent more than they averaged twenty years ago.

That we paid $7,200,000 for Alaska—including its new boundary line—and have taken $500,000,000 worth of gold out of it since gold was discovered; its fish have netted us $68,000,000 and its fur trade has totalled up nearly $40,000,000; not a bad bargain, and no wonder the Canadians are sore.

That we manufacture every year a greater total product than England, France and Germany combined.

HOTEL GOSSIP

President William F. Fitch, of the South Shore road, who came over from Marquette Thursday night in his private car, and who is a guest at the Spaulding, suffered a great loss en route to Duluth. He spent the day yesterday in receiving the condolences of his friends in this city, who have grown to look upon Mr. Fitch as at least a half-citizen of Duluth on account of his frequent visits here. Had the great loss sustained by President Fitch been suffered by some other railroad president there would now be two of them vacated in the operating department of such roads as the sufferer might head.

Several years ago President Fitch entertained in his private car en route from Duluth to the Soo, General Nipya Kito, of the Japanese army, and a cousin of his.

Upon the general's return home he sent Mr. Fitch an exact duplicate of the famous Japanese vase which was exhibited at the Chicago world's fair by the Japanese government. Although the name of the article appeared as "vase" in the catalogue, it was in reality a "vase" as it was involved at over $100.

As Mr. Fitch spent a great deal of time on board his private car and as the giver of the "vase" had been retained there, the president of the South Shore road had no more appropriate place for the handsome porcelain ornament than on the center table in the car.

Mr. Fitch hoped that it would remain a part of the train's equipment, but when the train was broken up at Marquette and before retiring for the night he found the vase had been "vase" on the part of the trainmen as the president of the road was asleep and would never know the difference whether it took them two or twenty minutes to switch the train.

The crew that did the switching must have visited the president's resting place on one elbow and as he was looking out of the window for their switching as if the road was in danger of losing a government mail contract.

The president's car was left on the main line at the balance of the train was switched. It then backed onto the branch and after picking up the Calumet and Houghton cars, proceeded to couple the train up preparatory to the trip to Duluth.

Whether it was the engineer, fireman or switchman that was thinking of a possible raise in wages is not known, but something of the kind was taking place as the train was being switched, when the president's car was standing.

Just as he was dreaming of what a pleasure it is to visit Duluth, President Fitch was bounced from his bed by a shock that limited of carbolescence, and which was followed by a loud crash.

Mr. Fitch, who was in the electric light switch he received a slight cut on the foot from one of the 44-32-pieces of the "vase."

What Mr. Fitch said or thought is not recorded on the log of the special train. It leaked out, however, that he did not return to his bunk during the night and that he asked the conductor whether there were any blank time checks on the train.

Upon his arrival in Duluth Mr. Fitch in speaking of the "vase" said: "I have traveled from Texas to Maine and from the Lake of the Woods to the Gulf in my car. I have traveled over track that felt like a corduroy road, but never in all my travels did I receive such a scratch until I returned to my own road. It is too much to suffer all at one time."

For persons who have traveled during recent years in the Middle Western States did not know Ed Conroy.

Ed has been connected with several of the best hotels of the West during his career and knows in a minute what a new traveling man is sent out by any of the old houses.

Ed also enjoys the reputation of always handing out the right headline to the news as they emerge from the dining-room at the Spaulding hotel.

Now he is in addition to being an ornament at the Spaulding, is one of those in the vicinity of 29 who has been all the time desired. First the boys in the vicinity stole lilacs from the bushes in front of the property, then they stole a horse and succeeded in getting away with a $500 "vase" from the sidewalk.

After numerous other depredateions Ed was afraid that they would come some day and steal the paint off the house and steal that, so he purchased a dog. It was not a blooded canine, but one which came of street-fighting stock. He was a stout, round fellow, but he was taught to tackle anything that came his way. Ed thought his property was safe.

He made a miscalculation. A few days ago he returned home. The dog was gone. Inquiry developed the fact that the same thieves who were suspected of having stolen lilacs and other valuables had also stolen the dog. Edward is now looking for the dog and until he finds him or gets a new one, he will have his premises watched by private policemen.

"There a jeweler in Duluth," said the man about town as he sat in the Spaulding lobby, "that just the last week has lost money every day on the job."

This man seems like a queer statement, but when I tell you the facts you will see. This man seems like a queer statement, but when I tell you the facts you will see. This man seems like a queer statement, but when I tell you the facts you will see.

The clocks here had all been taken to pieces the man and his employer had a dispute regarding them, and the man who would cut when he finished repairing the clocks upon which he was working. He did so in a couple of days and was paid off.

The clocks were delivered and the workman left the city. A few days ago the clocks began to come back. Not one of the delivered had run for more than a day or two.

The jeweler spent some time inspecting the timepieces before he discovered that the workman had put a quantity of mullage in the oil with which he oiled the clocks. The clocks are still coming in and there is no telling how many more are out.

The hotels last night were filled with persons enroute from the surrounding country to the Minnesota-Michigan football game, all of which goes to show that the reports of line players and referees are probably not exaggerated. Most of the travelers were Minnesota supporters and they carried with them wads of money which they were willing to place on their favorite if odds were given. The Michigan men at the local hotels were not giving any odds.

DOMESTIC PLEASANTIES.

Chicago Tribune: "You want to marry my daughter, do you? Well, I'm free to say you're the most impudent upstart that ever."

"Yes, you're free to say it, because you're her dad. If you wasn't I'd knock your old head off'n you!"

Philadelphia Press: "And before I accepted him," said Miss Passay, "I asked him if he would love me when I was old. 'Why, if he proposed to you he had already proved that, hadn't he?'"

Cleveland Plain Dealer: "Jane Passay astonished me today by claiming she had a new idea." "Because she has had but one idea for the last twenty years—to get a husband."

New York Weekly: "Mr. Timmild—How would a girl feel if she received a proposal from her dad?" "Friend—If she didn't care for you, she'd feel insulted."

Mr. Timmild—Um—well—er—suppose she did care for me?" "Friend—She'd say 'yes' by telegraph."

New York Times: Judge—Did you strike your wife?" "Prisoner—No, sir."

Judge—Did you approach her and address her in such a manner as to cause this stroke of insanity?" "Yes, sir."

Judge—What did you say to her?" "Prisoner—I told her I loved her."

TO A YOUTH.

O, here's to the boy with the freckled nose
And the tan upon his face;
We'll drink to him in a cup of love—
To his boyish, winsome grace.

What are those woe, round, brownish spots
That in sweet profusion cluster?
That is the tan that we call a wash,
With all the skill we muster?

The spots are the scars from an angel's kiss,
Which she fondly pressed upon him;
The tan is a mixture of sun and bliss
From Heaven sent to adorn him.

Then here's to the boy with freckled nose,
And the tan upon his face;
We'll drink to him in a cup of love—
To his boyish, winsome grace.

To his boyish, winsome grace.
To his boyish, winsome grace.
To his boyish, winsome grace.

A man's idea of heaven is a place where there is no house-keeping, and a boy's where there are no bath tubs.

The man who writes distance-page letters before he is married thinks a ten-word telegram is very long afterward.

It's funny how a man will blow up his wife because the telephone won't work. When he doesn't dare ask the cook for hot water to shave.

The Only Time.

Boston Herald: The most patriotic incident related in Mr. Morley's biography of Gladstone relates to the occasion when Queen Victoria shook hands with the grand old man for the first, last and only time in the period of more than fifty years during which Gladstone had been her majesty's faithful and devoted servant.

It was almost the end of both their lives. The queen was at Chiswick, Gladstone was at Cannes, invited to take tea with the Princess Louise, Mr. and Mrs. Gladstone repaired to the hotel and were summoned to the presence of her majesty. "She gave me her hand," Gladstone wrote, "a thing which never happens with me during all my life, though that life, be it remembered, had included some periods of rather decided favor."

The gracious act might now at last be

After Three Days of the Worst Mix-Up In Baseball.

Western League Given Standing With American Association.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 31.—After three days of the worst mix-up known in baseball for years, peace has been declared among the minor leagues. The American association and Eastern league put in writing the conditions under which they would return to meeting, the principal points being the right to take a sum in a class below them for the sum of $2500 with the club's assets paid for, the same as the National and American leagues pay for the same rights for the Class "A"

While agreeing to stand for the present national board of five members, without increasing the number to seven, they insisted that Class 'A' should have three members out of five next year. Several requests for slight changes in the National agreement were made and all were granted unanimously, and to make it much easier for the meeting to agree to the Western league was considered as a party with the Eastern league and American association. The demands of the Eastern and association were much moored from the first list of grievances, until the loyal members of the association were taken by surprise, but soon took advantage of the opportunity to agree to all demands and notify the Class A leagues that all was ready for the presence of the old stuffed dove of peace. Judge Kavanaugh, of Little Rock, acted as peace-maker, and once more won the

The Western league was given a standing with the American association and the Eastern league, while the Southern league was forced to be content with a position in Class B. The association ratified the work done at Cincinnati. The salary question was discussed, the Class A league deciding to stand for a $2400 limit per month, a big cut in last season's prices. The other classes will fix that matter later.

Early in the day Mr. Griffin, of Jersey City, gave out that he would appear at the meeting with an ultimatum. He was informed that no ultimatum would be allowed, so he decided to work out the matter in committee and then present it in the form of a request. The American association and Eastern league tried to get the Western league to join them in withdrawing from the association if their request down the proposition. Cool-headed Ed Hanlon into line, while Mr. Brice, of Columbus, did fine missionary work with the American association.

Even George Tebeau the iron man of minor league managers, looked cooled down and sensible after the trouble was patched up. Watkins, of Indianapolis, one of the special leaders in the revolt, came back in good earnest, declaring that he did not propose to have them. Brush leagues legislate for him. The Brush league in Class "D" were from Texas and the far West, and were ably represented. The most energetic body at the meeting were the members of the Southern league. There were eight in number and they were alive to every detail. Mr. Morrill of New

A rumor was circulated early in the day that the American league stood ready to invade Buffalo in the event of that city jumping the National association. This was not pleasant news for the Eastern league. There was little foundation for the story, but baseball is a queer business and you can never tell of what may happen next. The fear of this move by the Buffalo club has caused a lot of worry for the owners, and has spurred Mr. Stallings and his people to move everything possible to cut down the chances for a play of this kind, and as a member of the National association the chances grow very small.

THE POETRY OF FURS AND WRAPS AND WINTER CLOAKS

FANTASIES IN
TIME

FAIR

This is to be a fur season, with all kinds of fur garments at our disposal, while fur trimmings are seen on every style of gown. Both long coats and short jackets are fashionable, as are entire costumes of coat and skirt to match. Moreover, that last year's received the sanction of fashion, is much in demand, and, although it is not adapted to hard wear—that is, constant hard wear—it is made up in every possible style of coat and in skirt and coat to match. Perhaps such lamb and seal-skin costumes are made up, but the price is almost prohibitive, except to the favored few.

Squirrel fur had its season of popularity last winter, so it is not quite so smart this season, except when treated differently; that is, with the fur shaved quite close, which gives it an entirely different effect in appearance as well as coloring. The fur looks absolutely unlike the original. The same fashion obtains this year for squirrel trim with ermine, and now the addition is made of bands of seal-skin, Persian lamb or minkskin.

Wraps in Varied Styles.
Trimmed wraps are always regal in appearance, and are of the most varied styles and sizes. The short necktie is too popular to be long-lived, but for the moment it is certainly both smart and attractive, while the flat style is very becoming. The ermine wrap, in a combination of style and practicality, with pointed shoulder caps having broad flat ends in front, is more often trimmed with lace than left plain. The combination of fur and lace is effective, but there are conservative people who contend that the two should not be combined, though ermine sometimes seems more like a dress material than a fur. The newest fad this year is the pony coat for automobile. It is made of fur, and is rather wide, and though shaggy and heavy in appearance it is delightfully warm. As might be imagined, such a coat effectively conceals any lines of the figure, and while it is a most shapeless garment, there is a certain style about it which makes it exceedingly well suited to the purpose for which it is designed. All loose fur coats are naturally more or less shapeless, especially if made of shaggy fur, and these pony coats are merely on a more exaggerated scale.

Hats this winter must be becoming to be smart, an excellent rule that fashion has lately issued; consequently there are more than the usual number of shapes and colorings to choose from. The small turbans or touques in velvet and fur are exceedingly smart when becoming, and they have the advantage of showing off a well shaped head and a fine profile to the best possible advantage. A charming instance of this is seen in the one of a shirred black velvet, with a spray of black and white velvet chrysanthemums at the left side, placed so far back that they fell down on to the hair in the same fashion as do the more common ostrich feathers. In sable, seal-skin, in fact any sort of fur that is fashionable, the same lines are carried out, using a bunch of flowers instead of a spray or a bow of yellow lace.

Picture hats in beaver and velvet have large and high crowns and the brims are flexible, so that they can be bent into a becoming shape. Ostrich plumes are the correct thing, with velvet bows or bands.

A New Lay on the Ancient Mariner.

I s'pose you'll think I am on the blink
Just because I am hank and lean,
'Tis a lonesome law an' a lonesome man
An' a gal'll look in between.

An' I tells you, friend, tho' I looks no
O' green, I got some sense,
I've read in the papers yer city capers
An' yer games o' coincidence
And yer swiftest tricks an' ther golden belinks—
I'm on ter them all, me b'y,
I'm a gay galoot from the Great South Bay.
An' I knows how to mind my eye,
Now, I tells you square, like a frank old tar,
B'c' you've any games ter play,
I'm a cut-throat shark, an' a man eatin' shark,
Not a dood from Oyster Bay!

So, here I lie in the city, yer see,
With ther tuckered away fer keeps,
Them boots I views down ter old Toboo's
An' see what he's got in ships.
But before I pass we'll another glass,
An' we'll drink success to the trade,
Five fingers up—ter—with the pup
We set that chap's afraid!

"A drummer," you say, "in the jolly way,
An' you carries yer stock around
In that little grip—like an oyster dip—
By gum, if ye went around,
Kin I take a peep at yer shiners? A heap
O' diamonds an' pearls enough.
Fer diff'rent's ch' they feller, they say,
Sells a heap o' the twinklin' stuff!

An' here he yees, on Third avenoo,
With a boss trade on yer hands,
An' yer wants my judgment of so be
That a boss I understands?
Well, I tells yer, friend, they may be an end
Ter some o' the things I know,
But when she comes to a boss—by gum!
That's a thing where I ain't slow!

Anchor speak! but she do look sleek,
An' yer say she does her mile
In two-eight-eight! That's a sloskin' old gal!

Let's hear another snit!
You'd like a loan on that pretty roan,
An' yer'll let me hold yer bag
While yer cashes a check? To be sure, ois spee!

I've an eye fer ther han'some nag!
This feller is hot, but it matters not,
I'll wait till yer go ter the bank,
then bottle.

An' I'll hold yer bag—I'm blamed of this Jag
An' a gittin' somewhat rank!
I kin hold a quart o' the country sort,
But this city stuff is—hic—
I wonder wot unkes ther gaslights shake?
B' gee! I'm a feelin' sick!

An' I wonder wot's come o' ther jolly bum.
He sed he would come right back!
But the lark keep looks, an' he plints ter his clocks.
As he tells me ter take a tack,
Help! Murder! Polter! 'Tis an empty valise!

I'm cheated! I'm robbed! I'm done!
Fer ther city galoot he has shot ther chute
An' takes it on ther run!

Grape Wine.

To every 10 pounds of grapes after being mashed add one gallon of water. Let it ferment four or five days in an open vessel.
Then strain the juice and add four pounds of sugar to every gallon of the mixture. Put it into a keg. Leave the bung out until it has done fermenting. Cork the keg for a year, then bottle.

Inside or Outside.

It was after the club meeting. Several ladies were chatting over a cup of tea. The discussion turned to their winter furs, which they had been putting in summer storage.
"I don't see how you can have the heart,
Mrs. Jones," exclaimed one, "to hide all that lovely seal-skin in your fur-lined cloak.
If it were mine I shouldn't want to hide it under a bushel like that!"
"Thank you," laughed Mrs. Jones demurely, "meaning to imply that my waist is lumpy because, I suppose?"
"You both make me laugh," put in a third, rubbing divinely at a biscuit. "Not at your discussion, which is as old as the stone age, when primitive man gave his spouse the first bearskin still warm from his original wearer."

"Then what's so execrably funny about our talk?" demanded the first woman, crying her susceptibility, for she was giggling openly.
"Well, I'll tell you. It's a funny story that my father used to tell on himself. You know, he kept a country general store when he first started out to be a real merchant, and it was the usual gathering spot for all the villagers, just like you read about in Mary Williams' stories. Well, one cold night he was trying to sell a big farmer boy one of those heavy coats lined with buffalo skin.
"Papa dilated at length on the advantages of having the fur side inside—how the circulation of the warm air kept you so much warmer than if it was on the outside, and so on. When he got through the boy's father, who had been sprawling all over a big box behind the stove, apparently asleep, opened one squinty eye, took a chew of tobacco and drawed—'Wai, now, Si, you do best all fer book learnin' sense ye went down ter N' York.

Want a pity the good Lord didn't know
Shout ther fur business when He made Papa.' Papa didn't sell the coat."
"Yes," said the first woman, triumphantly, "that's what I think. If that was the warmest way animals would have had the fur inside. Think of a bear going about—"in his bare skin," added Mrs. Jones. And the party broke up.

Tail of a Dog.

Oh, tell, a wag art thou—the soul of wit—
For lo! thou has a point and shovest it.
And truly may we say that there are few
Who can in this respect compare with you.

With thy integrity few men can vie,
For thou ne'er givest mankind with a lie.
N'er warest welcome thou unto a foe,
And if thou lovest one thou sayest so.

Tell, bumble though thou art, indeed, I trow
Few serve their purpose half so well as thou.
May I ne'er know a less deserving friend
Than thee, e'en though a wag unto the end.

Man's Curiosity.

BY IVAN RICHARDSON.

A woman may require smelling salts after witnessing the death of a cat, but she never considers her personal safety when called upon to save her child's life.

Some lovers will sigh for the pen of a poet to describe a sweetheart's charms, instead of using the brain of a man to accumulate sufficient for their future wants.

The spring of eternal youth lies in some real interest or ambition in life; it goes away ahead of cosmetics or drugs.

Nothing is more pitiful than the consciousness efforts of some men to keep women from falling in love with them.

The girl who will write you love letters on the daintiest of note paper will, when she writes to ask you to return them, use a plain yellow envelope, with two one-cent stamps.

Love is like roulette. Once the little ball is started you can never be sure just where it will stop.

Jealousy is a most effective bomb for shattering matrimonial bliss.

It is well to interrupt your study of books every now and then to study something of human nature.

If a man is a chronic kicker it shows in his countenance, and he grows uglier every day. Look at the frog. Isn't he ugly? And he's always kicking about the water he is in.

Chocolate with Additions

There was a time, and not so very long ago, either, when cooks thought that a chocolate-flavored affair was in itself sufficient to satisfy the most exacting lover of sweets, and never thought of putting anything more than, say, a drop or two of vanilla to it by way of improving it.

But there came the delicious variations by confectioners on the old chocolate cream rapidly under the manipulations of skilled cooks, and now in chocolate ice-cream one comes across the most delicious surprises imaginable. So many of the fresh fruits harmonize with the chocolate that once one begins to experiment it is difficult to know oftentimes what choice to make. Raspberries, for instance, dipped in a bit of sherry and added just before the finishing turns of the freezer are given to chocolate ice-cream make a confection of rarely attractive qualities. So, too, does an ice-cream with chocolate and strawberries or peaches or diced pineapple. Only, you know, you must not add the fruit till you are just ready to leave the ice-cream packed against time for serving comes, because the fruit, unless soaked in some sort of liquor, becomes a solid chunk of ice that is not always agreeably met. And ginger, preserved ginger, is added to chocolate ice-cream with most excellent effect. Not much of the syrup, if any, should be used, as that is rather overpowering, but to encounter now and then a bit of ginger while enjoying the ice-cream is a joyous experience.

At a recent society wedding a novelty was introduced. Instead of throwing the conventional and undoubtedly hard hitting rice, the prettiest and softest of tiny shoes, made of silver paper, with "Good Luck" printed inside, and tiny silver horseshoes made of the same harmless material, were used by the bride's well wishers and thrown at parting.

Luxury would seem to be the keynote of the winter fashions, for rarely ever were there seen such costly gowns as are exhibited this season, while trimmings and all accessories of dress are on the most expensive order. The day has gone by when simple styles are in the fashion. The general public demands an elaborate style of dress, and dressmakers and tailors are but too glad to meet the demand, for in spite of the high cost of labor, of which so much is said, they find a goodly profit in materials, trimmings and work.

An artistic note is sounded in many of the fashions, the colorings are charmingly effective, the lines are good and there is an evident desire to have the gowns suited to each individual customer rather than to have just the one mode, for everybody. With the wide range of choice in both coloring and design surely there is no excuse for a woman being unbecomingly gowned.

The evening gowns are charming in design and coloring, with a singularly distinctive appearance. White is always fashionable, perhaps the most fashionable of all colors. Black is popular as well, but there are a host of new colors, or rather new shades of colors, that given decidedly up to date and original appearance. Black gowns are elaborately ornamented with the most costly laces and trimmings of all sorts used in quantities. As shown in the illustration, a black gown can be most effectively trimmed with both white lace and jet. Bands of the white lace take the place of entire-deux and ruffles of lace such as have been fashionable for so long a time, and the jet appears in embroidered velvet bands or net of a most novel design. The entire gowns of spangled net, spangled with jet, silver or gold pallores, are in fashion still, but there is more attention paid, even in the less expensive designs, to having the pattern carefully worked out in detail. White-embroidered silk chiffon and batiste gowns are just as fashionable for the winter as they were for summer and there is really very little difference between just summer's and this winter's models. The flounced skirt, the waist with ruffles of open work effect, are charming in detail as well as in fabric, and are generally becoming. Fur trunks wear silk, chiffon and batiste waists are in demand, too, many being marvels of fine work. Embroidered chiffon gowns, combined with lace and made high in the neck, are most fashionable and charming for theatre wear.

The wraps this winter are like everything else, made on the most elaborate scale, of lace, fur, satin, brocade and cloth. In light colorings these are heavily trimmed with both lace and fur, combined with cords and tassels. All the new wraps are made to hang loose from the shoulders, with large sleeves gathered into a band at the wrist, or they show some graceful draped style of sleeve that is very becoming. Long, half-fitting coats with loose fronts are charming when made of brocade satin or cloth that is made warm enough in the coldest weather by an interlining of wool wadding or fur. It is most unadvisable to be cold or to look cold, and yet thin summer gowns are in style, so it stands to reason the outer wrap must be made as warm as possible.

MARIAN CRAWFORD

States. I have seen some queer places. America is a strange country.

"You are all right," he said, "about the Americans. Who are the Americans?"

"How many generations back can you go? I find that the Indians, the Negroes, the Saxon strain impured? The New England land farms are worked today by Swedes, Germans, Dutch, and West half of the language is foreign."

"I have found a town in Pennsylvania where the people are all English," he said in the heart of the Calabrian mountains. "You won't go to that place?"

"No," I asked. "Why not?"

"I don't like it with distaste; 'not even to interview anybody?'"

"I am a newspaper promised, and Mr. Crawford looked relieved.

"Yes, when people say that I am not an American, I don't know what that means exactly."

"You can write your plays here as well as in New York," he said. "I was asked while in the mind of the interviewer was a picture of the difference between the big, cluttered room with its tenebrous outfit, its table strewn with proof sheets and manuscripts and lined with books, and the small, neat room ready for the morning exercise, and in the air the Fifth avenue atmosphere of the Fifth Avenue Hotel, the villa at Sorrento and the magnificent villa at Capri."

"I am," said Mr. Crawford, "a friend and an admirer of the American people."

"Any man who has worked and lived where there is a rainy season becomes independent of his environment," was the reply. "Of course I prefer to write in summer and out of doors at Sorrento. That is the ideal place, but I can work here or elsewhere."

"The only influence to which I am susceptible is the season, not the place. I prefer the summer."

"Cold and rainy days in New York and this stimulus in the air of which people are always telling you simply shrivel me up, destroy the inspiration I suppose that is because I have lived in the South so long."

lord's appearance or manner, nothing that would suggest the enervating influence of a year by year residence in a warm country. He speaks of his age occasionally and refers to his grown-up children, congratulating himself on the fact that his son is big enough to knock him down, but offsetting this by the admission that his son can't wear his gloves and collars—one of nature's compensations.

Although the 100-yard dash was run in the 220, 340, 580 yards and mile races there were no new records. Only in the 200 yard race did the mile make the most notable running feat of the year. At the fall meeting of the New York Athletic Club on Throgs Neck Island, Alec Grant, formerly of the University of Pennsylvania, ran the mile in 9 minutes 27.5 seconds, supplanting the former record of 9 minutes 32.2 seconds by the late W. D. Bays, at Berkeley. (Bays' mile race he did not seem to be moving in record form, and looked just the mile runner.) The further he went, however, the better he seemed to go, and it was not long before he found time that it was seen he had a chance for record figures. Then the crowd broke him up and started him to his work none but he brasted the tape in the time stated. It was by the latter that the record was broken. The latter had W. T. Young, the crack Englishman, and then the crack Englishman at an even gait, while Grant had to plug away at his own pace. Bays' race occurred at the spring meeting of the Berkeley A. C., which city, as the Hebrew Maxim says: "The beginning of wisdom is the fear of God." The Scriptures, at ten the Mishna, at thirteen let them be subjects of the study, and at fifteen they are acquainted with the scriptures from the age of five to ten. His childhood days were spent in the study of the Old Testament belief. The stories of Abraham and Isaac, of Jacob and his sons, of Moses and Aaron, of Joshua, Samuel, Elijah, Daniel, and others, were the stories of his childhood, and the characters of these men, and the struggle of nature at Mt. Sinai, the arduous and fatal sojourning in the wilderness, the story of the giving of which Joel wrote: "I shall bring again the captivity of Israel and shall rebuild the city of Jerusalem, and all the hills be glad and exult; and they shall say, Blessed be the Lord, for he has done this for Israel." The stories of his Imagery.

At the age of thirteen, there was a ceremony something like the Christian confirmation. The boy was taken to the synagogue, and the father declared him a competent judge of the law. Thus, while young Saul was still a child, he was feeling caravans going and coming to and from Jerusalem, hearing the "silence of the desert," and the groaning of Herod at Jerusalem, the heart of young Saul was leaping and yearning for the great panoramas and even to become, at the feet of Gamaliel, a rabbi, and to be able to say, "I am not in doubt as to the reflections of Saul when passing from Tarsus to Jerusalem of the sacred spots Saul, why persecute thou me?" It was hard for the to kick against the goads, and he was blind to see himself and others, until the scenes fell from his eyes, and the heart was healed.

"If Lyra had not sinned, Luther would not have danced i. e., gloried in Christ. Luther would not have founded a church would not have had Paul.

LUTHER'S CONVERSION.—When Luther was twenty years of age, he returned to resume his work as professor. The Lord came to him by the way of the Scriptures. He was looking over him and he saw the lightning flash from his side. Imagining this to be the voice of God, he was seized as he was by the "terror and anguish of death," he makes a vow that if he were spared, he would devote his life to the cloister and devote his life to God and godly things. After the storm was over, he returned to his father's house, and journey to Erfurt. But his vow was brooding forcibly in his heart, and he was harassed by the thought of the anguish of his soul? He had been eagerly searching for the truth, and now he was lost.

When Aristotle should not think his mind? There is One who knows and is able to help. Luther was a servant, and Luther a willing captive to the desert. Saul was led to a stony desert to see his heart, glorified in Christ, and to see the barren, gloomy, filthy cells of the cloister of Jerusalem to learn to know himself and God. Here he learned much which

"And dwell in the light of his grace."
"I may never see them more. But after the interview with Statius his soul could not only cling to the words of Paul, 'the righteous shall live by faith,' but exult and rejoice and be satisfied in the same. A wonderful change, a perfect metamorphosis had gradually taken place. The acts of reformation were over in Luther's heart, the miniature of Germany. Thus Epistetus, the poet who asked: 'What, he possesses not to sin?' Impossible, he answered. But Luther had learned more. He had found one who would take his sins upon himself and give his own sinlessness to the sinner. And there was not a power in the world that could bereave Luther of this gift."
"After Saul had become Paul, he commenced to preach the blessed Gospel of Christ, not to please his Lord and Saviour. A bolder advocate, and a savior prouder the world has never seen. His condemnation of the current
